—Chicago's New Proverb.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

A river without a channel, a house without a roof, a ship without a rudder, and a city without a plan!

In any American city one may find conditions which would be ridiculous if they were not serious and tragic. Down in Cincinnati, for instance, 5,000 or 6,000 people get up very early in the crowded tenement district and even across the river in Kentucky; they hurry through their breakfasts and then ride for miles across the whole city and out into the green and spacious suburbs of Oakley and Norwood. There stand the big factories in which they work all day. In the evening they take the cars back to their homes in the hot and crowded town.

Reversing the rule, they work in the country and sleep in the city, with a long ride at either end of the day. There are acres of unoccupied land about the factories, which is being rapidly built up in one and two family houses.

But these houses are not rented to the factory employés. They do not earn enough on the average to pay the rents demanded. In order to find quarters in which they can afford to live they must go to the crowded and insanitary tenement districts in the heart of the city. It is also true that a good many of the factory people prefer to live down close to the bright lights and the 'movies,' where the streets are crowded and the air full of dust and smoke. They would be unhappy and lonesome out among the grass and the trees and the cool quiet of the suburbs.

At any rate conditions are strangely topsy-turvy. One man, J. G. Schmidlapp, a retired distiller and banker, has been struck by what seems to him an unfortunate state of affairs and is doing his individual best to change it. He has spent a considerable sum in the building of two groups of houses in Norwood and one in Oakley, both with the idea that they should be rented to workingmen at much less than the prevailing figure and still pay a net profit of 5 per cent on the investment. So far the experiment has been a success.

The houses are built of brick, standing in solid rows and without any pretensions to architectural beauty. The first group consists of nine houses, each having two apartments, which contain four rooms and a bath, with an outside porch. Except in the end houses, where light and air come from three sides, the rentals are $3.25 a week per apartment. Fifty cents a week extra is charged in the end houses.

A second group of buildings contains fourteen houses, also divided into three and four room apartments. The fact that there is a cellar under the entire group makes it necessary to charge $3.75 for the inside four room and bath apartments in this block, while a three room flat can be had at $2.75 a week. Each apartment is fitted by the landlord with a gas heater, the tenant paying his own gas bills.

In the Norwood buildings there were altogether forty-six flats, for which there were more than 100 applicants. The discouraging thing was that among them there were only twelve families who were at the time living in the city, and to benefit whom the scheme was started. Perhaps some of them objected to the conditions which Mr. Schmidlapp imposed.

No three room flat, for instance, was rented to a family whose total income was less than $9 or more than $15 a week; the limits on the four room flats were $12 and $20 a week. No tenant was allowed to keep boarders. Every tenant is required, on taking possession, to deposit $10 in addition to the first week's rent; this money is returned when the flat is vacated. Tenants must pay their rent at the office of the company,

TROOPS HELD IN READINESS TO DRIVE BACK LYNCHERS.

Rumor of Intent to Storm Jail in Atlanta and Kill Woman's Slayers Causes Call for Militia.

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—Ten companies of state militia tonight were ordered held in readiness at the Auditorium armory here as the result of persistent rumors of a probable attempt to storm the county jail, where Newt Lee, a negro watchman, and Leo M. Frank, superintendent of a pencil factory, are held in connection with the murder of Mary Phagan.

Six arrests have been made in the case but all but the men in jail have been released.

CURE FOUND FOR WHITE PLAGUE AND OTHER DISEASES?

SERUM CALLED HARMLESS

Leprosy, Pernicious Anemia, and Malaria Among the Ills Said to Yield to Panacea.

DISCOVERER AN AID OF DR. KOCH

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 1.—A new serum which it is claimed is a specific for any disease due to the presence of a micro-organism in the blood is announced here today. It is seriously set forth that cases of tuberculosis have been cured by it and that it has proven a remedy for persistent anæmia and other diseases.

It is the claim that the discovery of this serum seems destined to revolutionize the whole science of serum therapy.

The discoverer of the new serum is a German—a young bacteriologist named Frederick Mehnarto, who worked with Dr. Koch in Africa on the sleeping sickness. After that he pursued his researches alone in Africa and other tropical countries.

Discovered in the Congo.

Dr. Mehnarto claimed that while he was in the Belgian Congo he discovered his serum which has proven to be a cure for "the sleeping sickness," a disease which has rendered many parts of Africa impossible for human life.

For the first half of the year 1912 his experiments were conducted at Camp's Bay laboratory, under the supervision of Dr. Jolly, professor of physiology in the South African college. The result was that Dr. Mehnarto was advised to go to England and convince the British medical profession of the importance of his discovery.

On reaching London in October, Dr. Mehnarto quietly advanced the claim that he had discovered a serum which was harmless in application and of such a character that it would, assuming that the patient had any fair amount of vitality left, effectually cure any disease which was due to a micro-organism in the blood.

Met with Skepticism at First.

The general feeling of the leading London physicians to whom he spoke was perhaps that it was the claim either of a charlatan or of a man who was sadly deceiving himself. Dr. Mehnarto, however, found some distinguished medical men willing to give a hearing to his theory of serum therapy. As a result, they agreed to go further into the matter and provide patients for testing the serum.

It was impossible, of course, to find in London a number of sufferers from the sleeping sickness, so the doctors decided to test the serum on tuberculosis patients in advanced stages of the disease and afterwards on other serious diseases which were due to the presence of injurious bacteria in the blood.

The tests started almost simultaneously in London and at Bad Soden in Germany, from which place it is reported that the use of the serum has been uniformly successful.

The London tests have been rigid and searching and on their results of course depends the value of the announcement of the discovery before it is published to the world. They are being conducted by independent investigators of the highest standing, who entered upon the investigation in a spirit which, if not actually hostile, was at least strongly critical.

Will Cure Other Diseases.

All these tests are for tuberculosis, but since their commencement the serum is also being tried in cases of malaria, leprosy, mucus colitis, pernicious anemia, and other disorders of the blood. It is said that the reports of these investigators, based on months of experiments, have been uniformly favorable, with phenomenal results. Here is a London newspaper statement:

"Patients whose death had been expected at any moment are now on the high road to recovery, and others have been cured entirely. Other patients whose tuberculosis was of long standing and extreme virulence have recovered so that neither the sputum nor the blood on a bacteriological examination shows there is any sign of the presence of the tubercle bacillus.

Another Valuable Quality.

"Furthermore the serum can be applied to tuberculosis patients with high temperatures, which cannot be done with tuberculin, nor, according to London medical opinion, with Dr. Friedmann's variant of Prof. Koch's discovery."

The bacteriologists engaged in the present experiment have christened the serum "contra-toxin" to mark the difference of its chief characteristics from those of any other serum. Tuberculin, salvarsan, and 606, though useful in the specific complaints for which they were designed are admittedly not always successful, while their indiscreet handling often results in serious injury to the patient.

Medicine Cannot Injure Patient.

Quoting again from the claims of those who have investigated the matter, "Contra-toxin is harmless and cannot possibly injure the patient. It can be administered through the mouth if the patient is too weak to receive injections. It not only cures but it apparently confers immunity from another attack of certain diseases, at any rate for a certain period.

"Whatever disease is treated by 'contra-toxin' the effect is the stimulation of the leucocytes in the blood and the restoration of its natural complement. It is varied for different diseases by the introduction of a serum extracted from different animals which possess a natural immunity from the complaint under treatment."

CUPID GETS HIS WIRES CROSSED

HE HAD BOUGHT LICENSE.

Lawrence Garner, son of J. W. Garner, a wealthy wholesale dry goods merchant of Ottumwa, Ia., announced last night that he would start for Chicago today to ascertain, if he can, just why the following item was printed in the society columns of THE TRIBUNE on April 30:

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Kingsley Blake, 4550 Beacon street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cornelia Mary, to Dr. Arthur William Wermuth, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Wermuth, 4070 Evanston avenue.

Until this item appeared in THE TRIBUNE, Mr. Garner says, he was firmly of the opinion he was the person who was going to marry Miss Blake. Not only, he declares, was he engaged to her, but he had received a telegram from her authorizing him to make the announcement of the bethrothal in the Ottumwa papers. This announcement was published several days ago.

Reporter Tackles Mystery.

A reporter attempted yesterday to clear up the mystery in advance of Mr. Garner's arrival, but with only partial success. In the hallway of the Blake apartment on Beacon street he talked to Mr. Blake, who is given in the city directory as a credit man, and to his daughter. Mr. Blake was neither urbane nor illuminating. Miss Blake, a slender and winsome blonde, proved much more sociable.

"I haven't a word to say," declared Mr. Blake, after the reporter had stated the object of his visit. "My daughter is to be married to Dr. Wermuth, just as you announced. That closes the incident."

At this moment Miss Blake appeared. The reporter turned to her.

"The announcement in the Ottumwa newspaper," she said, "was made by mistake. I sent a telegram to Mr. Garner which he misinterpreted. I——"

"Don't say anything more," interrupted Mr. Blake, opening the hall door for his daughter.

"It Was a Mistake," She Says.

"It was a mistake," went on Miss Blake. "Mr. Garner and I are dear friends, but I know whom I am going to marry. There was a phrase in my telegram that Mr. Garner misunderstood."

"Can you repeat the phrase?" she was asked.

"No, I don't wish to do that," she replied. "We had been engaged. I sent him a telegram and he misunderstood it. The announcement in the Ottumwa newspaper was published as a result. The one authorized by my father and published in THE TRIBUNE corrected that error. That is the whole episode. It seems to me such a trifle as to be scarcely worth printing. I can't imagine who could be interested."

It was suggested to Miss Blake that the fact Garner on the strength of her telegram went to the extent of buying a license to marry her might prove of interest to the persons who noticed the announcement of her engagement to Dr. Wermuth.

"O," replied Miss Blake, "but that was all a mistake."

Garner Makes Statement.

Later Garner was communicated with over the long distance telephone. He authorized the following "official statement":

Mr. Garner when seen in Ottumwa tonight stated he has messages and letters in his possession that will deny absolutely any recall of Miss Blake's engagement to him. He also stated that he has advices from Miss Blake that authorized him to make the announcement of their engagement in the Ottumwa papers.

Mr. Garner expects to leave for Chicago tonight or in the morning to take up this matter personally relative to the announcement of Miss Blake's engagement to any other person than himself.

It is known in Ottumwa that Mr. Garner has acted most honorably in this matter, and that the whole trouble is the outgrowth of parental opposition to his suit. No one feels more keenly the worry and mental anguish caused Miss Blake by the developments for which both Mr. Garner and Miss Blake are entirely blameless.

Mr. Garner asserted that any statement Miss Blake might have made was brought on by her nervous condition and the strain under which she has been laboring for the last month.

Blake Pere Has No Comment.

Afterward this statement was read to Mrs. Blake, the mother of the young woman, over the telephone. When the part about Garner's coming to Chicago was reached, Mrs. Blake called to her husband to come to the wire. He, however, insisted that he had nothing to say. It was stated, Miss Blake was not at home.

Dr. Wermuth was communicated with.

"I don't know anything about Miss Blake's telegram to Ottumwa," he said. "I only know that I am going to marry her on May 28."

SETS I. A. C. SWIM TANK RECORD ESCAPING FROM DETECTIVES.

A. C. Raithel, Told Policemen Are Waiting, Speeds Up, Puts on Clothes, and Gets Out Side Door.

It was ladies' night at the Illinois Athletic club last night. A big card of aquatic events was on when two detectives from Stanton Avenue station marched into the lobby.

"We want A. C. Raithel," said one of them.

The doorman sent for the manager. The manager asked the detectives to make themselves at home. He'd go right downstairs and hunt Raithel up. Raithel is a student at the University of Illinois, 18 years old, and a crack swimmer. He was just finishing the mile relay. The manager told him about the detectives.

"That so?" asked Raithel. Then he jumped into the tank and equaled the world's record for the hundred yard dash. Climbing out, he threw on some clothes and slipped out a side door. It was announced to the audience that he had been taken ill and could not participate in the fifty yard dash.

After a while the manager approached the detectives. "He's gone. We couldn't stop him," he said.

"We've got a warrant for him," said the detectives.

The manager, surprised, asked why they didn't tell him so in the first place. The policemen searched the house from basement to roof, turning guests from rooms and peering into closets. Then they went away.

Two minutes afterward Raithel returned to the club. He asked the charge and was told it was sworn to by the parents of a south side girl. He said he knew nothing about it, but would surrender with a bondsman today.

MAY COMES IN ON WARM WAVE.

Mercury Soars to 83.2 Degrees—Hottest Day of 1913—First Bona Fide Prostration Recorded.

The month of May entered with the warmest day recorded thus far in 1913, the maximum of 83.2 degrees lasting about an hour in the middle of the afternoon and causing the prostration of John B. Meeney, a real estate dealer at 22 East Forty-fourth street. He collapsed at East Eighteenth street and South Wabash avenue, and was revived at the South Clark street station. It is called the first genuine heat prostration of the year. The weather bureau predicts continued warm weather, the fair condition continuing until tomorrow afternoon or later.

HISSES DISRUPT WILSON'S SPEECH

President, Back in New Jersey, Assails Nugent; Audience Shows Anger.

PLEADS JURY REFORMS.

Newark, N. J., May 1.—[Special.]—President Wilson's reappearance as an active factor in New Jersey politics tonight brought him greetings in a widely variant spirit. The president came on from Washington with the expressed intention, he said, of trying to wrest New Jersey politics from what he termed a resumption of control by James Nugent and the old political machine.

President Wilson spoke at two meetings in Newark and in Elizabeth, nearby. He was greeted by big crowds in both places. But at Elizabeth the temper of the audience was uncertain and a storm of hisses at one time forced Mr. Wilson to pause for a moment in his appeal to have the power of drawing juries taken from the sheriffs and placed in the hands of nonpartisan commissions. To this end he pleaded for a constitutional convention.

It was just after the president had begun a sarcastic reference to Nugent that his speech was interrupted.

Hisses Interrupt Wilson's Speech.

"Before Mr. James Nugent of Essex county took charge of the legislature," Mr. Wilson started out. But he got no further. Hissing began in the crowd and the executive stood silent a moment until it died down. Then he continued:

"I don't know for whom those hisses are, but I hand them over to Jim Nugent, to whom they belong—a sinister private agent openly conducting affairs on the floor of the legislature who did not dare do it as long as some one would go home and point him out as a man not commissioned to speak for the people and as the man opposing the processes of law which he dare not submit to."

The crowd cheered, and the president announced he would be willing to submit the jury reform question to a referendum, as had been proposed by the Nugent faction, but he knew, he said, that the machine politicians would count the votes to suit themselves, since the processes of the election law were controlled in certain counties by sheriffs in league with the political machine.

Explains Return to New Jersey.

"I am sorry," he said, "that I should have to come back to speak words of criticism, but I must say that it is familiar to have the war paint on in New Jersey again. And is it not singular that we should always have to be fighting to get control of our own affairs?

"We want to redeem the jurisprudence of this state not only of the suspicion but of the stain that men are not equally treated in these courts of law. The political machine where it is misused in this state, as in every other state of the union, is where the machine controls the sheriff's office. The machine instinctively fights for the sheriff's office, the citadel of power and immunity from punishment.

Pleads for Impartial Juries.

"If you want to strike at the center and heart of corrupt politics, see to it that you put the control of grand juries into impartial and nonpolitical hands.

"When it was suggested that I return to New Jersey to speak I was asked if it was not imprudent for me to leave affairs which hourly need my attention in Washington. Would I come to my beloved state? It was like being asked would I go back and take a hand in the fight for the rank and file of the American people. If you'll tell me that there is something afoot to cheat people in getting something for themselves, I am your man, enlisted for the battle."

THROUGH ROUTING DEMAND SPREADS; AUTHORITIES ACT

COUNCIL TO ENTER FIGHT

HOYNE TAKES COURT ACTION

All Chicago, from the Indiana state line to Evanston, and from Lake Michigan to the western limits, demands that the elevated railroads through route their trains. The man who opposes the change couldn't be found yesterday.

"Certainly it would help me," was the substance of the replies of dozens of passengers questioned by reporters for THE TRIBUNE. The only difference in the answers was the amount of time the passenger in each instance would save.

"Five minutes," "ten minutes," "fifteen minutes," and even "twenty minutes a day," were included in the estimates made of the benefit that would come from eliminating the inexcusable delays on the loop. Even the occasional passengers, women shoppers and others, said they would spread the cry until it sweeps the city unless the Chicago Elevated Railways surrender.

"If they couldn't do any better we wouldn't complain," said a woman who explained she had discussed the situation with her husband, "but they can do better not only without expense to themselves, but with a profit greater than they are making now.

"All the lines belong to one company. Why should they operate them as if they belonged to four companies?"

Results at City Hall.

In addition to this general public awakening the campaign of THE TRIBUNE brought results in the city hall and the Criminal Court building. Chairman Block of the local transportation committee announced that representatives of the elevated company will be asked to explain this morning the delay in through-routing their trains. They will be asked to appear before the general complaints committee of the transportation committee.

The other action was a legal attack on right of the Union loop to exist. State's Attorney Hoyne filed in the Circuit court a petition for leave to present quo warranto proceedings against the Northwestern Elevated, which owns the downtown structure. In effect it was an attempt to oust the loop.

Men in Power Ignore Demand.

Apparently the only persons who did not hear the growing demand were the three men in whose power lies the opportunity to order the through routing, Samuel Insull, Henry A. Blair, and Ira M. Cobe, the executive committee of the governing committee of the elevated railways.

"I cannot discuss the subject in any way until I have seen my associates," said Mr. Cobe, the only one of the three who could be interviewed.

Mr. Insull, the chairman of the executive committee, is in New York City. He probably will return to Chicago Monday. Mr. Blair was in his office only a short time during the day and declined to see newspaper men.

Mr. Cobe said that if Mr. Insull remains in New York the rest of the week the subject of through routing cannot be taken up until next week.

Could Decide Matter Monday.

The matter could be taken up at a meeting on Monday next. The three members then and there could agree to order the operating department and the engineering department to lay plans for through routing at once.

"Couldn't that be done?" Mr. Cobe was asked.

"I will have to ask you to wait until I have consulted with my two associates," he answered.

Later he was told that State's Attorney Hoyne had begun proceedings to oust the loop from the downtown streets. He was asked if that altered his attitude toward an interview on the through routing question.

"Is it reasonable," he asked in return, "to expect us to spend a large amount of money on the loop for through routing when the local authorities are trying to tear down that loop?"

Crowding Worse than Ever.

This interview closed almost at the time the evening rush hour began, and the interviewer left Mr. Cobe's office and visited several of the loop stations. The crowding, the jamming up the stairs, out upon the platforms, and into the cars was worse than it had been the day before. The fair weather had brought thousands in addition to the usual number from their homes to the downtown district, and the loop delays held them there.

The resentment of the victims of the crush was correspondingly increased. With warmer weather they suffered more and consequently were more inclined to swear than to engage in technical discussions. One perspiring fat man did let loose a flood of profanity as he jammed his way through a waiting crowd to reach a car door.

Passengers of One Voice.

"The condition is bad. I know it," said T. J. Maloney of 4700 South State street. "Today has been the worst I have ever experienced. Three trains passed me on the way down before one stopped. I had to get down in a hurry. Was due in court. One delay after another and I was late. Now here I am waiting again for another south side train to take me home again. The whole day spent on the rails. I think that through routing is the only thing that will relieve the congestion."

Mrs. B. J. Cleary of 6139 Michigan avenue was another of the waiting ones on the platform.

Family Councils Aroused.

"We have talked this elevated proposition over many times among the family," she told the reporter. "Our station is Sixty-first street. We have frequent and steady use for the 'L,' but we can't rely on it. We can never tell whether a train is going to arrive anywhere on time. There must be a delay for every train, entering and leaving the loop. That is why they are so seldom on time."

Mrs. George Getty of 6222 Vernon avenue waited on the Madison street platform. "There is no question about something being wrong," she said. "The only thing I can see is that the loop is to blame for it. That is where all the delays seem to be located. I blame it all on the loop."

Mrs. A. Loftus of 9119 Houston avenue was waiting on the Adams street platform.

Has to Resort to I. C.

"Yes, I use the 'L'—that is, sometimes," she said. "When I want to get home in a hurry I take the I. C. It takes entirely too much time for me to ride around the whole loop before the south side train is on its way in my direction. I get on here when I have plenty of time, then I can get a seat, but I have to ride clear around the loop. If I was riding on the I. C. I could be half way home in that length of time."

Mrs. I. Brown of 4125 Drexel boulevard said: "Entirely too much delay in the loop. Through routing would tend to abolish the delays."

E. R. Rayburn of 2641 Stewart avenue, Evanston, said: "I believe that through routing would facilitate better service. The trains lose too much time in the loop. There is no doubt but what the passage of trains straight through from the north to the south could be accomplished much quicker than by the present alleged system."

Comment of Straphanger.

Frank Schwarz of 1530 Hudson avenue said: "Would it be a good thing? Don't ask me foolish questions. Of course it would. Anybody that hangs on a strap or spends half of his life waiting on these platforms will tell you that."

Carl W. Moeller of 4832 North Bernard street: "I use the Ravenswood line every day. A through routing of the 'L' trains between my home and where I work ought to give me an extra hour or so a week with the folks. I'd appreciate it, too."

Andrew Anderson, 925 Belmont avenue: "We certainly need the through routing or any change in the present system. Present delays are too numerous."

C. J. Eck of 1219 Norwood street: "It would be a good thing. It would save time. Go through with it."

H. Ouer of 3619 Sheffield avenue: "As soon as Chicago gets the through routing and looks back at the time it fooled away with this loop system it will laugh at itself."

F. Seiden of 81 East Madison street: "I live out on the Metropolitan line. I have to use it frequently. I am strongly in favor of a unified system. The through routing of Metropolitan trains with the South Side would be a blessing."

Would Increase "L" Profits.

The complete contents of the Stone and Webster report, pointing out to the promoters of the merger of the elevated lines, that through routing would be profitable, were made public during the day.

"We find that the earning capacities of these properties," it read, "is, and has been for a number of years, largely limited by the method of joint operation on the loop, which is located in the heart of the business district, and the capacity of the loop can be increased by through routing of trains and other rearrangements of routes from approximately 30 per cent to over 150 per cent."

HOYNE STARTS WAR ON LOOP.

The state's attorney's office started a fight on the elevated roads yesterday afternoon. A quo warranto proceeding was instituted by Mr. Hoyne's office seeking the forfeiture of the charter of the Northwestern Elevated road.

Abolition of the Union loop, which has been often attacked as responsible for the congestion in the downtown district, is the alleged real purpose of the action. The loop lines were acquired by the Northwestern in September, 1901. The whole property has since been taken over by the Chicago Elevated railways. It is charged in the state's attorney's bill that the Northwestern had no authority to acquire the Union loop and that it is not now carrying freight, as required to do under its charter.

The information consists of two counts, one directed against the road as a corporation and the other against the road's operation of the Union loop.

Incorporated in 1893.

On Oct. 30, 1893, the Northwestern road was incorporated under the state railroad act. The articles of incorporation make the road liable to receive and carry freight, as well as passengers, which it was bound to do or violate the provisions of its charter, according to the state's attorney's bill.

On Jan. 8, 1894, an ordinance was passed by the city, granting permission to the road to operate, but it contained a provision excluding all freight traffic.

Later, on June 24, 1895, an amendatory ordinance was passed, but it did not in any way affect or change the provisions as to nonacceptance of freight. Thereafter the Ravenswood terminals and the North Water street "stubs" were constructed. Later still the Evanston terminal was acquired.

The ordinances under which the different sides of the loop were constructed also contain similar provisions excluding freight.

The information also points out that the different sides of the loop are entirely outside of and not at all between the terminals specified in the articles of incorporation of the Northwestern Elevated company.

Violation of Its Charter.

The state's attorney charges further that the company has done acts which amount to and are cause for a forfeiture of its charter to be a corporation, in the following respects:

"It has, in violation of its charter, neglected and failed to construct and operate the kind of a railroad, which, under its charter, it was bound to construct and operate.

"It has, in violation of its charter, constructed and operated, or acquired and operated various lines of railroad which are not situated between or approximately between the termini specified in its articles of incorporation."

Lack of Frontage Consents.

In the second count, which is directed against the Union loop, it is charged that the ordinances allowing the construction of the different sides of the loop were passed by the city council without there having been presented petitions of the owners of one-half of the frontage of the streets, as required by statute. These ordinances, for this reason, are void, it is alleged.

By their acceptance of the ordinances of the city the Northwestern and Union loop contracted to construct and operate a kind or character of railroad, which, under their charters, they were not empowered to operate, the information says. It is also charged that the city, in fixing a 5 cent fare in the city limits, by these ordinances, exceeded its powers.

Judge Baldwin, in his recent decision knocking out the city's universal transfer ordinance for elevated railroads, held that the city had no right to regulate fares on the elevated roads, because they were organized under the state railroad act.

O'HARA PUTS FIELD PROFITS AT $17,000,000 A YEAR.

Lieutenant Governor Says He Will Use These Figures Until Successfully Contradicted.

Rockford, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Lieut. Gov. Barratt O'Hara of the senate welfare commission addressed a massmeeting here tonight on the vice situation in Illinois. He said that Rockford was singularly free from the vice conditions disclosed to the commission in Chicago and Springfield.

Mr. O'Hara interested his audience when he gave figures on the alleged profits of the Marshall Field store in Chicago. He said the trustees of the estate would make no statement of the profits to the commission and that he proposed for the first time to tell the profits as "disclosed by the investigation."

"The profits are $17,000,000 a year," Mr. O'Hara said, "and I propose to make the statement everywhere until it has been successfully contradicted by the trustees.

"The vast estate has been left to the grandchildren of Marshall Field. They are being trained in the schools of England as 'gentlemen,' but not in the sense in which the word is used in America. They are being taught to dislike America and American institutions. This profit of $17,000,000 annually is being wrung from the little women of Illinois."

Mr. O'Hara made an attack on those who he said were seeking to discredit the commission.

PATERSON MILL STRIKERS SHIP THEIR CHILDREN AWAY.

New York, May 1.—[Special.]—One hundred children of Paterson strikers, aflame with the spirit of the mills, exalting Bill Haywood, and piping defiance of Paterson's mayor, came to New York today and cried themselves to sleep tonight in the homes of strangers.

Thus is Paterson duplicating the tactics of Lawrence—sending the children away that their parents may concentrate all their strength and resources in a struggle with the mill owners that is now eight weeks old.

Tomorrow fifty more children are due, and on Saturday seventy-five. I. W. W. leaders say if the silk manufacturers do not give in soon every mill child old enough to leave its mother will be taken away and kept until the strike is ended.

SOCIAL EVILS UP TO WOMEN, SAYS PLEADER FOR BALLOT.

Mrs. Edward Loewenthal Echoes Plea for New Conditions in Address Before Economics Club Guests.

"A real menace to the home," said Mrs. Edward Loewenthal, at the May breakfast of the Social Economics club yesterday at the Hotel La Salle, "is that men are so busy that they have no time to think out remedies for social evils. That is why we want the ballot.

"We want to make the home a place of rest. We want to change social conditions so that the man will not go out to the saloon for his pleasure but will stay at home. A woman's nature is centered in the home, and there is the starting point for social reform.

"We want children that are perfect. We want clean social conditions. We do not want to build up hospitals if we cannot cure disease and the conditions which disease brings about."

Ballard Dunn and the Rev. Fred V. Hawley were among the other speakers. Miss Fern Gramling and Caliste Conant gave a musical program.

WAGON FAILS TO DENT BOY.

The amazing resiliency of 12 year old Joseph Grombono, 1430 West Van Buren street, enabled him yesterday to escape almost without injury when a heavy wheel of a six horse truck wagon rolled over him. The accident happened at Monroe and Throop streets, where the boy was roller skating and dashed in front of the wagon. Physicians were unable to find any injury to the boy's stomach, where the wheel passed, but sent him to the Jefferson Park hospital.

Geno Cipriani, who is 8 years old and lives at 361 West Ontario street, was hurt while roller skating. The boy was leaning against a wagon at 420 West Ontario street when the horse started, precipitating him under the wagon.

WILMETTE DECLARES WAR ON L! LOSSES: ONE ALLEY, TWO MEN.

War is on between the Northwestern Elevated railroad and the village of Wilmette. Losses thus far on the part of the former are two men captured. The village has lost one alley.

The conflict started with a rush Wednesday afternoon, when the railroad sent a gang of workmen to the terminal at the south end of Wilmette and set them to work constructing a loop on the L property within the village. John Couffer, president of the village board, was informed by telephone of the invasion and hurried to the scene with an army of constables and workmen, armed with picks and crowbars.

The railroad scouts saw the defending army coming, and before the tracks could be pulled up had run in a line of cars and weighted down the rails. "Gen." Couffer responded by arresting the two foremen on charges of obstructing an alley he says goes through the property, and resisting the policemen who told them to keep the cars off.

The village tried a short time ago to oust the company from its present terminal. That attempt was a failure, but Couffer says this new advance into the suburb will be fought.

AUTHOR SUED FOR AUTO DEATH.

Estate of Man Said to Have Been Killed by Paul Armstrong's Machine Demands $10,000.

Paul Armstrong, playwright and author, was made defendant in a suit for $10,000 in the Superior court yesterday by the administrator of the estate of Chris Christ, who died recently from injuries said to have been inflicted by Armstrong's automobile. According to Robert Munsell, attorney for the administrator, Armstrong ran the man down at South Wabash avenue and Harrison street.

SEES SOUL LEAVE DYING RELATIVE?

SHE GRASPS; IT FADES.

Says Aged Man of Saintly Character Died Just After Calling Her.

Montclare, N. J., May 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. David H. Baldwin, 74 Christopher street, today made public an experience she had on April 10 and which she firmly believes afforded her a view of a soul as it took passage from the body of a dying person to the unknown beyond.

It was the death of Mrs. Baldwin's father-in-law, Nathaniel H. Baldwin, who was 96 years old, that provided her with what she thinks was a supernatural vision. Mr. Baldwin died at the home of his son after a short illness of acute indigestion. He was a man of the highest integrity, and toward the close of his life took on a saintly character that increased the respect that all held for him.

Mr. Baldwin's illness did not occasion alarm to the members of the household. In spite of his great age he was always in good health. Therefore on the morning that he passed away Mrs. Baldwin was unexcited by his condition and did not consider that there was danger of his death.

Soul Flutters from Body?

She was in the room next to the chamber of the sick nonagenarian. She heard a noise and hurried to the patient's bedside. The aged man appeared to be in distress and Mrs. Baldwin, entirely unalarmed, asked if she could render him any assistance. As she looked at the sick man, who did not answer, his eyes closed and he gave a gentle sigh.

Then there issued, she says, from between the lips of the man prostrate on the bed a distinct and well defined shape. The form of this emanation was that of two large wings, each about a foot in length.

Mrs. Baldwin says the wings had the form of those of a butterfly and seemed unattached to any other shape.

Tries to Grasp Apparition.

Involuntarily, Mrs. Baldwin says, she reached to grasp the strange apparition, which rose toward the ceiling of the room. As she did so, however, she turned to look at Mr. Baldwin, and when she looked for the apparition again it had vanished.

POCKETING FARES NO CRIME.

Federal Judge Says Law Does Not Cover the Matter and Frees Two Conductors.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—[Special.]—There is no federal statute covering the offense of railway conductors of "knocking down fares," according to Judge Clarence W. Sessions, who in the federal court here today quashed an indictment against John W. Merrill of Chicago and Frederick E. Hamp. Both were Grand Trunk conductors, working on runs out of Chicago. They were accused of appropriating cash fares.

BOYS SAVE FOUR FROM LAKE

Season's First Boating Accident Nearly Results in Tragedy.

CRIES HEARD ON THE SHORE.

Three Men and a Woman Plunged Into the Water.

The speed with which two boys seized a boat and rowed a half mile into Lake Michigan off the foot of Pratt avenue saved three men and a woman from drowning yesterday. All four collapsed as soon as they were safe, and two were in such condition the police took them to St. Francis hospital.

The near drowning was the result of the usual attempt to shift places in a rowboat.

Minnie Rauschpolt, 1123 Pratt avenue.

Alfred Katsmann, 4757 Prairie avenue.

Fred Rechberger, 540 West North avenue.

John Jacobs, 2115 North Halsted street.

Row to Accident.

They were rescued by Rudolph Sampson, 15 years old, 643 Melrose street, and Edward Spies, 16 years old, 1102 North Shore avenue. The boys heard the cries for help, and, jumping into a boat, rowed to the scene of the accident. They succeeded in getting Miss Rauschpolt, Katsmann, and Jacobs into the boat. Fearing it would sink if they tried to pull Rechberger into it, they told him to hold to the stern while they rowed to shore.

William Ballard, manager of the Birchwood Country club, at the foot of Chase avenue, also heard the cries for help. He organized a volunteer life saving corps and assisted the boys in their rescue work.

Falls Out of Canoe.

An unidentified man committed suicide last night by jumping into the Calumet river at East One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street and Indiana avenue. His body, recovered later by the police, bore no marks of identification.

SAYS SHE WAS FORCED TO WED STRANGER TWICE HER AGE.

Ada Reinhardt, Public Stenographer, Charges Duress in Bill Asking Annulment of Her Marriage.

Ada Reinhardt, a public stenographer, yesterday filed a bill for the annulment of her marriage to Otto F. Gerhardt. She swears she was forced to marry him.

The plaintiff alleges that in June, 1909, she was ill in her rooming house and the landlady threatened to throw her out in the street unless she consented to marry the man. She says Gerhardt was represented to her as wealthy. She names the keeper of the rooming house as a "Mrs. Thompson."

The plaintiff alleges that under duress she consented and went to St. Joseph, Mo., where she was "taken to some place by some one where some person representing himself to be an officer informed her she was married," according to the bill.

To Be Lenient to Vehicle Owners.

Because of the rush for vehicle tags City Collector Edward Cohen is unable to accommodate all the applicants immediately, so he has asked Acting Chief Schuettler to instruct members of the police department not to molest vehicle owners who are not displaying the 1913 wheel tax tag.

27,000 FARMERS APPEAL TO COURT

Stockholders in Independent Harvester Company Demand Accounting.

HOLDINGS ARE $6,000,000.

Allege in Bill to Be Filed Today That "Trust Busting" Was Made Lure.

A bill in behalf of 27,000 farmers, holding more than $6,000,000 worth of stock in the Independent Harvester company of Plano, Ill., is expected to be filed in the United States District court this morning. The company is a $10,000,000 concern. The action will be taken by a committee appointed by 1,500 of the 27,000.

The charge of the farmers' committee and their counsel is that the agriculturalists were duped into paying as high as $15 and $25 above par for stock in a concern touted by promoters as organized to "buck the harvester trust off the map."

Then, they allege, they were denied any voice in the management of their "trust buster." They further allege they are being duped by gross mismanagement of the corporation on the part of the missionaries who sold them stock.

Farmers Demand Accounting.

The farmers ask that Thompson be made to give an accounting of the business of the corporation, of its profits and losses in stock, sales and machinery departments, that the corporation books be audited, that Thompson be forced to tell what compensation or profits he has received, and that he be made to pay back into the treasury of the corporation any money unlawfully received. The bill avers there has been much money illegally appropriated.

The bill asks that Thompson be removed from office, that the corporation be reorganized along coöperative lines, and that the holders of nonvoting stock be given the privilege of voting in the affairs of the business.

Committee Brings Bill to Chicago.

The committee which brought the bill to Chicago is composed of E. M. Thebiay of Eagle Grove, Ia.; Grant Grinnell of Kankakee, and Philip Niebergall of Paw Paw, Ill. The attorneys in the case are Gower, Cooper, Hoble, and Parish, of Kankakee, and Martin and Malloy, of Hutchinson, Kas.

The complainants thought they were getting into a coöperative concern, they allege, and find now, after years of promises, that the corporation is a gigantic stock selling proposition and not a manufacturing concern.

They say they bought with the idea they would get farm machinery at prices considerably lower than those of the International Harvester company and at the same time make a profit in dividends from the sale of the machinery.

"Machinery Discount" Stock.

They bought what is called preferred machinery discount stock. They thought, they state in the bill, they were getting regular controlling stock. They found later these holdings gave them no vote and no voice in the management.

The bill states $9,000,000 worth of the stock is nonvoting. The other million is controlled by Thompson. He holds the directors' meetings in Portland, Me. Six million dollars of the machine discount stock has been sold.

The Independent Harvester company was organized in 1905 to buck the trust. It was evolved from the Kellogg Harvester company of Plano. It never has paid a dividend, although the bill states stock solicitors have represented that it soon was to pay one of from 10 to 25 per cent.

Start of the Indignation.

Trouble began when the plant at Plano could not manufacture enough machines to meet the orders. Indignation meetings were held in several states. The greatest number of stockholders live in Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and South Dakota. A committee was appointed to investigate, but it is alleged little satisfaction was received.

The last director's meeting was held in January in Maine. At that time members of the committee asked for an accounting. The directors, of whom Thompson was the leader, voted against an accounting, says the bill.

It is said Thompson receives a salary of $12,000 under a resolution which authorizes the payment of not more than $18,000 to the president. More than $50,000 has been paid to him under this resolution, it is alleged. He also has received, according to the bill, expense money to the amount of $10,000 a year, in all $40,000, for which there has been no accounting.

Says Salary Is Excessive.

The bill says the salary is excessive and that the president of the company is a stock broker and knows nothing about manufacturing.

Thompson is accused of getting money fraudulently through the transfer of land from himself to the company. The bill states that he has bought property and then transferred it to the corporation without giving a statement of the cost to him of such land. It alleges he is renting one piece of land he bought and transferred to the Harvester company and that the rent is inadequate. The farmers alleged he also made money from the corporation through deals in coal and timber lands.

All of the time of the officers has been used in selling stock, the plaintiffs allege, instead of manufacturing machinery to compete with the trust, although the company is declared to be possessed of sufficient money and a plant.

Stock Selling Chief Business.

More than $3,000,000 worth of stock has been sold during the last two years.

The bill says that while the officers represented the plant as running economically and successfully during 1912, the company expended $1,200,000 in manufacturing and produced goods selling at $800,000.

"The mismanagement and fraudulent misrepresentations of the officers of the company," reads the bill, "so injured the reputation of the company and its products that advertisements are being refused by farm journals. The company has been barred from doing business in certain states."

"The further continuance of the policy pursued by the defendants," says the bill, "and the management and control of said corporation will lead to the ultimate insolvency of the corporation."

The defendants other than Thompson are Bing Eley, a Chicago attorney of Des Plaines, secretary of the company, whose salary is said to be $6,000; A. H. Bayston, A. L. Lye, and Joseph E. Bode of Plano and A. K. Wentworth of Chicago.

Clerk Who Authorized a Million Marriages Dies After 30 Years' Service.

Morris Salmonson.

LOCAL AGENT FOR CUPID DEAD

Morris Salmonson County Marriage License Clerk 30 Years.

ATTACKED BY PNEUMONIA.

Aided More than One Million People to Get Married.

Chicago missed a true old friend yesterday when Morris Salmonson died, and countless thousands of men and women lost a well wisher.

For thirty years Morris Salmonson was chief clerk in the marriage license bureau. Always there was a smile and a cheery "God bless you," to applicants at his window.

He was wrapped up in his work. He was glad when the number of licenses issued totaled over 100 for the day, and sorry when they were less. June was his particular month, and June brides received a special blessing from him. He is said to have aided more than 1,000,000 to embark on the sea of matrimony.

Weeps When He Resigns.

On July 1, 1911 the old man was forced to resign his office and it is said he wept as he left forever the place he had occupied for nearly half his life. He became an insurance agent, but it was evident he had no love for the work. He made frequent visits to the county building, and he would smile at the waiting list of applicants, ask to see how many permits to wed had been issued that day, and smile or frown accordingly.

He would stay but a little while, for he said it made him feel lonesome, and then he would walk away, rubbing his glasses with a handkerchief.

Dies from Pneumonia.

He was 70 years old Jan. 25. He was taken ill Sunday and a physician was called. He was suffering from pneumonia. The end came suddenly yesterday morning.

Mr. Salmonson was born in Copenhagen, Denmark. He married when he was 28 years old and came to Chicago. He was the author of three books, "The Marriage License Window," "We Mortals," and "Among Jews."

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Emily Salmonson, and four children, Axel, Edgar, Carter, and Ella. Funeral services will be held Saturday at Rosehill chapel. M. M. Mangasarian will preach the sermon and the burial will be at Rosehill.

COLLEGE PROFESSOR IN CELL.

Rudolph Barcick, from University of Notre Dame, Mixes in Row with Sad Results.

Rudolph Barcick, who told the police he is a professor of law at the University of Notre Dame, spent last night in a police station. Barcick received his night's lodging for mixing in a row at 1110 North Ashland avenue.

According to the story told the police, Miss Nellie Filas, 1589 Augusta street, an aunt of the professor, formerly lived with Mrs. Carl Bernhardt at 1110 North Ashland avenue. When she moved a week ago to the new address she left her furniture at the Bernhardt home. Last night, accompanied by her nephew, she went for the furniture.

An argument followed, which the police stopped. The three were charged with disorderly conduct.

ALDERMEN SEE MAN KILLED.

Train Runs Down Worker on Handcar in View of Harbor Committee Members.

Members of the city council committee on wharves and harbors, inspecting the Calumet river, were witnesses of a fatality and a flight. Their boat, the fire tug Illinois, paused in front of the bridge at Ninety-sixth street to allow a Lake Shore passenger train to pass. The train ran into a handcar on which Andrew Sago, of Whiting, Ind., was making a desperate effort to get out of the way. He was instantly killed. An hour later two young men in a rowboat at One Hundred and Sixteenth street, catching sight of the tug, leaped into the river and swam ashore, scampering out of sight. What scared them no one was able to find out.

Search for Missing Salesman.

The Chicago police were asked yesterday to assist in the search for C. C. Adams, 24 years old, a traveling salesman of Columbus, O., who disappeared after arriving in Chicago on April 17 to take a position with one of the packing firms in the stockyards.

How Much Weighs a Gefillte Fish? the Burning Problem Among Guardians of Peace in Chicago.

How much weighs a gefillte fish?

If this problem is not solved pretty soon several members of the Chicago police department may be sent to Kankakee or some asylum. Two thousand patrolmen have been trying to solve the question since last Sunday.

Harry Wertheimer, a detective at headquarters, is responsible for it all. He told an operator at the Sheffield avenue station that "How much weighs a gefillte fish?" will be one of the questions propounded by the civil service board of examiners in the promotion for the rank of second grade sergeant.

The question in its entirety is as follows: "How much weighs a gefillte fish if the body weighs four times as much as the head and the head weighs twice as much as the tail, and the tail weighs the same as the gefillte, which is eight times the weight of the fins?"

The problem was sent over the wires to every police station in the city and as there are about 2,000 patrolmen "brushing up" for the examination, all of them got busy with paper and pencil. Some of the policemen are said to have used patrol boxes for blackboards.

CHILDREN SEE MOTHER KILLED.

Mrs. Rebecca Rifas Leaps to Death from Fourth Story Window—Daughter Tries to Save Her.

In spite of the desperate efforts of her 9 year old daughter to prevent her, and with her two other children looking on in frightened amazement, Mrs. Rebecca Rifas leaped from the fourth story of her residence, 812 Arthington street, last night and was fatally injured. She was rushed to the county hospital, where she died.

Mrs. Rifas, according to her husband, Simon, recently visited a dentist. Since then she had been nervous and melancholy. Shortly before 10 o'clock she sent her husband to a grocery. Then after having her oldest daughter, Celia, write an address on an envelope, she ran to the window and leaped out. Celia clutched her mother's skirts and screamed, but before help arrived she had lost her hold and Mrs. Rifas plunged to the sidewalk.

The other children in the room were Leo, 8 years old, and Sarah, 1 year old.

PLAN CITY BUREAU FOR PHONE KICKS

Company Agrees to Allow Municipal Supervision of All Complaints.

QUICK RULINGS PROMISED.

Five Minute Limit on Calls Causes Dispute at Session of Committee.

A complaint bureau, in charge of city experts, the expense of which will be defrayed by the telephone company, is to be a striking feature of the new telephone agreement. This bureau will investigate all complaints and will serve as a place where complaints can be taken up directly and redress gained, something that does not exist at present.

The suggestion for the creation of the bureau, made yesterday by Ald. Merriam at the meeting of the gas, oil, and electric light committee, met with instant favor from the aldermen and the company officials.

"As matters now stand," said Ald. Merriam, "the subscriber who has a complaint will not go to the company, as he does not think he will receive fair treatment. He comes to his alderman or some other city official. The commissioner of public works is supposed to follow up these complaints, but he has not the time.

Means Better Service.

"I think such a bureau would act as a great feature for better telephone service. The cost could be defrayed by setting aside a fund of about $12,000 a year from the gross receipts of the company."

"The idea is a good one and perfectly agreeable to the company," said President Sunny of the Telephone company. "We are willing to coöperate with such a bureau and think it would be good work. Many of the complaints made are without foundation, but if we say so the subscriber does not believe it."

Ald. Merriam's intention is to have the bureau work under the city electrician, or the commissioner of public works, with an expert and several investigators in charge. Prof. Bemis, the expert for the committee, was instructed to arrange for the financing of such a bureau and draft the proper amendments to the original Telephone ordinance of 1907.

Discuss Five Minute Limit.

Some trouble came yesterday over the efforts of the company to be allowed to enforce the five minute rule. Permission was asked to discontinue service to telephones that are habitual breakers of this rule and which prevent others upon party lines from using the telephones.

Ald. Bowler, Walkowiak, and Janovsky objected to the request, declaring that it would work against business houses which are compelled to use their unlimited service wires for long periods.

"The company does not want to do any one an injustice," said Mr. Sunny, "but where 'clothes line' conversations are held for half an hour or so on party lines, tying up the other users, there should be some remedy. We want the right to investigate, and then if the violator of the rule does not stop the trouble he should be disciplined."

Check on Long Talks.

Ald. Bowler, Ald. Merriam, and Mr. Sunny, with Chairman Sitts of the committee, agreed to try to frame some compromise rule which will stop the abuse of telephone service on party lines, but will not act as a hardship upon big business houses.

The committee decided to absolutely prevent the growth of the $1 a day unlimited service. A monthly rate of $10.42 for 500 messages a month for single party business telephones was adopted. Subscribers of single party measured service will have an opportunity of checking up on all bills rendered by asking for the installation of meters, which will cost the subscriber $1.80 a year.

Other rates recommended yesterday were $48 a year for single party measured service for business houses, guaranteeing 960 messages, and $40 a year for same class residence service calling for 800 messages.

TAKEN AS OLDEST PICKPOCKET.

Man Calling Himself Oscar Raymond, Aged 72, Gets Out on Habeas Corpus Writ.

The oldest man ever arrested by the Chicago police on suspicion of being a pickpocket, gave the name yesterday of Oscar Raymond. He said he was 72, and lived at 2426 Indiana avenue.

Raymond with Joseph Burns, 2630 Cottage Grove avenue; James Kenedy, Kansas City, Kas., and Robert Smith, Thirtieth street and Michigan avenue were brought before Judge Windes yesterday on writs of habeas corpus and discharged. The men were arrested on Tuesday and held at the detective bureau without being "booked."

The prisoners loudly asserted their innocence.

SAYS BLOW HASTENED DEATH

WAS PIONEER CHICAGOAN.

Dr. Wilgus at Kankakee Reports Mysterious Violence.

An investigation into the death of Mrs. L. Marie Schorr, a pioneer Chicagoan and for forty years a milliner at 1112 Oakley boulevard, is to be made today by her son, G. Fred Schorr of 8960 Bishop street.

Mrs. Schorr died yesterday morning at the Kankakee state hospital, to which she was committed two weeks ago without the knowledge of her son. Last Tuesday, while ill and confined to her bed, she was struck in the face. While not serious in itself, the blow is believed by Schorr to have hastened the elderly woman's death.

Dr. Wilgus, superintendent of the hospital, said the blow must have been struck by one of the insane patients, but how he did not know. Schorr intends to find out if he can.

Son Dissatisfied with Report.

"I am not satisfied with this report," he said. "I do not want to say that anything out of the way has happened at the hospital, but I don't know why there should be two patients in one room unless they are carefully guarded against such an accident.

"Further, I feel badly that my poor mother should have been sent there. The physicians and nurses told me—what I could see for myself—that she was not violently insane, but a little feeble minded like any number of old persons. They told me she wanted to 'help' some one all the time and did what she could to make the others happy. The horror is that she realized she was confined in an asylum.

"She was committed through the efforts of other relatives. Had I been told they wished to have her leave I would gladly have taken her to my own house. Certainly I would not have let her go to an asylum unless she had been dangerously insane."

Son Engages Lawyer.

It is understood that Mr. Schorr has retained an attorney to look into his mother's business affairs. She is known to have owned her millinery business and probably other property, how much Mr. Schorr does not know.

He said positively he had no reason to suspect her property had anything to do with the suddenness with which she was sent to the asylum, but he intended to investigate this also and find out.

FIREMAN DANGEROUSLY HURT GOING TO DOWNTOWN BLAZE.

Flames Attack Hyland Bros. Company Millinery Establishment at 158 North Michigan Avenue—Loss $20,000.

A five story brick building at 158-160 North Michigan avenue, occupied by Hyland Bros. company, wholesale milliners, was threatened with destruction by fire last night.

The blaze was discovered on the first floor, near the elevator shaft, by Joseph Nevens. A loss estimated at $20,000 was caused by the flames.

Louis Danielson, 2017 Wilmot avenue, driver of engine company No. 34, was probably fatally hurt when the engine overturned in front of 540 West Washington street. The other members of the company escaped injury by jumping. The cause of the fire is unknown, and Battalion Chief Egan declared he would ask the fire attorney to make an investigation.

Man Who Beat Horse Held by Police While Woman Lectures Him on Misdeeds.

Mrs. Frederick H. Wickett, 4740 Kimbark avenue, paused in her automobile trip to Evanston yesterday long enough to call a policeman and have Frank Beinlich, a teamster, arrested for what she said was cruelty to his horse. At the station she told the sergeant she would not file a complaint but would like to talk with Beinlich. Thereupon she launched forth into a lecture on the proper way to treat a horse, the police keeping the teamster there until she finished.

THREE INDICTED IN SPOOK FRAUDS

HELD UNDER $15,000 BAIL.

Law Demanded Making Accessories of Newspapers That Accept Luring Ads.

First results in the crusade to swat the "spook trust" came yesterday when three clairvoyants were indicted by the Cook county grand jury for the alleged swindling of two women out of an aggregate of $26,500.

With the indictments was a recommendation for an investigation of newspaper that accept advertisements of apparent "fakers" and thus helping to lure victims. That there should be stricter laws, holding owners of such newspapers as accessories, and regulating the publishing of such advertisements, is included in the recommendation.

After the presentation of the indictments Assistant State's Attorney M. F. Sullivan announced that more than a dozen complaints were being investigated, and that he expected soon to round up the leading members of the "spook trust," who are thought to have mulcted ignorant victims of thousands of dollars.

Each Under $15,000 Bail.

The men indicted were:

"Prof." Charles R. Crane, accused of swindling Hope L. McEldowney of La Crosse, Wis., out of $15,000. Crane is now arrested at Lucas, Wis.

Robert T. Milton, alias Frank S. Ryan, accused of swindling Mary E. Rapp of Naperville, Ill., of $11,500.

Jesse Gilage, accused with Milton.

Confidence game was the charge in each case, and bail was fixed at $15,000.

Holds Newspapers to Blame.

The recommendations made were as follows:

"This grand jury would respectfully call to the attention of your honorable court that in the regular course of its work two cases have been brought to its attention, and true bills returned therein, where women, innocent and unskilled in business, have been induced to part with large sums of money, to wit, thousands of dollars, in each case, because of the publication in newspapers of advertisements of individuals claiming to be able, by reason of occult powers, to invest money in such a way as to produce greater interest or benefit than is customary through regular channels of investment.

"We believe the cases mentioned are not alone or exceptional. These advertisements are on their face fraudulent, and appeal to credulity and superstition. Without question, a moral responsibility rests with the publisher of such advertisements and without going into the extent of the present legal protection in these matters, we would call attention to the necessity of a study of these conditions with a view to the securing of better laws to hold all publishers of such advertisements liable as accessories in connection with fraud perpetrated by reason of them."

Thomas Adams was charged with being the keeper.

WANTS I.-M. CANAL USED AS SUBWAY

Gov. Dunne Suggests Adoption of Plan from Lockport to Chicago.

AFFECTS 4 STEAM LINES.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Gov. Dunne this afternoon announced as an administration policy the conversion of the Illinois and Michigan canal from Chicago to Lockport into a subway which would provide entrance for steam and electric lines to the heart of Chicago.

The governor said he had called a meeting of the commissioners of the Illinois and Michigan canal—the old tadpole ditch—the trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago, and of representatives of the Chicago plan commission to be held in Springfield Tuesday to initiate the active steps in the matter.

Plan Is to Drain Canal.

Broadly stated, the proposal of the governor is to drain the now useless stretch of canal between Chicago and Lockport, dredge out the accumulated dirt of years, convert it into a track carrying subway, roof it over, and use the lid for a fifty mile boulevard.

The subway Gov. Dunne would have the state lease to any steam or electric concerns which could use it in reaching the center of Chicago.

As the physical situation stands at present, this sort of a subway could be used by the Rock Island, the Alton, the Santa Fe, the Chicago, Joliet and Eastern steam lines or the McKinley syndicate of electric lines, already built into Joliet and reputed to be seeking a Chicago entrance for its through line to St. Louis.

Suggested by Glackin Bill.

The governor said the idea had been suggested by the bill offered by Senator Glackin now pending in the senate.

The Glackin bill provides that the sanitary district of Chicago shall take over the canal and that it shall be filled up with the accumulated hills of débris which were removed in the excavation of the sanitary canal.

The theory of the Glackin measure is that this débris could be turned into the old ditch and the ground thereby made would be leased by the sanitary district for manufacturing sites. Senator Glackin's claim is that the entire east bank of the sanitary canal is worthless for manufacturing purposes because of the paralleling of the tadpole ditch.

TWO REPUBLICANS WIN SEATS IN HOUSE THROUGH CONTESTS.

Robert R. Jackson, Colored, and Edwin T. Farrar Take Place of Ashton, Democrat, and Harris, Socialist.

Springfield, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Two Republicans were seated in the house today by the adoption of the majority report of the elections committee.

Robert R. Jackson, colored, from the Third district, takes the place of Henry Ashton, Democrat. Edwin T. Farrar takes the seat held through the long deadlocks by H. W. Harris, one of the four Socialists. Both men have been sworn in.

The action of the committee is forecast as a loss of two votes for the initiative and referendum amendment and the gain of a pair of votes for the wet end of the local option argument.

Twenty contests were blanketed into the majority report. Four more remain unsettled. These are McCormick, Hennebry, Munro, and Graves, all Progressives.

MAKE ARMORY FUND PLEAS.

Commanding Officers of Illinois National Guard Seek Aid from State Legislature.

Springfield, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Commanding officers of the Illinois national guard presented their pleas for armory appropriations to the senate and house appropriation committees today.

The program of the Illinois National Guard association, started four years ago, asks for $250,000 for the First cavalry, in Chicago; $35,000 for the Fourth infantry, at Paris, and $50,000 each for the Sixth infantry, at Galesburg; Sixth infantry and naval reserve, at Moline, and the artillery and Fifth infantry, at Danville.

In addition, strong pleas were made in behalf of the Second and Eighth infantry regiments, in Chicago.

Col. Milton J. Foreman made a particularly urgent request on behalf of the cavalry. He said the city authorities have ordered his regiment out of their present quarters in North Clark street and that the crisis has arrived with his command.

PLANS TO END INTEREST GRAFT

Dunne Will Demand State Get Income from Public Moneys.

TAKES LEAD IN THE REFORM

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Gov. Dunne in a public statement today declared his determination that all interest on public funds within his control or within the control of departments over which he has authority shall revert to the state.

He emphasized this position by making arrangements whereby $40,000 of the contingent fund of the governor, placed to his personal credit, began drawing the usual rate of interest in the bank where it is deposited, the interest, the governor said, to go to the state.

"I determined on this course when this administration took office," Gov. Dunne said, "and so far as my office is concerned the policy is in full effect. I shall insist in so far as lies within my power that moneys drawn from the state treasury against appropriations, when so drawn and deposited, shall be deposited at interest and that the interest shall go to the state.

"I have found that in some of the institutions and departments it has been the perennial custom to draw down the appropriation at the beginning of each quarter and place it in local banking institutions, to be maintained as a checking account. I shall insist as governor that, so far as possible, these appropriations be drawn against only as needed, so that the state treasurer may collect the interest, as is the case on all other sums in his custody.

"But when such sums are drawn this office is prepared to see to it that there shall be no personal profit by way of the interest route to any persons charged with the custody of such funds."

ETTELSON INTRODUCES BILL TO BETTER PURE FOOD LAW.

Measure to Prevent Misbranding and Advertising Fake Products, if Enacted, Will Put Illinois to the Front.

Springfield, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Senator Ettelson of Chicago introduced a bill in the senate today providing for a stringent and complete redrafting of the state pure food law with respect to the branding and sale of food products.

The bill, referred to the committee on live stock and dairying, is held to be essentially progressive in its provisions, and, if enacted, destined to place the food inspection department of Illinois in the front rank of states which are attempting to regulate effectually the misbranding of products and the advertisement and sale of such misbranded goods.

It is probable that the measure will meet with the immediate and hearty opposition of a bunch of interests who have been found actively present in Springfield whenever there has been any attempt to enact legislation pertaining to pure food, and who, up to the present time, have been successful in getting a compromise when legislation has been pending.

The bill, as it stands, runs to all dairy and food products and strengthens materially the present Illinois law. The bill was offered this morning and referred to the committee of which Senator A. J. Olson of Woodstock is the chairman. It is possible that the first hearings on the measure will be arranged for next week.

DOCTORS INDORSE ANTI-QUACK BILL

Chicago Medical Society for Barring Advertising of Fake Cures.

APPEAL MADE BY NANCE.

Physician Calls on Organization to See That Measure Passes.

The Chicago Medical society, representing about 2,200 local physicians, decided last night, by a unanimous vote, to indorse the bill introduced at Springfield, Ill., last week by State Senator Hurburgh, which prohibits the advertising of fake cures. The action was taken at a meeting at the Hotel Sherman, where Dr. Willis O. Nance advocated that the society support such legislation.

"Every physician who has practiced in Chicago can contribute some tale of the mental strain suffered by young men after they had fallen into the hands of unscrupulous so-called specialists," said Dr. Nance after reading the bill. "None of us doubts that by the magnifying of symptoms as represented in these advertisements a number of healthy young men are driven each day into the offices of doctors, and led to believe in an imaginary illness.

Possible by Advertising.

"If many people are driven to suicide by their physical condition it becomes a question how many of these deaths must be charged to the intimidation of patients as practiced by some of these specialists. The advertising is what makes it possible for the latter to ply their trade in this objectionable way.

"Suicide is one extreme of the situation and recklessness is another consequence. This continual flaunting before the eyes of the young of distorted conditions does not serve to protect them from real dangers but hardens them against every phase of city life. This bill will have a moral influence which should have been secured many years ago."

The society has begun work to insure the passage of this bill by the state legislature.

On Second Reading Calendar.

Springfield, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—The Hurburgh bill, directed at the wholesale advertising in newspapers of fake doctors, reached the senate's second reading calendar this morning.

It is probable that this bill will be passed by the senate early in the coming week and that the house will give immediate attention to it.

Little opposition has been found to the measure, except in isolated quarters.

LAKE VIEW RESIDENTS TIRE OF HOLDUPS; APPEAL TO MAYOR

Only Two Policemen Patrol Thug Infested District—Force Cut Since Last Year—Residents Alarmed.

Residents of one of the best sections of Sheridan road in Lake View have joined in petitioning Mayor Harrison to issue orders that will result in that part of the city being given better police protection.

There have been repeated holdups in the district, women being the particular object of thieves attack. Those living in the block which appears to be the favorite hunting ground of the robbers include O. W. Lehmann of the Fair department store, Henry S. Osborn, and John F. Heuer.

Mr. Heuer, who was one of the signers of the petition, said that four women have been held up in front of his house in the last three months. Included in the four was Mrs. Heuer.

It is claimed that the district is underpoliced. There are a number of park policemen in the district, but they devote themselves almost exclusively to watching automobiles for speed law violations.

At the Town Hall police station it was stated that the force there has been cut twenty men as compared with last year. The result of this is that only two men are assigned to the district from which the complaints come.

Arrest Would-Be Citizens.

At the direction of Federal Judge Carpenter two men seeking naturalization were seized yesterday and arrested for perjury. They were Eric Jacob of 1241 Webster avenue and Sebastian Winkler of 359 Garfield avenue.

FIGHT ON JUUL LAW HALTED

AMENDMENT UNDER FIRE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Determined effort to repeal the Juul law, postponed temporarily today, will be renewed Tuesday morning. Southern Illinois representatives, almost as a unit, demanded the elimination of the entire statute today when the proposed amendment to the existing statute—desired by the city administration of Chicago—was on second reading in the house.

Representative Kane of Saline led the onslaught on the bill with an amendment which secured much stronger support than anybody had anticipated. This amendment provided that the whole statute be wiped from the books. This was voted down by a viva voce vote of 54 to 43.

Opposing Forces Call a Truce.

With another amendment pending, also offered by Representative Kane, and which would eliminate county taxes from the scaling process of the Juul law, an agreement was reached between the Cook county and the downstate men to postpone consideration until Tuesday and then to make it a special order immediately after the battle on the initiative and referendum resolution, which is a special order immediately after the reading of the journal.

Representative McLaughlin called up the senate bill this morning after the election contests had been disposed of. Representative Lee O'Neil Browne immediately offered objection, due, he said, to the refusal of many northern and central Illinois counties which object to the amendment made in the senate to the original bill, providing that the minimum county rate under the scaling process shall be 60 instead of 45 cents.

Rules Suspended; Browne Quieted.

Suspension of the rules was resorted to to overcome Mr. Browne's objection and to get the bill up. Then the Kane amendments were offered. The original bill was defended by Representatives Shurtleff and Shanahan. They declared that Cook county cannot stand for any repealing of the original Juul act and that no effort is now being made to permit the anti-Chicago cry to be successfully raised, nor does Chicago wish to take any advantage of the downstate counties.

The debate lasted two hours and became fiery before it was terminated by the compromise to let the showdown come Tuesday.

INSURE ART WORKS OF MORGAN.

Contracts Covering Collection of Late Financier Reach $23,000,000—Premium Comes to $102,800.

New York, May 1.—Contracts were drawn today insuring the art collection of the late J. P. Morgan for $23,000,000. The premium will be $102,800. All the fire insurance companies authorized to do business in this state have taken their full quota of the insurance and about $4,000,000 has been placed abroad. The portion of the collection in the Metropolitan museum carries $15,000,000 at a rate of 80 cents per $100, and the books and art objects in the Morgan library are insured for $8,000,000 at a rate of 16 cents per $100.

May Waive Inheritance Tax.

Albany, N. Y., May 1.—Under the provisions of a bill passed by the senate tonight the J. P. Morgan art collection would be exempted from the state inheritance tax, provided the collection is turned over "to a municipal corporation of the state for educational, scientific, literary, library, or historical purposes" by the heirs within two years.

The Dayton authorities declare the men were not working and were banished as vagrants. The men, many of whom are negroes, told another story, and enlisted the aid of Mrs. Ida Wells-Barnett, president of the Negro Fellowship league.

DEAD POLICEMAN HAD ODD VISITOR

Widow Tells of Man She Saw in Bridge Shanty Night Husband Died.

MANNER FRIGHTENED HER

Inquest Into Death of Gustave Williams Postponed; Coroner Leans to Crime Theory.

The police are searching for a man who was seen with Policeman Gustave Williams the night of his death at the Dearborn street bridge. The man is described as weighing about 200 pounds, 28 years old and appeared to be a Swede.

He was seen with Williams by his wife, when she visited him at the bridge about 9 o'clock Sunday night. Mrs. Williams said yesterday she was sure the man knew how her husband met his death.

"When I reached the bridge Sunday night," said Mrs. Williams, "I found a strange man sitting in the shanty with Gus. I asked my husband why he had the man sitting there when he knew I had some things to say to him." I said: "Gus, do you have this man to get your beer for supper?"

Did Not Like Man's Looks.

"Then the stranger sneered at me, saying: 'No, not beer. The old lake water is good enough for me.' I did not like the looks of the man when I saw him and I watched him all the time."

The police do not believe that Williams was murdered, but are questioning persons who frequented the vicinity of the bridge. Lieut. White of the Central police station said last night that he was certain Williams was not murdered.

Coroner Peter M. Hoffman ordered the inquest continued yesterday afternoon until May 14 at 10 o'clock. Coroner Hoffman said the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Williams warranted a personal investigation.

Coroner Doubts Accident.

"It is possible that Williams was killed accidentally, the coroner said, "but it is not probable, in my opinion. The circumstances warrant a thorough inquiry."

Policeman Williams disappeared about 11 o'clock Sunday night. His body, with the skull fractured, was found in the cofferdam at the south end of the Dearborn street bridge Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. H. G. W. Reinhardt, coroner's physician, held a postmortem yesterday. His report stated that no water was found in the lungs, which showed that Policeman Williams was not drowned. He said it was probable that the fractures were made by a violent fall.

TEARS DOWN SOCIALIST FLAG.

Capt. Gustav Newman Precipitates Clash at Gary When He Leaves Stars and Stripes Flying.

Gary, Ind., May 1.—[Special.]—The May day celebration of the Gary Socialists was marked by a clash between the police and paraders at Turner hall, when Capt. Gustav Newman lowered two red flags that were hoisted above two American flags. There was much excitement for a while. The Socialists loudly protested when the stars and stripes were left flying from the mast.

NO FRAUD FOUND IN 'MACHINE' DEAL

April Grand Jury Makes Final Report on Investigation of Vote Device.

EFFICIENCY NOT SIFTED.

Inquiry Confined to Searching for Irregularities in Purchase.

In its final report, presented to Judge Richard E. Burke yesterday, the April grand jury announced its investigation of the $1,000,000 voting machine purchase had not been productive of any startling disclosures. Efforts to unearth evidence of irregularities in the machine deal or of fraud or graft failed, it was asserted.

No minority report was filed.

State's Attorney Hoyne took occasion to deny that his chief assistant, Michael F. Sullivan, had quarreled with Homer J. Buckley, one of the jurors.

"Despite misleading statements, there has been no discord between the grand jury and the state's attorney and his staff," said Mr. Hoyne. "Whatever differences arose were only those ordinary ones which arise at times when men of originality and force meet. The grand jury deserves the thanks of the public for its extra work."

Jury Not Judging Efficiency.

The jury's report, as submitted by Foreman Lewis to Judge Burke, made it plain that the jury did not want to be understood as judging the efficiency of the voting machines purchased. Stress also was laid on the statement that the jurors did not intend to in any way conflict with the proposed investigation of the machines by a legislative committee.

The report begins with a recital of the intimations of irregularities in the newspapers, and conceded that "gossip of this nature has been common throughout the community."

"The matter was brought to the attention of the jury," continued the report, "through a letter from John E. Owens, judge of the County court, addressed to Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney, calling his attention to these rumors and insinuations and demanding a thorough investigation by the grand jury of these charges.

Every Witness Produced.

"It is due the state's attorney to say in this connection that every witness whose presence was desired by the grand jury and who was within its jurisdiction, was summoned and produced by the state's attorney.

"The grand jury, in the course of this investigation, has called before it and examined every person whose name was brought to its attention from any source whatsoever, with the intimation that such person had or might have any knowledge with regard to any irregularity in its connection with the selection of the machine or the award of the contract.

"None of the parties thus summoned has furnished to the grand jury any facts giving evidence of criminality in connection with the award of the voting machine contract. We found no trace of money or favors conferred, or of pledges to confer hereafter money or favors, in the return for the selection or purchase of a machine for which the contract was given."

Walsh Last Witness.

The last witness in the voting machine investigation before the jury was John Walsh of 122 Penn street, a former policeman, who also formerly was connected with the office of the election commissioners. He denied he was in Hotel Sherman with an employé of the election board when the latter was reported to have deposited a sum of money with a clerk of the hotel. He also professed ignorance of other employés receiving money.

Walsh admitted he had several times been in the company of Henry Barr, western sales manager of the Empire Voting Machine company, which obtained the big contract, but denied he ever had received money from Barr or had been offered money by him.

Walsh is reported to have been one of two attachés of the election board assigned by one of the Democratic commissioners to "shadow" Commissioner Anthony Czarnecki, Republican member, who consistently opposed the voting machine deal. The jurors, however, did not question him in this regard.

Refers to Crowded Jail.

The grand jury report also referred to the crowded condition of the county jail, but praised the management and the efforts to keep the jail clean and sanitary. Recommendations for a larger and better ventilated prison were made.

A law to punish persons pretending to be connected with the staff of the state's attorney was suggested; also that a part of the state's attorney's appropriation be set aside so that he may obtain evidence in advance of important cases.

The report concludes with a recommendation to the legislative committee to call on the state's attorney for a transcript of the evidence taken in the voting machine inquiry and advises the state's attorney to furnish the transcript.

SANTA FE ROAD OFFICIAL SAID TO BE $60,000 SHY.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 1.—Accused of having embezzled more than $60,000 during a period covering six years, W. J. Ranney, chief clerk in the office of the auditor of the Santa Fé railroad here, was arrested tonight.

The specific charge on which Ranney was arrested was the alleged theft of $670, but Acting General Manager Hibbard was authority for the statement that the total amount of the shortage would approximate at least the larger sum. Fraudulent vouchers are said to have been used to conceal it.

The accused man lives at Pasadena, where he has been prominent socially for some years.

HOPPS HOP ON FATHER-IN-LAW.

Gustave Jr. and His Relatives Resent When Mrs. Hopp Goes Home to Her Dad.

Gustave Hopp Jr., proprietor of a motion picture show at 5832 West Chicago avenue, dropped around to see his father-in-law, Walter Baldwin, 114 North Waller avenue, in Austin, on Wednesday night. He took his father, his brother, and three friends with him.

Ten minutes later most of the windows in Baldwin's residence had been smashed, furniture strewed the floor, Baldwin's guest, Michael Stephens, 5924 Iowa street, was unconscious from a welt with an iron bar, and the three Hopps were having a ride in a patrol wagon.

Young Hopp and Baldwin's daughter were married about three months ago, but early this week they quarreled and the bride returned to her father's house. When she refused to go home with her husband Hopp called his friends and the row started.

WITNESSES TELL OF GRAFT BY NEW YORK INSPECTORS.

Prosecution Practically Completes Its Case Against Thompson, Hussey, Murtha, and Sweeney.

New York, May 1.—The prosecution practically completed its case today against the four former police inspectors—Thompson, Hussey, Murtha and Sweeney on trial for conspiracy to obstruct justice through bribery of prospective grand jury witnesses against the "system."

Three witnesses corroborated the testimony of Thomas W. Walsh, a former captain, that the defendants raised funds in an effort to keep a graft-giver and a graft-taker from confessing.

Walsh confessed grafting, his wife denied at first that her automobile, hotel dinners and other luxuries were paid for out of graft tribute, but later admitted she knew Walsh levied on resorts.

Eugene Fox, a patrolman awaiting sentence after pleading guilty to bribery, testified as to a $10,000 fund raised to keep him from confessing. He told of sharing graft money with Walsh who, he said, told him it was split with the inspector of the district.

TAX PAYING METHOD A HIT.

New System of Sending Bills Results in Abolition of Crowds in County Collector's Office.

In contrast to crowded conditions at this time in previous years, the county collector's office was almost deserted yesterday, the last day on which taxes may be paid without penalty.

"Our new system of sending out tax bills is responsible for this relief," County Collector William L. O'Connell said.

"In previous years each taxpayer was sent a postal card, on presentation of which the bill was made out. He then took the bill and paid it at the cashier's window.

"This year I ordered the bills made out and sent direct to the taxpayers. The resultant relief is even greater than I had hoped."

NOAH'S ARK DAY AT BLUE ISLAND

Nearly Every Living Thing on Earth Offered for Sale on Suburban Market.

LIKE EUROPEAN VILLAGE.

People from Miles Around, Clad in Old Country Costume, Deal There.

Summer weather and the month of May were ushered in with a record breaking market at Blue Island yesterday. Market day, the first Thursday in every month, in Blue Island is like a visit to a European village.

From miles around farmers, hucksters, street fakers, tin peddlers, and horse traders had spent the night traveling to the market to get advantageous positions.

Men, women, and little children crowded into the narrow streets just south of the railroad viaduct that divides the town.

Women in European Garb.

The women came in clothes they had worn in the peasant fields of the old country. They carried big baskets and live chickens in crates. Some drove flocks of geese, and one man descended from a Kankakee suburban car with a good sized pig under his arm.

Goats in charge of small boys were numerous. Others had Shetland ponies, donkeys, dogs, and doves. A little girl carried a big wooden cage in which there were white rats. Her mother carried another cage containing an enormous owl that blinked and twisted its head.

"How much for the owl?" asked an astonished stranger.

"One dollar," replied the woman.

"He fine owl. He catch mice in the cellar. He fat, too. Nice owl. One dollar," she repeated as her questioner passed on.

Goats for Sale Here.

"Meestah, I gotta fine goat. I sell heem cheap. What you give?"

A man in a corduroy suit, a red kerchief, slouch hat, and blue blouse lifted an appealing palm and jerked a one horned goat forward.

"Get out of the way with your crippled nanny!" snapped a booted horse trader, leading a string of half a dozen brawny horses.

In the afternoon the market was given over almost entirely to the horse trading. Cattle, dogs, and chickens, however, also found varying sales. One little girl was in tears because she had not disposed of her dog and donkey.

HITS STATE'S VOTE LAW BLOW

Mrs. McCulloch, as Critic, Says Women Would Beat Men.

ARREST MILITANT LEADER.

Annie Kenney Locked Up in London and Bail Is Refused.

Champaign, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCulloch of Evanston was the principal speaker before suffragists of Champaign, Urbana, and the University of Illinois at the university today.

She told a story of a country which had a property test. A man, whose sole possession was a mule, passed the test, the mule died. The man lost his vote.

"Did the mule or the man lose his vote?" asked Mrs. McCullouch. "Women have some privileges in Illinois," she ironically conceded. "Girls may go to work much younger than boys. They may make wills at 18 years. Lunatics, aliens, and minors, disfranchised, have a chance to regain their vote in Illinois.

Puts Men Second to Women.

"If religious, educational, or even property tests of suffrage are imposed more women than men will pass.

"Insane men may vote in Illinois, if they have a trace of reason. Criminals—not just plain drunks, speed bugs, and wife beaters—are sometimes disfranchised, but Daugherty, who pleaded guilty to taking from children when he embezzled school funds, still voted after he was given a conditional pardon."

ARREST MILITANT LEADER.

LONDON, May 1.—Miss Annie Kenney, one of the most prominent of the militant suffragets, was arrested today as soon as she set foot in England on her arrival from the continent. A detective had accompanied her from Paris bearing a warrant charging her with conspiracy.

Notwithstanding the drastic action of the police on Wednesday in raiding the offices of the Women's Social and Political union on Kingsway, the militants continued their outrages today. A large stable was burned at Hendon, and a placard with the words "Votes, Votes, Votes, Beware" was found pasted on the premises. A boathouse on the Thames was destroyed and a number of skiffs were burned.

The Standard announces the discovery of a plot to remove Mrs. Pankhurst abroad by taking her in an aeroplane. The paper says:

"Several prominent air-men have been requested to undertake this criminal enterprise and an invitation, which is remarkable for its audacity, has been extended to the Standard to coöperate in placing Mrs. Pankhurst beyond the reach of the British authorities in return for the bribe of exclusive information as to her flight. It is not necessary to say that the Standard declined to participate in a criminal conspiracy and a warning was forwarded to Scotland Yard."

STOCK BOARD BILL PASSES.

Measure Looking to Wall Street Reforms Goes to Governor of New York.

Albany, N. Y., May 1.—With its passage in the senate tonight by a vote of 29 to 13 the Levy bill, designed to prevent the New York stock exchange from an alleged discrimination against members of the consolidated exchange, now goes to Gov. Sulzer for approval. This was one of the executive's Wall street reform measures.

POWERS TO DELAY SCUTARI ACTION

Will Not Coerce Montenegro Pending Discussion of Possible Peace.

CURT NOTE FROM RUSSIA.

Czar's Emissary Demands Evacuation of Captured Fortress and Threatens War.

LONDON, May 1.—The powers will not take steps to coerce Montenegro for the present. The ambassadors at their meeting this afternoon came to the conclusion that in view of the conciliatory attitude shown by Montenegro it was unnecessary to proceed with immediate measures of coercion.

The reply of Montenegro to the demand of Europe for the evacuation of Scutari was received today by the powers. It is noncommittal in character and keeps the doors open for further negotiations.

The little kingdom of the Black mountains tells its neighbors that it has the greatest deference for them and declares the capture of Scutari to be in no way a defiance of their announced decision to give the former Turkish fortress to Albania.

Tiny Ally Ready for Parley.

At the same time Montenegro suggests that there is room for discussion and reserves the right of bringing up the question of Scutari in the course of the peace negotiations.

In the meantime arrangements are in progress for the definite conclusion of peace between the Balkan allies and Turkey.

The European powers have requested the respective governments to appoint plenipotentiaries who when meeting in London will be invited to sign a draft of the preliminaries which the powers already have drawn up. This course has been adopted in order to prevent prolonged discussion.

Russia Demands Evacuation.

CETTINJE, May 1.—The Russian minister to Montenegro presented a curt note to the government today urging immediate compliance by Montenegro with the demands of the European powers for the evacuation of Scutari and intimating that a policy of defiance was likely to lead to the ruin of Montenegro.

SEVENTY-FIVE FIREMEN RESIGN IN SALT LAKE CITY CONTEST.

Members of Department Except Chief Ready to Quit as Result of Wrangle with City Commission.

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 1.—The resignations of seventy-five members of the city fire department, which includes every active member of the fire fighting force, with the exception of Chief W. H. Bywater, were presented formally to the city commission today.

It was said tonight three members of the commission were ready to accept the resignations, as there were sufficient experienced men available to take the places of the men who quit.

It was rumored tonight that the employés of all other city departments were preparing to take the same action as the firemen unless their demands for increased wages are granted.

SOLACEA TREATMENT
(TRADE MARK)

This is the treatment that enables McKinley to say: "It it hurts don't pay me." It overcomes all pain in a manner that can in no way bring injurious after effects. The treatment is absolutely harmless. It's the greatest achievement of the present day in the science of dentistry.

Nuprocess Dentistry will do wonders with "interrupted" rows of teeth. It fills gaps with new teeth that feel and act and are like the natural ones. They are without the annoying artificial plates. The combination of McKinley's great discoveries is Nuprocess Dentistry with Solacea Treatment.

INTO THEIR OWN TRAP.

Into the hands of the fretted home secretary, Mr. Reginald McKenna, a kindly fate is delivering the Pankhursts at last. They may see the direction their new plans to devastate Mr. McKenna are taking and drop them, but if they do not the home secretary will enter the house of commons some afternoon, smile even at the Cecils, and sit down and be at ease.

The Pankhurst disposition to do nothing that the government prescribes they shall is leading them into a trap. Mrs. Pankhurst, recovering from the effects of imprisonment and starvation, is now in a house which the suffragets are provisioning for a siege. When the government sends to take her back to Holloway jail to continue to serve her sentence the police will find the militants barricaded and defiant.

Cunning Mr. McKenna has extended Mrs. Pankhurst's "leave of absence" from Holloway, evidently to permit the further provisioning of the house. If he could make certain that there were victuals for a year or two in it he'd act at once. Not being sure, he waits.

What the Pankhursts may not understand is the fact that Mr. McKenna wants to keep them under restraint and does not care where. He'd much rather have them cooped up in a house where they will feed themselves than in a jail where they won't take food. If they barricade themselves, he has them. All he has to do is to give them an opportunity occasionally to throw a brick at a policeman and they'll be both happy and harmless.

THE VOTING MACHINE REPORT.

The grand jury report that, in spite of extended examination of numerous witnesses in the matter of the voting machine contract, they "have found no trace of money or favors conferred, or of pledges to confer hereafter money or favors, in return for the selection or purchase of a machine for which the contract was given."

The report also declares that the state's attorney "freely offered the full coöperation of his staff in connection with the investigation" and "stated that it was his earnest desire that the investigation should be of the most rigid character"; also that "every witness whose presence was desired and was within the jurisdiction was summoned and produced by the state's attorney."

The satisfaction derivable by the parties concerned from this report depends upon their standards. The language of the report is obviously carefully considered, and amounts, it seems, to a Scotch verdict of not proven. The warnings voiced by the press respecting the voting machine contract were based on grounds explicitly excluded from the jury's consideration—namely: that the contract was outrageous in time and terms, and therefore was subject of strong rational suspicion and alarm.

That suspicion and alarm must continue while remain remembrance and consideration of the unwisdom, bad policy, and other dubious circumstances. The verdict of the grand jury does not remove them.

And this effect is sharpened by the patent omission by the jury of any words respecting the work of the state's attorney indicating aggressive rather than passive compliance with their needs and wishes.

ALIEN BURDENS.

Despite protests from the Immigrants' Protective league and similar organizations interested in the welfare of the newcomer, the railroad and steamship companies of the country continue to burden the alien unnecessarily. Immigrants traveling from the port of entry in the east to their destination in the west are not always sent by the most direct road. Instead they are given a circuitous route. An immigrant whose destination is Chicago, for example, is sent first to Norfolk, Va., by boat, and from there to Chicago.

This is done in order to give each of the railroads a share of the immigrant traffic. An arbitrary agreement dividing up this alien traffic exists between the railroad and steamship companies. The government acquiesces in this arbitrary agreement.

President A. A. McCormick of the Immigrants' Protective league, in the fourth annual report of that body, points out the hardships that accrue to the alien from this arrangement of the railroads. A man who might have reached Chicago in thirty-six hours is kept traveling several days because of the indirect route which the transportation companies have chosen for him. The hardship is still greater when the man has to go further west.

No American citizen would tolerate such impositions. The immigrant pays for his passage the same as the American. He is entitled, therefore, to the same treatment that the railroads accord nonalien passengers. To take advantage of the immigrant's ignorance of our language and customs and keep him under way an extra few days for the profits which such an arrangement will bring to the railroads is neither humane nor even honest.

The government should take a hand in the matter and see to it that the alien gets a "square deal" from the railroad and steamship companies.

A HARMFUL MEASURE.

The so-called full crew bill, requiring a certain number of men on every freight train, is an example of how not to regulate the public service corporations.

It is also an example of how not to legislate in the eventual interest of labor.

That public service corporations should be regulated in the interest of the public welfare and for its protection, including the interest and protection of their employés, is now established. Regulation is accepted as a principle.

But if this principle is not to be discredited it must be applied with justice and good sense.

It is not so applying it to fix by statute details of administration which should be fixed by an administrative official or body. To say that every train shall have a certain crew is to fossilize in the statute a rule which before legislation could be had to correct it might become excessive, or insufficient, unnecessarily burdensome, or inadequate. The difficulty of getting laws amended or repealed needs no discussion, and in a case like this if a reduction were advisable probably organized labor would obstruct action, and if an increase were required the railroads would obstruct. Meanwhile the rigid regulation would remain imbedded in the law.

If regulation is to be really efficient it must be left to administrative officials, who can be held to account, but who also can become expert through the study of actual conditions and can develop a system of regulations elastic to meet changes of conditions.

On the face of it the full crew bill seems merely a measure to protect the public and the trainmen. This protection should be and would be given administratively, not legislatively. It is striking at the efficiency of regulation, and therefore at its existence, to ignore this distinction. No bank, no factory, no store, no farm could be run by fixed statutory regulations, and neither can a railroad.

This is not an objection based on consideration of the self-defense of railroads and those who have invested in them, although that interest deserves consideration as much as the interest of the railroad employé, the railroad patron, or the public. It is based on the consideration of efficient regulation, for if we cannot make regulation efficient we will have to give it up for something else.

In this efficiency organized labor is directly interested. It may seem desirable to secure more employment for the time being. But if this should be accomplished without reference to the needs of the service, with the results of unnecessary charges upon that service, it is against the interest not only of the railroad shareholder but of the shipper who pays the freight and of the public, including the laboring man, to whom the shipper passes on the charge.

Organized labor cannot afford to place itself in the light of favoring a rigid and ineffective system of regulation, or, on the other hand, of asking that the public pay for work which is not economically required. It should place itself firmly on the side of efficient regulation in the public interest.

LIGHT AND SAFETY.

Arresting the vagrant population in the Desplaines street district may reduce "jackrolling," robbery, and murder in the neighborhood for a time. It will not affect it permanently. The district will continue to be the toughest spot in Chicago, the camping place of "bad men," so long as it affords the thief, the robber, and the murderer opportunities to make an "easy getaway."

Permanently to reform that section and make it safe—as safe as any other part of the city—it must be adequately lighted. With the exception of the main thoroughfares, the streets in the district are lighted extremely poor. In the side streets the lights are so inadequate that it is hard to distinguish a person a dozen paces away.

Another thing needed is better police distribution. While one may meet three or four policemen in one block on the busier streets, one is likely to pass half a dozen blocks on a side street before running across a uniformed officer.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS EXERCISES.

INFANTILE paralysis frequently occurs epidemically, leaving behind many victims. The sufferers are usually crippled. There may be deformities; there may be only muscular degeneration. Treatment has for its object the prevention of curable deformities and the restoration of muscular strength. The intervention of surgical procedure may be necessary to correct the deformities. The restoration of muscular function and strength is accomplished by use of medicines and exercises.

For want of a better remedy, carefully directed systems of exercises, looking to a reëstablishment of muscular function and better body nutrition, many times prove practical.

The muscles, having remained in disuse for a long time, have degenerated more or less. Exercises looking to their contraction and relaxation are probably the best way to rehabilitate them.

To accomplish this Dr. Wright has worked out a system of muscular exercises and training from which the following is taken:

"For the lower extremities:

"(a) With assistance from the physician.

"(b) By unaided contraction of the muscles.

"2. The patient lies on his back and brings his knee up to the chest—

"(a) Without other resistance than the weight of the leg.

These exercises benefit a certain set of muscles; still other muscles are benefited by different sets of exercises. For the various groups of muscles Dr. Wright has worked out a plan of movement and exercise. For the lower leg she recommends the following:

In putting these exercises into practice care should be exercised to prevent twisting of the legs and that the patient does not perform them as the result of a swinging motion, but as the result of muscular contraction and effort.

Such a plan of exercises as the foregoing can be worked out and put into operation for the various groups of muscles to great advantage when carefully and persistently practiced.

GALL BLADDER OPERATION.

L. H. B. writes: "The writer is likely to have to undergo a gall bladder operation, and his attention has been called to a paragraph, said to have been published in your column about six weeks ago, in which the statement was made that the percentage of fatalities attendant upon this operation is high. Will you kindly reprint the item referred to, with any comment or explanation you may deem proper?"

REPLY.

On that occasion the inquiry was: "Is draining of the gall bladder a dangerous operation? Is it ever fatal? If so, in what percentage of cases?"

The answer given was: "1 and 2. Yes. 3. Depends on who operates and the circumstances of the case. For instance, Murphy's 'Clinics' quotes Kehr as saying that, where the operation is done for stone in the common duct, the mortality is over 90 per cent. When the patient has chills, fever, and jaundice immediately before the operation the mortality is nearly 100 per cent. Where there were chills and fever without jaundice and the stone was in the liver duct, the mortality was low. When there was fever and infection of the gall bladder only, the mortality was low, maybe less than 2 or 3 per cent. The present day outlook is materially better than when Kehr wrote."

HOW TO PURIFY WATER.

C. W. writes: "Now that outing weather is rapidly approaching, will you kindly advise me whether there is not some plain, easy, and simple way by which a tramper or picnicker can tell whether water, running or still, is clean to drink, with no typhoid or other harmful germs? Is there not some simple way by which, when tramping through the country, I can test water before drinking it? Typhoid or other germs might contaminate it a hundred miles above. How can I test for typhoid, etc., when out on a country tramp?"

REPLY.

There is no way of testing that is simple enough for the use outlined in your letter. But there is a simple way of quickly purifying drinking water. A man can carry with him a two ounce bottle of a solution of lime, a few drops of which will make any water safe. Proceed as follows:

"Take a level teaspoonful of chloride of lime and rub it up until there are no lumps in a teacup of water. Dilute this with three cupfuls of water and keep this stock solution in a stoppered bottle for use. A teaspoonful of this stock solution added to a two gallon pail of water and well stirred up will destroy all typhoid or other dysentery producing bacilli in ten minutes and will make the water safe to drink. If this quantity makes the water taste, use a little less; otherwise not. (Get the chloride of lime in metallic cases.)"

HOW TO BAR FLIES.

J. A. S. writes: "What is the best way to dispose of horse manure so that it will not breed flies? Will sprinkling with crude oil do any good?"

REPLY.

1. Keep the manure box screened so that flies cannot enter. A female ready to lay will find a hole in an ordinary cover. Empty the box once a week in warm weather. In early spring and late fall once every two weeks is often enough.

2. The danger from fire is too great when oil is used. Forbes recommends that manure be sprinkled with a solution of iron sulphate. He advises two pounds dissolved in one gallon of water for each horse each day.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1913: By the Brentwood Company.]

IT is to the American Montenegrins that the present crisis in the southeast of Europe in connection with Montenegro and Albania is almost wholly due. When the war started last fall between Turkey and the Balkan allies thousands of Montenegrins established in the United States sailed for home, either in response to summons from Cettinje, as reservists, or else of their own free will to fight for their native land and bent on the capture of Scutari (which should be pronounced as Skootery) and on transforming it into their national capital.

While devoted to their fatherland their loyalty to the reigning house of Montenegro was considerably cooled by their residence in America, where they had become steeped in republican doctrines and convinced of the superiority of the form of government in the United States to any monarchy.

The long siege of Scutari, lasting so many months, served to convince them of the incapacity of King Nicholas and of his sons as military leaders, and at the same time afforded them plenty of leisure to conduct a republican propaganda among the other troops associated with them in the siege of the beleaguered city.

Every hardship, every defeat, was laid at the door of the king and of the princes, and if Scutari has just passed into the possession of the Montengrin troops in the absence of King Nicholas it has not been through any hard fought brilliant victory, but by means of a rather sordid transaction between Essad Pasha and the Montenegrin generals.

King Nicholas is perfectly aware of the discontent of his army and of the extent to which his troops have become disillusioned as to his hitherto much vaunted qualities as a military leader.

He realizes that if he yields to the powers and is forced to abandon Scutari, either to Austria or to the projected new kingdom of Albania, he will assuredly be deposed, his dynasty overthrown and a republic proclaimed at Cettinje.

That is why he has been resisting the demands of the great powers in general, and of Austria in particular, with all the energy of desperation.

He foresees that he will have to give way. But he declares that if he is obliged to yield he will abdicate not in favor of his sons but in favor of King Peter of Servia, who is his son-in-law, thereby adding his own dominions of the Black mountain to the kingdom of Servia.

It is known that there have been negotiations between himself and Peter to this effect, and that he has stipulated that if he surrenders his crown and scepter to King Peter the latter shall eliminate the present crown prince of Servia, his second son, from the line of succession and shall proclaim as next heir to the throne of a united Servia and Montenegro Danilo, the crown prince of Montenegro.

This would be particularly distasteful to Austria, which is much disturbed by the large territorial acquisitions which Servia has already obtained as the fruits of the victorious war against the Turks, and which would certainly resent a still further aggrandizement of the Servian kingdom through the incorporation of the Black mountain.

Austria is strongly opposed to this union of Montenegro and Servia, which, if put into execution, would still further embroil the situation and accentuate the present crisis.

The Montenegrins have always longed for Scutari, and the late Sir Austin Henry Layard has related that, while staying at Cettinje in 1840, the then ruler of Montenegro, Prince Danilo, uncle and predecessor of the present king and a giant considerably over seven feet in height, on being invited by the Turkish Pasha of Scutari to pay a friendly visit to that city, replied that he would only enter its gates at the head of 10,000 warriors. Layard added that one afternoon while he and the prince were playing billiards loud shouting and gun firing were heard. It was the return of a party of Montenegrins from the Scutari district with a number of Turkish heads to add to the gnastly collection on the round tower before the palace.

This Prince Danilo was murdered at Trieste in 1860. His nephew, King Nicholas, no longer requires the heads of Turks. He is content with their sliced off noses and ears, and baskets of these grewsome trophies have been sent to him at Cettinje from the front. The receipt of whole baskets of Turkish noses and ears by King Nicholas at Cettinje has been vouched for by European war correspondents in Montenegro of every nationality.

That the French should today display so much sympathy for the Montenegrins as to cause their government to hesitate about joining the other great powers in coercing King Nicholas is somewhat astonishing, when one recalls that 110 years ago France, which was subject at the time to the rule of Emperor Napoleon, threatened to lay waste the country with fire and sword till its name became Monte Rosso, the Red mountain, instead of Monte Negro, the Black mountain.

Napoleon's ire had been aroused by the curt and even insolent rejection of his offer to construct a roadway across the principality at his own expense.

The Duchess of Madrid, who has just received from King Victor Emmanuel a life saving medal for the rescue of an old man from drowning in the neighborhood of the island of Sant' Elena at Venice, while cruising about on her motorboat, is the widow of the late Don Carlos, who was legitimist pretender to the throne of Spain, and the leader of two sanguinary Carlist insurrections in Spain forty years ago.

The Duchess of Madrid, although described in the pages of the Almanach de Gotha as a royal highness, does not rank as such. She is a sister of the present head of the princely house of Rohan, who is also Duc de Bouillon and De Montbazon, who, established in Austria, and like his father before him, an Austrian citizen, figures in part three of the Almanach de Gotha, and not among the mediatized or formerly sovereign houses of Europe.

Consequently Don Carlos was unable to wed Princess Bertha Rohan on a footing of equality, and had he ever succeeded in securing possession of the throne of Spain she would not have been his queen, but his morganatic consort, forced to content herself with her title of duchess.

Indeed, those Spaniards who had remained loyal to the legitimist cause and who were wont to accord to him the homage due to their king, declined to concede any such token of respect to the duchess.

At the time of her marriage she was but little older than his numerous children by his first wife, the late Princess Marguerite of Bourbon Parma. But she did not get on well with them, managed to estrange them from their father, who withheld from them in order to lavish upon her the large fortune left to him by his first wife in trust for them.

It was the result of this condition of affairs that led Don Carlos' second daughter, Princess Elvira, to elope with the Roman painter, Folchi, a married man, whom she has not yet been able to wed.

It caused his third daughter, Beatrice, to contract so unhappy a marriage with Don Fabrizio, Prince of Massimo, of Rome, that on two occasions she endeavored to drown herself in the Tiber, and induced his third daughter, Princess Alice, to embark upon a loveless union with Prince Frederick of Schonburg-Waldenburg, which, after her elopement with Capt. Lino del Prete, was dissolved by the courts and by the church, thus enabling her to marry the captain, with whom she has visited this country.

CONDUCTOR DIDN'T STOP CAR.

Chicago, April 26.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Boarding a south bound "through route No. 17" Kedzie avenue car at Greenwood terrace at 9 p. m. April 15, I stepped to the rear exit door at Nineteenth street and said to conductor No. 1450, "Please stop at Twenty-first street." I remained at the door ready to alight, but that point being reached without his having given the signal to stop, I said again; "I told you to let me off at Twenty-first street!" He deliberately took out his book and pencil, started to write, and, without looking up, said, impudently: "You said Twenty-first street." When the car came to a stop he looked up with a grin and called, "Twenty-second street!" Very much provoked, I said, "I told you Twenty-first street!" He answered, "You'll get off when the car stops," immediately pulling the bell cord and carrying me to Twenty-third street, where I appealed to the motorman to stop and alighted from the front platform. This man may be the exception in impudence, but he is by no means an exception in regard to ignoring the stop at Twenty-first street, for, early and late, rain or shine, most crews slight this intersection in their hurry to lay over at Twenty-second street.

Will you please use your best efforts to get this habit among so many of the crews discontinued, and, above all, try to obtain for conductor No. 1450 that discipline which surely is his due?

ONE VICTIM.

We do not tolerate such conduct on the part of our employés and this matter has been referred to the operating department for investigation and action.

CHICAGO RAILWAYS COMPANY.

That being the case we hope, if the complainant's charges are found to be true, that the conductor has been severely disciplined.

MUST HAVE GARBAGE CANS.

Chicago, April 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Between Seventy-fifth and Seventy-seventh streets and Oglesby and Palmer avenues there are at least twenty homes and more being erected. We have been without garbage service and dread the summer if we are not served this season. Flies breed when garbage is scattered on vacant property, and inasmuch as the families on Yates avenue, one block east of Oglesby, are favored, why not others? Will you kindly help the cause?

A SUBSCRIBER.

The complainant's cottage is located on the east side of the street and one of four new buildings, five families residing there. The alley at that point is impassable and the occupants of the houses have been notified to provide proper garbage receptacles and place same at the curb on Wednesdays and Saturdays, when they will receive the attention of the regular collector.

MUST SEARCH THE RECORD.

Chicago, April 28.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am 28 years of age and came to America when I was 5 years old. I think my father was a naturalized citizen, but he has been dead since 1893. He had been here on a previous date, as far back as 1871, went back to Germany, and returned in 1890. How can I find out whether he was a citizen and what is the law regarding my citizenship prospects?

J. A. R.

In order to ascertain whether or not the person referred to in the communication was ever naturalized a citizen of the United States it will be necessary to search the records of the courts in which he may have been admitted to citizenship.

Section 2172 of the revised statutes of the United States provides that the minor children of all persons duly naturalized, if residing in the United States prior to reaching the age of their majority, shall be deemed citizens of the United States.

If the father of the writer of the above mentioned communication is presumed to have been naturalized in Chicago, inquiry should be made of the clerks of the following named courts as to whether or not a record of his admission to citizenship can be found:

Circuit court of Cook county, fourth floor county building; Superior court of Cook county, fourth floor county building; County court of Cook county, county building; Criminal court of Cook county, Criminal Court building; United States District court, federal building, Chicago.

A SIDEWALK ASSESSMENT.

Chicago, April 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—On March 19 the city filed a petition in the court of Cook county in regard to special assessment for constructing a cement sidewalk on Thirtieth street, west of Forty-fourth avenue. The total sum is $352.37. I own the third lot from the corner and my assessment calls for $10.05. Will you kindly let me know if that assessment of $352.37 pays for the full length of the sidewalk, from Forty-fourth avenue to the alley, including the corner to crossing, or if it is for the corner alone?

FRANCES MIS,
3006 South Forty-fourth avenue.

The assessment of $352.37 under docket No. 36868 is the estimated cost of laying a sidewalk on both sides of Thirtieth street from Forty-fourth avenue to the alley west, together with intersections at the northwest and southwest corners of Thirtieth street, with Forty-fourth avenue.

The assessment of $10.05 on the lot in question is for the proportionate share of the lots in siding on lot 1 and the proportionate share of the cost of the intersection at the southwest corner of Thirtieth street and Forty-fourth avenue.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A WOMAN'S PROTEST.

Chicago, April 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There will always be shortsighted people who take a superficial view of affairs, but just how THE TRIBUNE was betrayed into printing the editorial, "Working Women, Idle Men," is not clear.

Considering the large number of women who have no men folk on whom they can depend for support, and the woman's defenseless condition, it would seem that there should be at least an equal opportunity for women to earn a living.

Just so long as men are the wage earners and so the financial masters, just so long will the white slave traffic be with us. What other field is open to a woman without property if she may not enter the legitimate fields of employment?

To say that she should marry is no solution. Many women are not married and under existing social conditions are not likely to be. Indeed, when we consider physicians' estimates that 75 to 85 per cent of men have syphilis, and remember the number of men who are uncongenial and otherwise undesirable husbands, it is not clear just how most women can marry and retain their health and self-respect.

All statements to the contrary, I believe most women would prefer happy married life to a business or professional career, but that woman who prefers an unhappy, unworthy marriage to honorable independence, is surely not a high type of womanhood.

Moreover, statistics tell us that in Massachusetts alone there are 10,000 more women than men. What are we going to do with that 10,000? If society ever discovers that women as prospective mothers of the race should be made economically independent it will then be time to talk about giving all wage producing positions to men. But even then, there is no more reason to expect women to be satisfied to keep out of the world's work than there is to suppose that men will be content to father children and then turn them adrift without concerning themselves as to what provision the world may make for their future welfare.

In my own case, no man can ever understand the deep regret with which I admit that it is extremely improbable that I shall ever be a wife and mother. If women were as free as men are to go hunting a life partner and establishing a home for themselves that would have been my first concern in life, but we are not so free and the possibility of a happy marriage has never come my way.

I have made as good a home as I could under the circumstances. My mother, whose husband is dead; my young sister, who is an orphan; a girl friend, who has not yet found her mate, and I, who have unmarried passed my first girlhood, live together. Will the man who is responsible for that editorial explain just what would become of us four if the business world in distributing employment discriminated in favor of men?

It is a "grave national problem," but the solution does not lie in curtailing women's opportunities for self-support.

S. M.

[The editorial in question did not advocate the curtailing of women's opportunities for self-support. What it did was to state and deplore the fact that in many occupations the average period of man's activity has been shortened to but fifteen years and that the man so discarded by industry is often compelled to see his wife and daughter go to work and be supported by them. It accounted for the ever increasing number of married women who work to support their family by citing the large percentage of men that are constantly being disabled by industry. The points made by S. M. are sound and of great importance, but there is nothing in them that is at variance with the editorial in question.—Editor.]

TO DRINK OR NOT TO DRINK.

Chicago, May 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Much has been said and written as to the intolerance and fanaticism of those who believe it a duty to abstain from all intoxicating drinks as a beverage. The outcry made against President Wilson and Secretary Bryan because they decline to serve alcoholic liquors to their guests illustrates the intolerance of drinking people. Why should an old world custom "more honored in the breach than in the observance" dominate our officials? There is no evidence that our foreign diplomats ask to dictate to their hosts what they want for dinner.

It is no longer necessary to apologize for being an abstainer. In the light of modern science and investigation as to the evil nature and power of alcoholic liquors the apology should come from the drinker not the abstainer. Mr. Bryan frankly told the diplomats that he and his wife had been teetotalers from their youth and their parents before them, and had never served liquor at their table. THE TRIBUNE has well said, "to serve wines at his table would be to make absurd his fervently and frequently announced opinions on the subject."

JAPS TO BOYCOTT CALIFORNIA PORTS

Threat Made by Nippon Merchants in Case Anti-Alien Land Bill Passes.

TO IGNORE PANAMA FAIR.

Measure Now Said to Contain No Provisions in Violation of the Treaty.

TOKIO, May 1.—The information from America reporting the failure of Secretary Bryan's mission and the probable passage of the alien land ownership bill by the California senate has caused disappointment here and aroused popular sentiment again.

Should the bill be passed and signed the most influential commercial firms assert that, irrespective of the government's attitude, they will decline to exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition and will decline to trade with California ports, directing everything to Seattle and Tacoma without regard to cost.

For Commercial Retaliation.

At a meeting of the American-Japanese society last night the speakers heatedly discussed the situation and pointed out the impotence of the federal authorities as evidence of race prejudice on the part of the Californians in their determination at any cost to ruin or drive out the Japanese residents. Commercial retaliation against California was advocated.

Resolutions affirmed that while Japan hitherto had appreciated and respected the traditional friendship and believed Americans generally desired to afford the Japanese the same protection and privileges as other foreigners, the state of California was determined to violate the American-Japanese treaty, thus estranging and seriously affecting diplomatic and commercial relations, and unless the people of California modified their attitude it might be difficult to restrain the growing irritation of the Japanese.

The leading newspapers in Tokio express the belief that the last hope is gone and that the only recourse is the submission of the question to The Hague tribunal.

BILL DELAYED ONE DAY.

Sacramento, Cal., May 1.—[Special.]—Today for the first time there was concrete evidence on the floor of the senate of the effect of Secretary Bryan's visit to California. As the lineup was formed for debate on the passage of the alien bill tomorrow it became evident that the visit of the peacemaker has had two results:

The Democratic minority, which inaugurated the anti-Japanese agitation, has been converted to the president's point of view and has begun a fight for two years' delay. A delay of one day was obtained.

Progressive leaders and Gov. Johnson, lukewarm to anti-alien legislation several weeks ago, came out flatfooted for the passage of the bill, regardless of the protests of the Democratic national administration.

Fears Effect of Webb Bill.

Just before the bill was reported in the senate this morning Gov. Johnson received the following telegram from President Wilson:

"I take the liberty of calling your attention to the Webb bill, which would involve an appeal to the courts on question of treaty rights and bring on what might be long and delicate litigation."

Gov. Johnson immediately replied:

"I thank you very much for your suggestion. The fault may be due to the fact that we have endeavored to preserve affirmatively upon the face of our bill the existing treaty. I have referred the matter at once to our attorney general and I would be extremely grateful for any suggestions that would avoid the objection you mention."

Seeks to Postpone Action.

Senator John B. Curtin, owner of more than 10,000 acres of rich California land and Democratic leader in the senate for sixteen years, met the issue thus raised by offering a set of resolutions as soon as the Webb bill was reported. The preamble mentioned the pending bills, defining the rights with respect to the ownership of property within the state of California, and President Wilson's suggestion that the passage of these bills would be likely to produce serious international complications, and in conclusion said:

"Resolved, That the people of the state of California do hereby defer to the wishes of the president of the United States, and this legislature will not at this session pass the bills herein mentioned."

The concluding resolution asked that the president of the United States be requested to endeavor to secure "such treaty or other agreement from any nation protesting against the passage of the bills under consideration as will effectually accomplish the end and purpose herein mentioned."

Delay of One Day Granted.

A hot debate ensued in which Curtin was supported by the three other principal Democrats of the senate, Caminetti, Sanford, and Shanahan, and by Senator Leroy Wright of San Diego, the lone Taft Republican of the body. His plea was simply for a delay of one day, so that his resolution could be printed and considered simultaneously with the bill.

It seemed that the majority would compel immediate action, but Senator Thompson consented to postponement on condition that opponents of the bill agree not to ask for reconsideration, a right of theirs, by which they might force a day's delay in any case.

The date of probable passage by the house, Tuesday, therefore remains unchanged.

Bryan at Japanese Colony.

Secretary Bryan's visit to the Japanese agricultural colony at Florin was a perfunctory affair if considered as an investigation. He was accompanied by Gov. Johnson, by Assemblyman Hugh B. Bradford of that district, author of the anti-alien bill which passed the house; and by John Reese, deputy sheriff of Florin, who in a speech to the legislative committee said if the desired legislation were not taken, the men of the community would resort to violence to rid themselves of their Japanese neighbors.

Bill Conforms to Treaty.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—[Special.]—Receipt of full details of the new alien land bill now pending in the California legislature has convinced officials here that the proposed legislation is now fairly within the treaty obligations of the United States to Japan.

If the bill is passed in its present form Japan, as Washington now views the situation, will not attempt to attack the law on the ground that it controvenes treaty rights.

About the only course open to Japan will be a protest to this government on the ground that the alien land law constitutes a discrimination against a friendly power, or the bringing of an action in the courts of the United States to test the federal naturalization law.

Smarting under the discrimination of the California law, Japan, it is believed, will seek to have the issue decided squarely as to whether the United States, through its statutes, intends to debar Japanese from becoming American citizens.

Alien Fishing Bill Vetoed.

Juneau, Alaska, May 1.—Gov. Walter F. Clark vetoed the anti-alien fishing bill, aimed at Japanese fishermen, just before the Alaska legislature adjourned sine die today. The bill passed both houses unanimously, but when the governor's message was received there was no attempt to pass it over his veto.

CALLS U. S. WRONG IN CANAL STAND

FEAR OF JAPAN ABSENT.

Andrew Carnegie Answers Questioner by Having Hearers Vote Down Alleged Terror.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—That the United States is under moral obligation to admit the ships of other nations to the Panama canal on the same terms on which it admits American vessels, was urged in an address before the fourth American peace congress here tonight by former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks.

The congress began a three days' session this morning.

"I do not believe," he said, "that we should put Great Britain to the trouble of resorting to an arbitral tribunal to determine a question that has no basis either in fact or in good conscience.

"The question is one which from every consideration of national good faith and national honor should be settled by ourselves; and if we rightly understand it, there can be no doubt that it will be settled in entire harmony with our manifest national duty."

Tells of Bard's Defeat.

"Senator Bard of California offered an amendment reserving such right of preferential treatment. All the considerations recently proposed in justification of a discriminating policy were urged by him. His amendment was voted down by a decisive majority.

"All of this is to show that the existing treaty was written, ratified, and exchanged with the full knowledge on the part of our government as to its true meaning."

Charles E. Beals of Chicago, director of the central west department of the American Peace society, said that were it not for the army and navy men who covet promotion and the war supplies corporations the nation soon would cease to hear of wars.

"War scares," he said, "trotted out when a military and navy appropriation bill is to be jammed through, are bogies, paraded forth to terrify the immature."

Carnegie Affected by Heat.

Mr. Carnegie was to have presided at an afternoon meeting, at which disarmament was to be discussed, but he was so exhausted from his morning speech and the heat that he was unable to attend.

When he went to the home of Robert S. Brookings, his host, for luncheon he was so fatigued that it was necessary for him to lie down.

In the course of his talk Mr. Carnegie pointed out that our military and naval expenditures combined exceed $300,000,000 a year—just about $1,000,000 per working day—a ruinous insurance price, he said, to pay for supposed security from invasion, from which we have been free for a hundred years.

Carnegie Replies to Questioner.

"How about Japan"

"Well," replied Mr. Carnegie, "Japan has nineteen battleships and we have thirty-three and more coming."

The questioner admitted this, but said, "Right now we are in mortal terror."

Then Mr. Carnegie appealed to the audience.

"Let every one who is not afraid of Japan stand up," said Mr. Carnegie.

Practically the entire audience, which filled the large music hall, where the sessions are being held, stood up.

Mr. Carnegie then turned to his questioner, saying:

"Nobody is in mortal terror but you."

Touches on Balkan Affairs.

Congressman Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis, president of the American peace congress, in his annual address, referred to the war in the Balkans.

"Ten or fifteen years ago," he said, "the lighting of a match in the Balkans would have caused an European conflagration. But today the great powers, averse to disturbance, are enforcing peace conditions by using the rod against the unruly children who are driving the Turk out of Europe.

"What conclusions can we draw from this spectacle than that the desire for peace has become stronger than armies or navies or the temptation to use them?"

"TRIAL DIVORCE" MADE PLEA

ALLEGES HE WAS FOOLED.

Tells of Shock When He Learned of Marriage in East.

The brief wedded life of Col. Benjamin H. Cheever, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Cora Cheever, now living at 1812 Sherman avenue, Evanston, is threatened by a bill filed yesterday in Leavenworth Kas., by E. A. Kelley, cashier of the Army National bank, and former husband of Mrs. Cheever.

Kelley declares the divorce granted a year ago was a "trial divorce," to which he was induced to offer no opposition. He says he was shocked when his former wife went to New York a few weeks ago and was married to Col. Cheever, whose first wife obtained a divorce from him recently.

Ex-Husband Wants Money Back.

The particular grievance Kelley points out is that he would like to get his money back. The decree allowed the wife $10,000 alimony, to be paid in monthly installments of $50 until he was able to pay all. He paid for a year and quit. She sued for an order to make him continue and he answered with his present bill, asking a return of $4,000, most of which was in the nature of moneys advanced in other ways.

"Every statement Kelley has made is false in every particular," said the veteran cavalryman last night. "Moreover, he knew it when he filed the bill. He has been dogging my wife ever since he married her twenty years ago, and she had to leave him once before the final separation.

"I believe he includes in his demand money he says was advanced to her during their marriage. It is absurd, for when she was his wife she never had any spending money, but only a checking account for covering household expenses.

Denies Marriage Was Secret.

"I don't want his money. I wouldn't touch it with a ten foot pole. But it was awarded my wife and she ought to have it. He charges that we were married secretly. That is as false as the rest of it. We were married in New York and there was no secrecy of any sort."

Col. Cheever and Kelley were intimate while the colonel was stationed at Fort Leavenworth. The army man spoke reminiscently of their playing cards together in those days, but indicated he did not expect to play cards with him again.

DEWEY FLEET SURVIVORS DINE.

Fifteenth Anniversary of the Battle of Manila Bay Commemorated at National Capital.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—Twenty-one of the surviving officers who fought under Admiral George Dewey in the battle of Manila bay celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of the famous naval engagement here tonight at the annual reunion and banquet of the Society of Manila Bay. The officers, including Rear Admiral Asa Walker, who commanded the cruiser Concord, the only survivor of Dewey's fleet captains, gathered around the banquet table to do honor to Admiral Dewey, president of the society. Personal reminiscences of the battle were given by the diners.

Mexico City, May 2.—Zapata forces dynamited a train on the interoceanic railway near La Cascade today, killing many and wrecking and burning the train. How many are dead is not known. After the explosion the rebels fell upon the passengers, slaughtering even those who were unarmed.

Warn Americans to Flee.

San Antonio, Tex., May 1.—A warning to Americans and other foreigners to leave the City of Mexico while there still is rail connection with the coast was issued here today by a representative of the Carranza government. The note asserts southern constitutionalists are preparing to advance on the Mexican capital.

A statement by Felix Diaz last night, in which he said that two emissaries he sent from Mexico City to Gov. Carranza were not to offer an alliance, but to counsel Carranza to make peace, drew a reply that Diaz had put himself entirely at the disposal of Carranza, but that the offer had been spurned.

WILSON POSITIVE ON TARIFF STAND

Turns Down Pleas of Senators Opposed to Free Sugar and Free Wool.

BILL'S PASSAGE ASSURED.

House Republicans Admit They Have Fought Losing Fight Against the Measure.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—[Special.]—Half a dozen United States senators today felt the steel beneath the velvet of President Wilson's purpose to have congress enact the tariff bill practically as adopted by the house of representatives.

When the senators went to the White House they expected little and they got little. It is being borne in upon the men in the legislative branch of the government that the president is more "obstinate" than they had anticipated. Instead of being sweetly reasonable, he is sweetly unreasonable.

He has mapped out a course which he believes will inure to the benefit of the country and the Democratic party, and he proposes to insist upon its adoption.

The senators who called upon the president were six in number instead of fourteen. They claimed to represent others, but as a matter of fact they represented only themselves.

Impossible to Beat Bill.

Even if the six who called upon him should vote against the tariff bill when it comes up in the senate for passage, they will not be able to beat it. The senate will be equally divided under such circumstances, and the vice president will cast the deciding vote in favor of the measure.

The six senators who bearded the lion in his den were Newlands of Nevada, Shafroth of Colorado, Chamberlain and Lane of Oregon, Thompson of Kansas, and Walsh of Montana. There was not a reactionary in the bunch.

The Louisiana men were conspicuous by their absence, and as a matter of fact they are the only senators who in the final analysis will vote against the bill. But they deemed it inexpedient to appear in person, fearing what the president might say to them, and they depended upon their progressive Democratic colleagues to present such strong views in opposition to the transfer of sugar to the free list within three years that the president would be convinced.

Reasons for Opposition.

This likewise was true of some of the Democratic senators from sheep raising states. Newlands, for example, is opposed to free wool. Walsh dislikes the idea of free wool and free sugar because the beet sugar industry in his state has assumed large proportions. The other senators were opposed to free wool and free sugar because of the damage they anticipated to their farmer constituents.

These men made the usual arguments and the president listened to them as if he had for the first time learned that there was a difference of opinion on this important subject. He was told that free wool and free sugar would mean the loss of Democratic seats in the United States senate. He did not appear to be horrified at this suggestion. He believes that the Democrats, in order to carry out their campaign pledges, must place these products on the free list.

Wilson Frank with Visitors.

So believing, the president told the senators that he would carefully consider what they had to say. But the whole tone of his remarks was such as to lend them no hope that he will act favorably.

He told them frankly that he intended to have free wool and free sugar and that he trusted they would be able, after further study, to support the bill as it will pass the house.

He doesn't lay much stress on the argument of the western senators that the refiners only will profit from free sugar. Nor has he much sympathy with the claim that beet sugar stock has dropped from 45 to 65 per cent since last September.

He does not propose to lend himself to the proposition of using the tariff to swell the profits of an industry which in his view is strong enough to stand on its own feet.

Georgian Defends Free Sugar.

While the president was listening to the western senators and explaining his attitude on the wool and sugar schedules, Representative Hardwick of Georgia, who was chairman of the special committee which investigated the sugar trust, was defending free sugar in the house of representatives.

Mr. Hardwick wrote the sugar schedule in the light of the information he obtained during the investigation of the sugar trust. He denied that the reduction of the tariff on sugar would destroy the beet sugar industry in this country, but claimed it would compel that industry to maintain itself legitimately and prevent it from paying dividends upon fictitious capitalization secured through the observance of an illegal agreement with the sugar trust both in the matter of price fixing and the division of territory.

Unquestionably the tariff built up the sugar trust and enabled it to obtain control of the sugar business in the United States, including the production of beet sugar.

Only by making competition possible Mr. Hardwick contended, could this control be broken and the reduction of duty on raw and refined sugar in his view would establish a competitive condition certain to reduce the price of sugar to the consumer and just as certain to disestablish the control of prices by the trust.

Mr. Hardwick conceded that probably some overcapitalized beet sugar factories maintained by high tariff rates and by special selling arrangements would be forced out of business, but he denied that the lowering of the tariff would make beet sugar production impossible in the United States.

The industry would still have great natural advantages arising from a home market with favorable transportation facilities. As most of the beet sugar produced in the country is raised in the interior it has an advantage in transportation if freed from the domination of the trust, and can be sold in the same territory where manufactured.

Under trust domination it has been sold only in general markets reached by long railroad hauls, so that the natural advantages of location have been entirely eliminated.

Opposition Fails in Efforts.

All efforts of the opposition to disturb the "market basket" reductions in the tariff bill failed in the house today, despite the fact that Republican orators sounded warnings of ruined industries, enforced idleness and empty cupboards to follow the enactment of the Underwood bill.

Still championing the bill as the greatest that ever has been written for the benefit of the people of the country, the Democrats were deaf to the pleas of representatives of the beet and cane sugar constituencies against free sugar in three years; unmoved by the charge that they legislated into the hands of the beef trust by placing duties on live stock while free listing their products; determined to rush the passage of the bill at the earliest possible moment.

Democrats Oppose Schedule.

The first break from the solid front of the majority came, however, when Louisiana Democrats led by Representative Broussard, appealed to Republican Leader Mann for a share of time in which to speak against the sugar schedule, and when Representative Kinkead, a New Jersey Democrat, uttered a prediction that the senate would strike out the ways and means committee's 10 per cent rates on live stock.

When Representative Sloan of Nebraska introduced an amendment to increase the rate on cattle from 10 to 15 per cent, after a 25 per cent amendment by Fordney of Michigan had been rejected, Mr. Kinkead declared that he believed the ways and means committee had kept the platform pledge to the people when they had reduced live stock rates to 10 per cent, but he felt that the committee should have placed live stock on the free list along with meats.

A test vote on sugar cane on an amendment offered by Minority Leader Mann to strike out the provision placing sugar on the free list in three years. It was lost, 88 to 186.

Touch Japanese Question.

The Japanese question was touched upon during the debate on the wood schedule, several members predicting that reductions on shingles and other wood products would turn the lumber camps of the west into oriental labor camps.

Representative Falconer, Progressive of Washington, alluded to the Democrats as "Hindu-Chinese-Japanese" lovers and told them "your Democratic secretary of state is coming back from California to tell your Democratic president some facts about oriental labor that he does not know."

The agricultural schedule precipitated long discussion, though Mr. Underwood held it down with frequent motions to cut off debate on successive paragraphs. Amendments were offered to increase the rates on cattle, sheep, hogs, on wheat, oats, and other grains and nearly every other item in the bill, but all were rejected.

Argue Far Into Night.

On this schedule the session again went far into the night, though the opposition gave evidence of having largely spent its force.

Tonight there were indications that Republican leaders would not undertake to delay the passage of the bill much longer. Representative Moore of Pennsylvania voiced this view. He said the Republicans would not attempt to filibuster, and that they had been "hammering away at the Underwood bill for four days without making a single dent in it."

FRIEND OF UNDERWOOD WINS.

Edward K. Campbell Nominated as Chief Justice of the Federal Court of Claims.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—Edward K. Campbell, a lawyer of Birmingham, Ala., was nominated today by President Wilson to be chief justice of the United States Court of Claims, to succeed the late Justice Stanton J. Peelle.

Mr. Campbell, who is a native of Washington county, Va., has been a lifelong friend of Representative Underwood, the Democratic house leader, and identified with all of the Underwood political campaigns.

Other nominations today included:

Collector of internal revenue, Third district, Iowa—Louis W. Murphy.

The senate confirmed the nominations of Charles P. Neill as commissioner of labor statistics; J. F. A. Strong of Juneau as governor of Alaska, and H. M. Smith as commissioner of fisheries.

RULE SHUTS OUT GORMAN.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—[Special.]—Democratic members of the 1909 Illinois legislature who voted for William Lorimer for senator will not be appointed to political office by President Wilson.

This is the information which a member of the cabinet has caused to be communicated to several Democrats in the Illinois delegation in congress for the guidance of the Illinois leaders in recommending candidates for appointment by the president.

The matter was brought to the attention of the administration in concrete form by the candidacy of Representative T. N. Gorman of Peoria for internal revenue collector in that district. Gorman is backed by the Sullivan faction of Illinois Democracy.

Others Affected by Rule.

The statement was made that any Democrats who violated the primary instruction for senator, as Gorman had done, could expect no consideration at the hands of the Wilson administration.

If this policy is carried out by the administration it will eliminate a number of Illinois aspirants for good jobs. Among them are Representative John McLaughlin of Chicago, who has been represented as a receptive candidate for collector of internal revenue in that city, and former Representative Fahy of Toluca, a candidate for United States marshal.

The Sullivan men say the attitude of the administration in the case of Gorman was inspired by Senator Lewis and Gov. Dunne in order to rid them of embarrassment in dealing with the candidacy of a man who voted for Lewis.

Banker May Be Controller.

The chance of Illinois obtaining the controllership of the currency is becoming slimmer. The indications are that the downstate candidates, including Irving Shuman, are out of the race. If the place goes to Illinois at all some officer of a big Chicago bank is more likely to be picked.

Among the appointments of Illinois postmasters sent to the senate was that of Katherine M. McClements for the office at Park Ridge, in Representative Buchanan's district. Miss McClements is a sister of the widow of Thomas F. Walsh, the Colorado mining millionaire. She has the indorsement of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The earth near by indicated that Kane had struggled furiously with two men until one of them dashed out his brains with a rock.

RECOUNT VERDICT ON MONDAY

Judge Baldwin Will Then Decide Whether to Complete Canvass.

CUNNEA NEEDS OVER 9,000.

Fourteen Wards Are Still Uncounted in Hoyne Contest.

Judge Jesse Baldwin will decide on Monday whether a canvass of the fourteen wards not yet inspected in the state's attorney recount is warranted by the showing thus far made.

Attorney Peter Sissman, representing William A. Cunnea, Socialist candidate, yesterday urged the court to order the canvass completed.

Judge Baldwin intimated the only question is whether the county should be put to further expense if it is practically certain that a recount of the remaining wards would not change the final result.

Cunnea's Net Gain 5,214.

In the wards and country districts recounted to date Hoyne has lost 3,198 votes, while Cunnea has gained 2,076, a net gain for the Socialist of 5,274.

Hoyne, according to the official returns, led Cunnea by 14,772. Deducting Cunnea's gain of 5,274 in the recount still leaves Hoyne a margin of 9,498. This lead must be overcome in the fourteen wards not yet canvassed. It is figured that Cunnea would have to gain an average of 678 votes to a ward to unseat Hoyne.

Lewis Rinaker, Republican candidate, also is a big gainer over Hoyne, although he, too, suffered a loss from the official figures. Rinaker is 2,115 votes nearer Hoyne as a result of the canvass.

Gross Errors Already Found.

MRS. YOUNG URGES SCHOOL OCULISTS

Would Have Thorough Examination by Experts of Eyes of All Pupils.

SPEAKS AT CONFERENCE.

Suggests Education Board Might Provide Glasses for Poor Children.

A movement was begun yesterday to secure thorough examination of the eyes of school children. At a conference at the City club preparatory to an open meeting at the Art institute, Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, projected a plan somewhat similar to the one used at present by the dentists.

Mrs. Young urged the officers of the Illinois Association for the Conservation of Vision and Prevention of Blindness to get young oculists who would be willing to give part of their time to the examination of school children. All defects would be charted and sent to the parents. No oculist's name would be used so that there could be no advertising.

Where the parents are too poor or too indifferent to see the defects are taken care of the name of the nearest dispensary would be given.

Mrs. Young urged that efforts be made to get the board of education to coöperate so that necessary supplies and even free glasses could be provided where necessary.

"Some children are as greatly handicapped without glasses as they are without books," she said.

Mrs. Young asserted she believed most of the eye defects in the schools came from working in subdued light. Window shades that pull down from the top are responsible, she said.

Dr. Parke Lewis of Buffalo said the thinking capacity of a child is retarded by visual defects. He urged fewer books for children and larger print.

Consumers Co.,

(Successors to the CITY FUEL CO.)

Remember that it is equipped with Goodrich Wireless Motor Truck Tires;

Consumers Co. trucks must have tires that give long mileage and service that can be absolutely depended upon.

To give this kind of service demands tires that are made on the right principle and of the right stuff—tires that have the toughness and strength to stand up under heavy loads over all kinds of streets and alleys—that can be depended upon to carry their loads through to destination, every time, on every truck, year in and year out.

GOODRICH WIRELESS DEMOUNTABLE TRUCK TIRES

are used on the Consumers Company's trucks because they were exactingly tested under actual working conditions and found not only to give the longest mileage at the lowest cost per mile, but to be absolutely dependable. They were also recommended by the makers of the trucks they bought.

Read what Mr. Fred W. Upham, President of the Consumers Co., says about Goodrich Wireless Tires

"Goodrich Tires were selected by the Consumers Company as the natural result of our policy to insure satisfaction to our customers by the use of the most efficient methods. Modern-day economy does not regard first cost so important as the expense of upkeep and the furnishing at all times of dependable service."

thus avoiding the expense of collectors, and two weeks' notice must be given of intention to vacate.

Gasoline stoves are forbidden, as is the throwing of refuse out of the doors or windows. The tenants on the first floors of the houses are charged with the duty of keeping the yards and sidewalks clean; the hallways are the charge of the people who live upstairs.

As a result of the strict enforcement of these rules it has been necessary to dispossess a few of the first tenants, who were unwilling to keep their premises in clean and sanitary condition.

APPRECIATING the force of the criticism that the buildings so far constructed are quite lacking in beauty, Mr. Schmidlapp has announced that more attention in the future will be paid to architectural effect.

His example has not been followed by other real estate builders and owners in either of the suburbs. Most of them look on his work as the whim of a rich man and do not seem to feel that it will be effective, either in cutting down rents or in any way improving the condition of the mass of the working people.

The regular real estate men find it more profitable to build houses of a little larger type which find a ready rental among salaried men working in Cincinnati who wish to bring up their families in the country.

A second difficulty is found in the fact that the cost of all sorts of food and household supplies is considerably higher in Norwood and Oakley than in the heart of the city. Even though Norwood has built a large and convenient market house the necessary household expenses still continue high.

BUT in spite of all these objections and of the further fact that only a few families have been persuaded to move out into the country, Mr. Schmidlapp is not discouraged. He has built another row of detached houses, each containing four flats of three rooms and bath. These are rented at an average of 50 cents per room a week.

The rentals are fixed and the whole scheme managed with the idea of clearing 5 per cent net income on the investment, and, at the same time, allowing 4 per cent annually for depreciation.

But the most interesting plan Mr. Schmidlapp has worked out is that of selling well built and sanitary two family houses on terms not much, if any greater than the usual rentals, the payments stretching over a period of ten years. In this way he gives the purchaser the advantage of becoming himself a landlord after the first deposit is paid.

So far three classes of houses have been built and sold. The terms are as follows:

House with two three-room apartments and baths, $100 cash payment and $4.50 a week.

House with two four-room apartments, $200 cash and $5 weekly.

House with two five-room apartments, $300 cash and $5.50 weekly.

In case of death or of disability, not caused by the fault of the purchaser, the original cash payment is returned. At the end of about ten years Mr. Schmidlapp estimates he will be able to give a deed to the property.

MEANWHILE the problem remains. The Schmidlapp experiment, multiplied many times, can take care of only a small fraction of the people who work in Norwood and Oakley. And, as has been pointed out, the plan of supplying decent living accommodations at a small rental may simply encourage the factory owners to continue their policy of paying even their men employés small wages. At present more than 25 per cent of the total number are paid $10 or less a week, while the wages of more than three-quarters are $15 or less.

Mr. Schmidlapp is also engaged in a pioneer experiment in another direction. In memory of his daughter he has founded a bureau for women and girls which he has endowed with a fund of $500,000. The work is in charge of a woman who was formerly a member of the faculty of the University of Cincinnati and is now a member of the school board.

Under her direction financial assistance is provided to allow young women to finish their education; work is found for applicants and a careful study is made of the industrial experiences and capabilities of each girl.

WOMAN SHOOTS AND KILLS SON OF A FORMER ADMIRER

Empties Revolver at Young Man as He Attempts to Eject Her from Father's Place of Business.

Clarence Murphy, son of a Gary saloonkeeper, was shot and instantly killed early yesterday in his father's place of business by Mrs. Grace Smith, 35 years old, when he attempted to eject her. She was arrested five minutes after her arrival at the home of a sister, Mrs. Lizzie Coleman, 1538 Tork street, Chicago, and confessed. The woman was taken back by Capt. John Mulcahy, and Sergt. Louis Eisner of the Gary force.

The shooting followed a quarrel between Mrs. Smith and Henry Murphy, with whom she had formerly lived.

Clarence Murphy ordered Mrs. Smith out of the saloon, and as he stepped toward her she drew a revolver from the bosom of her dress and fired five shots. A shot through the heart instantly killed him.

Mrs. Smith and Arthur Grayson, with whom she is said to have lived since she left Murphy's home two weeks ago, then drove in an automobile to the home of her sister.

Don't Admit Light-Decayed Beer Into Your House

You must drink beer not only made pure, but kept pure.

Purity exceeds all other costs in our brewery. We even filter the air in which Schlitz is cooled. We scald every tub, keg and barrel, every pipe and pump, every time we use it.

Then, instead of putting pure beer in light glass bottles we use Brown Bottles.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives the best protection against light. The Brown Bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

We began in a hut, sixty years ago. Today our agencies dot the earth. Our output exceeds a million barrels a year. More and more people each year are drinking Schlitz.

DISTRICT SHUNS GARBAGE "BUCK"

Trustee Sullivan Declares the City Can't Pass It to the Drainage Board.

WROTH AT SEXTON NOTE.

Attorney Adcock Tells Corporation Counsel to Mind Own Business.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The trustees and attorney for the sanitary district decline to assume any responsibility for the delay of the city in obtaining a site for a garbage plant.

"If any one is intimating that we are responsible they lie," said Trustee Sullivan. "We have done everything to help the city along, and I will not help hold the bag for any of them. We have done nothing, nor neglected to do something, which we should be called upon to explain. Let them do their own explaining."

The discussion came up at a meeting of the real estate committee of the board. The trustees called for all of the letters and documents in the hands of the district officials relating to the matter.

Sexton's Letter Read.

Attorney Adcock submitted a letter from Corporation Counsel Sexton protesting against further delay in allowing the city to acquire a site on the drainage canal at Forty-sixth avenue, which is owned by the district. He wanted the district to press for dismissal of condemnation proceedings against the site brought by the Manufacturers Junction railroad, and pending for several years.

Mr. Adcock in reply practically told Mr. Sexton to mind his own business, and asserted that this method of procedure would have been "an idle formality," of no benefit to any one "except the railroad company."

It follows that if the railroad company is benefited, then the city's chances of getting the site would be delayed or reduced. The more delay the longer extension of an agreement must be given the Chicago Reduction company.

Adcock Desires to Take Issue.

"I note your suggestion that the proper practice to pursue was first to insist upon the motion to dismiss," said Mr. Adcock. "In that respect I desire to take issue with you and state that I believe you are in error."

A meeting between representatives of the Chicago Reduction company and Mayor Harrison and a subcommittee of the finance committee is scheduled for this morning. The purpose of the meeting is to ascertain the terms upon which the Chicago Reduction company will handle the city's garbage until a new plant is erected. Probably the matter will also be discussed at a session of the finance committee later in the day.

HARRY TRIES AGAIN TO GET OUT OF BRIDEWELL; FAILS.

John Tyrrell, attorney for Riley, asked Judge Gibbons of the Circuit court for his client's release on a writ of habeas corpus. Harry got his first look at the city in two months when he was brought into court to hear his attorney argue for the writ.

Mr. Tyrrell urged on the court the fact that his client had been unjustly sentenced, inasmuch as the Municipal court had no jurisdiction, the act which created the city court being unconstitutional. That didn't get freedom for Harry, so Mr. Tyrrell suggested to his honor that the evidence against the prisoner didn't prove that he was guilty of picking pockets, as charged in the complaint. Still Judge Gibbons wasn't convinced that Riley shouldn't continue in the employment of the city. Then the pickpocket's attorney stated that the remarks of Judge Scully in sentencing Riley were in error and prejudicial to his client.

Judge Gibbons listened and denied the writ. Harry was returned to the bridewell to complete his six months' sentence. Mr. Tyrrell said at night that he would take Riley's case to the Appellate court on a writ of error.

CLARK VAINLY TRIES TO STOP DRAINAGE BOARD CONTRACT.

Trustee Beaten in Effort to Block Award to W. F. Cummings of Lighting System Construction Work.

An attempt on the part of Trustee Clark to stop the granting of a contract recommended by Chairman Sullivan of the engineering committee failed at the meeting of the drainage board yesterday.

The committee recommended that the contract for pole erection and line construction in connection with the lighting system of the city of Chicago be awarded to W. F. Cummings on a bid of $32,183.

Chairman Sullivan told the board that Cummings' bid was the lowest of the two submitted and that the latter had lowered his price further after a consultation with the committee.

"I am emphatically against letting that contract to Cummings," exclaimed Mr. Clark. "There were only two bids, and we certainly did not get the best prices. I move that new bids be advertised for. It is my opinion—"

"I don't care for your opinion," interposed Mr. Sullivan. "It does not make any difference what you think. I move that Mr. Clark's motion be laid on the table."

The motion was adopted with the votes of the Republican minority, Clark and Paullin, against it.

BUSBY PLACID ON FARM DEAL

FIGURES HIS LOSS AT $7,000.

Legislation Occupying His Mind More than Realty Tricks.

Leonard A. Busby, president of the Chicago City Railway company, returned from Springfield yesterday. He said pending legislation was taking up all his time. The real estate deal by which three Indianians secured his Evanston property was a trivial matter, he said.

"I either trust a man or I don't," explained Mr. Busby in his office in the First National Bank building. "If I do, he can go as far as he likes. Those men, Myers and Snyder, had handled deals for me before and had won my confidence.

"Evidently they were laying for an opportunity such as I gave them at last. The upshot of it is that they got rid of an Indiana farm of a couple of hundred acres on me at about $100 an acre, while it was not worth more than $65. My loss actually figures between $6,000 and $7,000.

"Because I thought these men should not be allowed to get away with a slick deal like that I complained to the state's attorney, and the three Hoosiers have been indicted by the April grand jury on the charge of operating a confidence game."

The indictment returned by the jury charges that Myers, Snyder, and their alleged accomplice, Samuel F. Hall, operated a confidence game, by which Leonard A. Busby was defrauded out of his property situated at 1401-1407 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, which is valued at $25,000.

Found Dead in Train Berth.

George A. Snyder, a retired merchant of Edmore, Mich., was found dead in his berth on the Overland limited train of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at 7 o'clock yesterday morning about seventy-five miles northwest of Chicago. Snyder was on his way from Fresno, Cal., to his home in Michigan.

DIVORCE REFUSED UNKISSED WIFE

TOO MUCH TEMPERAMENT.

Mrs. George Ade Davis Some High Kicker, Says Hubbie.

Married life without kisses is no reason for divorce, according to Judge Marcus Kavanagh's ruling in the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Marie Estelle Davis against her husband, George Ade Davis, nephew of George Ade.

Mrs. Davis was granted separate maintenance yesterday, Judge Kavanagh believing the testimony she offered did not entitle her to a divorce. He granted her $70 a month.

Too Much "Temperament."

"It's a perfectly simple case," said the judge in his decision. "The bill simmers down to cruelty and ill treatment. It is affirmed on one side and denied on the other. She is a good, fine girl, with an artistic temperament, and too sensitive. She feels she has been neglected, and perhaps she has. It's a pity there should be this trouble."

Kicks Glass Off Table.

The witness told of the incident at Brook, Ind., where Mrs. Davis charged him with abusing her.

It was a hot day, he said, and he and Mrs Davis, the chauffeur, and the chauffeur's wife made cocktails and drank three rounds. Then there was a bottle of champagne apiece and an absinthe frappé to finish. Mrs. Davis, he testified, got partly intoxicated and kicked a glass off the table.

ELOPE IN HIS FATHER'S AUTO

Austin Young Persons Surprise Wayte and Waite Families.

THEY JUST COULDN'T WAIT.

Parents Add Mystery by Refusing to Talk of Romance.

This is the story told by the neighbors of the elopement of Clarence Wayte and Helen Waite, both of Austin, who impressed the Wayte auto and motored to Elgin, where they were married. The parents of both have added much mystery to the affair by their refusal to speak of the event.

The bridegroom is a clerk, 21 years old. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Wayte, at 5921 West Ontario street. The father owns a hardware store at 508 North Park avenue, Austin.

The bride is 18 years old and the daughter of Lucius E. Waite, a bookkeeper, who lives at 5938 West Superior street.

On Tuesday, according to neighbors, Clarence took his father's automobile out of the garage, called upon Miss Waite, then the trip to Elgin was made.

Surprise to the Parents.

The hardware man was told his son had taken the car, and, on questioning the young persons, learned he had a daughter-in-law. Just what followed is unknown.

The bridegroom's mother refused to open the door and talked through the speaking tube at the West Ontario residence.

"We don't want anything said in the paper," she said.

"Is there any reason for keeping it out?"

"I won't talk to you at all."

Their Ages the Only Objection.

"I don't think there was any objection on the part of either family," said a neighbor, "unless it were on account of the ages."

That was all that could be learned of the romance and the elopement.

May Day Revels at Wellesley.

Wellesley, Mass., May 1.—Wellesley college's 1,300 girls carried out the time honored May day revels today. In the morning a party of seniors, carrying pails of soapsuds and dressed as scrubwomen, scoured the statues on the college grounds until they fairly shone. Later in the day the students, dressed as boys and girls of various periods, appeared on the green in hundreds.

The culmination of their gambols was the annual maypole dance, with the crowning of Miss Edith F. Jones of Los Angeles, the freshman president, as the queen of May.

Miss Bryan Now Bride of John Barton Payne.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1.—[Special.]—The marriage of Miss Jennie Byrd Bryan and John Barton Payne of Chicago took place at noon today in the presence of a small group of relatives. The Rev. Alfred Bird performed the ceremony and the bride was given away by her brother, Charles Page Bryan, former American ambassador to Japan. There were no attendants.

Following the service, which took place at the home of Mr. Bryan, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page. Mr. and Mrs. Payne will sail on Saturday for Europe, and upon their return in August will make their home at the Bryan country estate, the Byrd's Nest, at Elmhurst, Ill.

The bride of today is of distinguished Virginia ancestry, being related to the Byrds, Pages, Nelsons, and other well known families of that state. She has accompanied her brother on his various diplomatic missions in South America and later to Portugal and Tokyo, and has had a part in many memorable ceremonies, notably those attending the burial of the late king of Portugal and his son, the heir apparent, and the late Emperor of Japan.

Wilson Girls May Day Fete Guests.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—[Special.]—The Misses Margaret, Jessie, and Eleanor Wilson were chief guests at the May day fête given today at the Congressional club. This was their first opportunity to meet the entire congressional contingent. Mrs. D. U. Stone, Mrs. Robert L. Owen, and practically the entire young girl circle of the congressional households.

The Misses Wilson, by their ready wit and their ability to fix names and faces, made a great hit with the wives and daughters of the national legislators. The clubrooms were crowded throughout the afternoon, and each guest commented upon the fact that while she was passing down the line she received the entire attention of each of the Misses Wilson, who shook hands "as if they meant it."

Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, Mrs. Lindley M. Garrison, and Mrs. Albert S. Burleson were among those who gathered in the music room of the John Hays Hammond home today to hear an "all society" group of artists give a concert for the benefit of the Confederate Memorial home. How to Earn Money at Home

The purpose of this department is to find profitable employment for women in occupations which they can carry on at home without interfering with their domestic duties. To stimulate suggestions, The Tribune will award $1 each for every help published.

Address—Sally Joy Brown, care The Tribune, Chicago.

The exhibit room in The Tribune building is open from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m., except on Saturday, when it closes at noon.

Treasure Chests for June Brides.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

WHAT have you contributed to the chest of the June bride that you know?

It won't be long now before that chest is on its way to the new home.

Don't you want something that you have selected to go in it?

What about a boudoir set?

Have you ever seen one?

One of the home women advertising in THE TRIBUNE Home Workers' Market Place has most attractive ones that she makes to order for $5.

The set consists of a fluffy lace petticoat ruffle and a fascinating boudoir cap to match with rosettes and streamers of any color of ribbon that the buyer may fancy.

They are made of shadow lace in lovely patterns and are just as delightfully feminine and "bridey" as they can be.

The petticoat ruffle may be attached to any petticoat and the ribbons changed to match any negligée.

•

These added to the boudoir set would be lovely or they would make a nice engagement present by themselves.

Is the bride to be that you know planning to have a guest room in the new home?

She would appreciate some extra fine things for that room!

Some of the home women are making the bath towels, face cloths, and guest towels with the colored embroidery and edge to match.

Some of them are making beautifully embroidered pillow cases and sheets.

All of these would make nice additions to the bridal chest, and the prices charged for them are most reasonable.

•

Did you ever hear of blanket and comforter protectors?

These are being made by one of the clever home women who is always thinking of something new and practical.

They are strips of dotted Swiss featherstitched in color or white, and are made to pin over the top of the blanket or comforter to keep it clean and to give a look of freshness to the bed.

These she makes for 75 cents, and they are certainly new and most practical and attractive.

•

Dress bags are another thing that the bride would be sure to like, for with all the new pretty dresses and coats that she has in her trousseau they are such a necessity.

The dress bags are made in several styles and at prices from 65 to 85 cents apiece.

There is a pretty combing jacket for the bride made of Delft blue Japanese crêpe embroidered in white, which sells for $4 and would make a nice addition to the trousseau.

•

Don't you think that all girls love to have these pretty extras?

Whatever you are planning to give the bride, you will be sure to be pleased with the work that the home women can do for you.

If you can't decide what you want to give, just write to me of the amount that you want to spend and the type of home of the bride to be, and I am sure that I can tell you of many things that the home women can make that would be appropriate.

A Resourceful Opening.

In a conversation with a dressmaker, she pointed out a resourceful opening for any woman that has taken a few practical lessons in cutting and fitting. They should first have an understanding with firms selling dress forms to procure the names and addresses of buyers. It is not always an easy matter to get accustomed to these forms if you have never used one, as many times a purchaser finds it would have been better to have bought a size smaller than her bust measure. In her trials she would gladly give a dollar to the woman that would be on hand to cut and fit an exact plain waist and sleeve lining of herself to be put over the form and stuffed out if need be. If you have an old but good fitting corset, so much the better, which can be adjusted to the form before the lining is put on. To remedy too full a bust, place a dishpan of water on the floor and lay the dress form over, with the bust in the pan of water to soften it. When softened sufficiently, stand it up again and it is ready for your plain lining cover. By carefully pushing in and shaping the bust and pinning lining over the form, it will dry and harden the size of your lining.

Making Corset Bags Pays.

A good way to make a little money at home is by making corset bags. Take one yard and a half of pretty Dresden ribbon about six inches wide. You can very often get a remnant at about 25 cents a yard. Take your ribbon and fold it in two lengthwise. Sew up the edges very carefully. Leave about an inch and a half on top to make a neat hem, so as to be able to draw ribbon through. When completed, with your drawstrings and all, the bag comes to about 45 cents.

BELLE SCHOENBROD, 4749 Prairie avenue.

Pilots Sightseeing Classes.

I know a woman who has studied art a number of years and who is quite an authority, who organized a sightseers' class, and every week she takes classes of knowledge seekers to different exhibits at the Art institute and the neighboring galleries. She charges a small compensation, which is well worth while. I would suggest some enterprising woman could let it be known among her friends that she would take strangers and visitors to all points of interest in and about Chicago. After this once became known, her path would be strewn with roses.

MILDRED LEBENSBERGER,

A Woman Soil Expert.

A friend makes a good income examining garden soil. As this can be done in the winter as well as in the summer, she keeps busy all the year. Studying the soil scientifically, she learns what chemicals are lacking and how, when, and in what shape to supply them to produce the desired plant life. If the soil is acid or sour she suggests the remedy and shows why the soil must be kept loose to get the best results. When requested, she makes a statement as to the best methods of destroying insects, worms, and bugs that injure growing plants. She is called by some of her friends "The Garden Doctor." Her advice has made many unproductive garden spots yield abundantly in vegetables and flowers.

MRS. FRANCIS E. DONLY,
291 North Ashland avenue, River Forest, Ill.

A Professional Flat Hunter.

A woman finds satisfactory flats for desirable tenants in a large city for $5. She has a list of all apartments vacant or about to be vacated, and after visiting a building personally once she keeps a catalogued description and ground plan of it. The rental agents keep her informed of the state of repair of vacant premises and what they will do for new tenants, so she has all the information at her home concerning many hundreds of flats in all parts of the city. The person hunting a flat can go to her and get a complete and true description of available apartments and save themselves miles of travel and hours of fatigue. No fee is paid until tenant is located and in possession of apartment.

Recipe for Ginger Cookies.

Ginger cookies which are delicious and sell at a reasonable price, are made with one-half cup sour milk, one cup New Orleans molasses, one-half cup sugar, one cup melted butter, two eggs (whites and yolks beaten separately), one tablespoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-quarter teaspoon salt, and flour enough to roll. Put the soda in molasses, add sour milk and beat until it foams; stir in the butter, yolks of eggs and spices, then the flour and whites of eggs. Roll rather thin, cut out and bake in moderate oven.

COUNTY SUFFRAGE ALLIANCE IS LOOKING FOR A PRESIDENT.

Miss Marion Drake, the Present Chief, Plans to Go Abroad and Seeks a Successor.

Miss Marion Drake, Auditorium hotel, has put out the above plea. Miss Drake is president of the Cook County Suffrage alliance. She organized the alliance last spring. It now has 1,700 members. She says it is the first known woman's organization to lack presidential candidates.

The expense of the position is keeping away promising candidates. It is an organization which has no dues.

Its expenses, however, are probably greater than the ordinary suffrage organization because of its large membership. Announcements of meetings cost nearly $20 for postage alone, not including printing and clerical work.

The annual meeting of the organization takes place tomorrow. So far there are no candidates. Miss Drake has been asked to take the position again, but she has asserted she will do it only as a last resort.

"I am looking for a good candidate," she said yesterday, "but I haven't been able to find one who is willing to take the responsibility and assume the expense. It has cost me about $500 this year.

"As I work during the day I have had to do most of the work of the alliance in my time at night."

SKIN-NAY! C'MON TO SCHOOL! THEY'RE TEACHIN' BASEBALL!

Assistant Superintendent Shoop Indorses Use of National Game to Boost the Spelling Idea.

John D. Shoop, assistant superintendent of schools, admitted yesterday that baseball might be used to advantage in the teaching of arithmetic and possibly spelling.

"I have never known of the use of baseball as a means of instruction in arithmetic, but it is a general principle among educators that the field of interest closest to the child is usually a good basis on which to rest the foundations of education.

"Of course, everything depends on the way in which it is used, but I should think baseball might be used to give a variety to the lessons.

"I am informed that John M. Boyer, a teacher in the Andrew Jackson school, makes use of the baseball idea in teaching spelling."

"I do not know of baseball being used in the schools for instruction in mathematics or spelling," said Mrs. Young, superintendent of schools, "and I do not know enough about the game to give an opinion as to its possible value in this line.

"I used to play 'barn baseball' and was skillful at it, but real baseball is not among my accomplishments."

Dr. Judson Announces Purchase of New Library.

DR. HARRY PRATT JUDSON, president of the University of Chicago, announced last night that the university had just consummated the purchase of a library for $20,000, to be added to the general library of the university. The announcement was made at the annual dinner of the Alumni association of the university at the Hotel La Salle.

President Judson stated that corner stones would be laid this fall for three new university buildings to be erected from the John D. Rockefeller fund, which amounts to $1,000,000 a year for ten years. He said that the new cement grandstand at Marshall field will be dedicated on convocation day.

After the meeting the following officers were elected: President, Charles Winston; vice president, Art Goes; secretary and treasurer, Alvin Kramer; alumni representatives on the athletic board of control, W. France Anderson, Kellogg Speed, and Hugo Friend.

Open Fight for Inspector.

The number of cases of mumps and whooping cough, with a half dozen of scarlet fever, in Wilmettee has roused the Physicians' club of the suburb to a campaign for a school inspector.

"With no regulations for keeping the children off the streets there is too great chance for contagion in the schools," said Dr. B. M. Conley, health commissioner, yesterday. "We are convinced that association in school is responsible for many of the cases."

Church Thrives on Free Shows.

The abolition of paid entertainments at the Austin Methodist Episcopal church has been a financial success, according to the pastor, the Rev. J. S. Ladd Thomas. Commendation of the free entertainment plan followed a lecture in the church last evening by the Rev. S. Parks Cadman of Brooklyn, N. Y., who spoke on Abraham Lincoln.

"We gave up last fall the practice of having entertainments for the purpose of making money," Dr. Thomas said. "We have given the best entertainments the country could afford and have depended entirely on passing the basket. The response has been so generous that we have had money left in the treasury besides making it possible for the poor as well as the rich to attend."

Want Urbana Four Mile "Dry" Zone.

Champaign, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—The state Coongregational church conference determined to favor the passage of a bill by the legislature making a four mile "dry" zone around the University of Illinois. The Rev. John A. Holmes urged that each delegate make an appeal to his representative to favor the anti-saloon measure.

"You are asking a great deal of me," said C. B. Chapman, a layman, retiring moderator, of Ottawa. "I do not know that I can comply with this request."

Surprise showed on every face.

The conference was convulsed.

The conference closed today without selecting the place of the next meeting.

"We want a minimum wage commission," said Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago. "This question of low wage is a social and individual menace. The integrity of thousands of working girls in Chicago whom I know is marvelous in the face of their awful temptations."

Methodist Union to Dine.

The Methodist Social union will hold its semi-annual banquet at the Hotel La Salle tonight. The guest of honor will be the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, one of the foremost Congregational preachers of America. The choice of a Congregational preacher is explained in the fact that up to a few years ago Dr. Cadman was a member of the Methodist church and preached in a Methodist pulpit.

Is There a State Between Life and Death?

BALTIMORE, Md., May 1.—[Special.]—Recent investigations in the histological and psychological laboratory of the Johns Hopkins medical school strongly indicate a third state, intermediate between life and death, which apparently comprises the principles of both.

The fact that life in various and many organisms may be suspended by freezing in liquid air and by other processes, and the possibility of resuscitating these organisms after a period of several weeks or even months gives color to the theory.

The experiments at the Johns Hopkins laboratory have shown there is a state, known as "latent life," in which the organisms, having every appearance of being lifeless, nevertheless once again manifest vital characteristics.

Recently some interesting and successful efforts were made in the medical school to revive the apparently dead heart of the animal. They were explained by Dr. Alexis Carrell, who recently lectured before the students.

In about half the tests the heart of a chicken took on renewed energy several hours after death. Immediately after death the heart was frozen and preserved. A few hours later it was resuscitated by massage.

Bacteria, the lowest plant organisms, have enormous powers of resisting conditions that tend to death.

Bacteria of various diseases are seen in the laboratory frozen at a temperature of liquid air of 360 degrees Fahrenheit. They do not die, as a rule, and often survive so extremely drastic a procedure as this and retain their specific vital pathogenic characteristics.

There are instances where such cold blooded animals as frogs and rats, snails, and even fish, have their lives suspended by this freezing process, and yet, on being "thawed out" after a period of weeks, revive most actively.

These animals are perfectly normal when placed in a refrigerating jar just large enough to hold one animal. The jar is filled with liquid air at a certain temperature and after a short time the animals appear lifeless.

A month later they are removed and, on being massaged, show signs of life, often reviving completely.

From these experiments no claim is made that after death life can be restored, but in many instances where life is thought to be extinct it is only masked, and it remains for the scientists to discover through experiment whether they are dealing with death itself or with latent life.

As stated by one of the investigators, who is deeply interested in the work, in the warm blooded animals, even in man himself, one does not find such extreme instances of suppression of vitality as in the case of the lower organisms, creatures with more sluggish and therefore less easily deranged metabolism. Hence the theories are not yet applied to humanity.

The interesting inference from all these cases of latent life or suspended animation is that, though vitality cannot be said to have vanished, yet the organism during all that time is not taking food, oxygen, or water, and is not giving out carbon dioxide or water or other chemical results of life. It is not moving of its own volition, and in the higher animals both the cardiac and respiratory activities are in abeyance.

Campanini to Give Whole Time to Opera.

GENERAL MANAGER CLEOFONTE CAMPANINI of the Chicago Grand Opera company completed arrangements yesterday whereby he will be able, from the present time on through the summer, to give his entire time to the work of the opera. For several seasons he has been under contract to conduct a number of the operas at Covent Garden in London. Yesterday, in response to a request from himself and the directors of the Chicago opera, he received a cable from General Manager Higgins of Covent Garden releasing him for this year. This, it is believed, will give Mr. Campanini ample time to get his organization in perfect shape for the autumn.

It is officially announced that all the stock of the Chicago Opera company that has been held in New York has been bought by a syndicate of the Chicago opera directors. The present board, which includes some New York men, will continue in office until the annual board meeting the middle of this month, when a new election will be held.

The present season of the Chicago Opera company ends in New York Saturday night. Of the executive committee of the opera company Max Pam and Charles G. Dawes are now in New York, where they will be joined on Monday by Harold McCormick, John C. Shaffer, and George F. Porter, the five comprising a majority of the executive committee. A conference will be held in New York on Monday bearing on plans for the coming season, and in Philadelphia on Tuesday.

It is expected that the present arrangement as between Chicago and Philadelphia will be renewed for the next season, giving ten weeks of opera to each city, although the ownership and control will be entirely in Chicago.

Blackfriars Show Tonight at U. of C.

The first performance of "The Pranks of Paprika," the annual comic opera of the Blackfriars of the University of Chicago, will be given in Mandel hall tonight. The show will be repeated Saturday evening and May 9 and 10.

The last dress rehearsal was given in record time last night. The book and lyrics are by Donal Breed and Roderick Peattie and the music by Lewis J. Fuiks, John E. Rhodes, W. C. K. Achi, Henry W. Barton, and William Bosworth.

The part of Paprika is taken by James Dyrenforth. All the feminine parts and the chorus of thirty-eight "broilers" are filled by men. Harry Bogg, Harold Terwilliger, Milton Morse, Harold Goettler, and Craig Redmond will be in the cast of principals.

A press agent's idea of stimulating interest in Mlle. Pavlowa's coming tour:

"There'll be doings on the lawn at Ivy house, Anna Pavlowa's English home, in June. The Russian dancer, who is the fad in England, will repeat her entertainment of last year, only more so. She is getting up an open air ballet. She will dance, and with her those aristocratic young women who have gone in for classic dancing. How about a seat in "bald headed row," to see all the titled legs skipping around in tights? Nothing doing! It is to be an invitation affair for dukes, and lords, and such."

Miss Mildred Elaine will have the prima donna's rôle in the revival of "My Little Friend" in New York, and the comedians will be Frank Moulan and William Pruette.

It is announced in London that when "Within the Law" is produced there the rôle of Joe Garson, acted here by W. B. Mack, will be played by Sir Herbert Tree.

Buys Misfit Suits and Shoes.

I save much money by buying misfit clothing, shoes, etc. I bought a pair of $4 shoes, used but slightly, for $1.50, and have used them nearly a year. I bought a $22 suit for $10 which had been used only a few days. I have paid $30 for suits not one whit better. I left a hat with a hatmaker to be reblocked and he showed me a high grade $4 hat, almost new, for $1. I have used it over six months and it still looks like a new one. On these three items, you see, I have saved $17.50. By knowing how and where to buy household and other supplies this way we save a good sized sum of money during the year.

P. W. PAULSON.

Makes Many Dishes from Wheat.

One of the best ways to reduce the cost of living that I know of is to use wheat foods in every possible shape. Wheat is the most perfect food on earth and about the most economical. We boil it whole or cracked or ground. By heating it up it grinds easier, cooks quicker, and tastes better. We have a flaking machine and make wheat flakes also. Sometimes we mix nuts, raisins, or figs with it, and this makes a most delicious food, eaten with or without toasting. We also make our own coffee out of wheat, and it is more wholesome than any other coffee known and costs us only about 6 cents a pound. We also make mock turkey roast, wheat pudding, and many other wholesome dishes from wheat, and as wheat contains about all that the body requires we have little need for other expensive foods. Thus our cost of living in perfect health is ridiculously low—less than 10 cents a day.

P. W. PAULSON.

Some Economies.

Our family consists of four persons. My husband, myself, and two boys. Our salary is $115. Out of this we try to save $50 each month. Rent, groceries, meat, milk, light, and water average about $50, sometimes a little more. The extra $15 we use for incidentals and clothes. Living in an expensive town, this saving of $50 means careful planning. Partly worn shirts are used for little aprons or boys' waists. Worn white lingerie waists are used for corset covers. Our worn underwear is made into underwear for the boys. Suits are made over into knickerbockers and Russian suits. Heavy stockings appear later as underpants for the small boy. Sugar sacks make lunch cloths. Old tablecloths make every day napkins. Discarded house dresses are used for aprons or underskirts. Wool socks are cut and sewed into play mittens. Boys' worn waists, cut out and bound around neck and sleeves, make excellent underwaists. In foods, root vegetables, beans, split peas, rice, macaroni, and boiling meats are used rather than canned goods, expensive steaks, and roasts.

MRS. W. W.

Six Rules.

The following are several rules which I have observed in fighting the cost of living: Do not pay high rent. Our five room steam heated apartment is comfortable, comparatively modern, and on a pleasant street. Rental, $30 monthly. Do your own work if possible. Plan your meals carefully so that they may be appetizing without being expensive. Do not yield to any extravagant impulses. Take care of the pennies. Pay cash for everything. Do not entertain at great expense. A simple light luncheon will be appreciated quite as much as if expensive foodstuff had been used. Use good judgment in buying clothes and food, and remember always quality, not quantity. These rules, carefully adhered to, have helped us immensely in these expensive days.

Curiosities of Language.

The Germans call a thimble a "finger hat," which it certainly is, and a grasshopper a "hay horse." A glove with them is a "hand shoe," showing evidently that they wore shoes before gloves. Poultry is "feather cattle," whilst the names for the well known substances oxygen and hydrogen are in their language "sour stuff" and "water stuff." The French, strange to say, have no verb "to stand," nor can a Frenchman speak of "kicking" any one. The nearest approach a Frenchman makes to it in his politeness is to threaten to "give a blow with his foot"—the same thing to the recipient in either case, but it seems to want the directness, the energy of our "kick." Neither has he any word for "baby," or for "home," or for "comfort." The terms "upstairs" and "downstairs" are also unknown in French. The Hindus are said to have no word for "friend." The Italians have no equivalent for "humility."

The Corean Cniderella.

In Corea the people tell a Cinderella story that is much more ancient than that familiar to western people. The key of the latter story is the slipper, but not so theirs. Peach Blossom, the Corean Cinderella's name, was the family drudge. One day, as the mother was starting off with a favorite daughter to a picnic she said to Peach Blossom: "You must not leave until you have hulled a bagful of rice and filled the broken crock with water." While sitting there bemoaning her hard lot, she heard a twittering and fluttering of wings. Looking up she saw a flock of sparrows pecking at the hulls of the rice. Before recovering from her surprise a little imp jumped out of the fireplace and so skillfully repaired the crock that but a few minutes of work was required to fill it with water. Then she went to the picnic and had a royal time.

ANSWER TO "A DISLOCATED CIRCLE."

The dislocated circle is solved by making a single cut through the dotted line shown in the diagram below, and join up the pieces.

LAW GUARDS LOVE LETTERS EVEN AGAINST THE HUSBAND.

Court Orders Missives Written by Another Man Handed Over to Wife with $50 Damages and Costs.

New York, May 1.—[Special.]—A husband has no right to take possesion of his wife's love letters, even if they are written to her by another man, under a decision by Municipal Court Justice Hoyer today.

Accordingly, City Marshal Mulvihill, who had taken ninety-nine letters written to Mrs. Frances June Brandenburg, from the safe deposit vault of her husband, Henry Voorce Brandenburg, a banker at 25 Broad street turned them over to Mrs. Brandenburg today.

While Mr. and Mrs. Brandenburg lived together, it developed at the hearing of the case before Justice Hoyer, they have had more or less serious disagreements. One of them was due to the fact that Brandenburg discovered a packet of his wife's love letters, and, before she knew he had them, he put them away in the safe deposit vault in his offices.

Mrs. Brandenburg said that the cause of the detention of the letters "is that the defendant meant to harass and annoy your deponent by reading the letters and making references to them to deponent and outsiders."

Brandenburg admitted that the letters belonged to his wife and Justice Hoyer gave judgment to Mrs. Brandenburg for the letters, $50 damages, and $14 costs.

WOMEN DEMAND SWIFT JUSTICE IN CRIMINAL ASSAULT CASE.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—[Special.]—Indignant at the delay in convicting the negro, Nathaniel Green, who assaulted Mrs. Adelaide Ellis Grant last Christmas night, women of Washington today petitioned the Court of Appeals to amend the present law.

The petition urges the amendment of this section of the code under which Green was convicted, and protests against "an extended hearing upon technical grounds alone."

Under the present law, if the jury does not recommend capital punishment the maximum penalty for criminal assault is thirty years' imprisonment. Green pleaded guilty to avoid a recommendation of the death penalty, but Justice Stafford refused to accept the plea.

Green was convicted by the jury, which recommended that he be hanged. An appeal was taken on the contention that the court erred in not accepting the plea of guilty.

OAK PARK'S OLDEST DWELLING TO MAKE WAY FOR NEW PARK.

Wreckers Will Demolish Scoville Residence Preparatory to Building Ornamental Park and Playground.

Wreckers will commence to tear down Oak Park's oldest house today to make room for a new park which is to be completed during the summer. The house was erected by the late James Scoville in 1860 after he had traveled from New York to Chicago in a "prairie schooner." After Scoville's death in 1900 the house was used as a hotel.

The grounds cover a square block and were a gift from the Scoville estate to the village on condition that they be used for park purposes. The park will be named after Mr. Scoville.

Half of the park is to be used as a playground for children and the remainder will be used for tennis courts and gardens.

The suit has been in the court for several years, and the present proceeding is to review the Supreme court decision.

Which Is It—

Few smart alluring frocks or several dowdy ones?

The woman of moderate means with smart clothes has solved the problem. "Few—if you please—but to suit me." So much for the outward grace, but the inward pride must be satisfied, for the same woman says: "No inferior corset—a good one, I thank you—a corset with a pedigree—a corset that is dependable today and tomorrow; a corset that holds its shape, and whatever deficiencies my form may have, this good corset corrects; and too, a corset that defies wear."

Not half-a-dozen cheap pairs without a name to fall back upon, but two good pairs for this woman, that the maker stoutly guarantees—designed and made by one who knows how to make good corsets, and is willing to put his name on his corset and then defy time.

This woman may be worldly wise, but as the years pass she holds her figure lines, which every woman may do if she is equally wise.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

DOES it occur to you, my friends, that woman's labor never ends:—that is, if she's inclined to be a trifle stubborn constantly. Some housewives glory in the thought that battles won must be re-fought.

First Aid to The Housewife

This jingle is for those who try to smile at toil and reason "Why;" who will not let the household cares crush down life's other glad affairs. You'll find, where Mrs. Smith or Brown thus reason, in a certain town, that Gold Dust helps to minimize the number of back-aches and sighs.

The Gold Dust Twins forever toil, with dirt and trouble as a foil. They start each morning, at the top, and only after night-fall stop.

GOLD DUST
GOLD DUST

Theirs is to DO if NOT to DIE—Theirs is to never question "why?" At kitchen tasks their talents shine; the floors they polish up are fine; in fact, no matter where they go they leave a spotless trail and so, like sunshine, when the sky is grey they help to drive the clouds away.

Each grain of Gold Dust also shares in cleaning up the household wares; each mop it touches seals a bond, to make a mop a fairy wand; each brush or cloth holds regal sway in driving dirt's dull care away.

Milanese Risotto.

MILAN.

THIS city is another portion of the globe where saffron is popular. This coloring substance goes into a certain kind of roll in southwest England. It goes into several kinds of bread in Wales. It is one of the things that make the bouillabaise of southern France distinctive. It is the thing that makes the risotto of Milan different from the risotto of Piedmont, for instance (the latter is colored by tomato), and perhaps it is that which makes the risotto alla Milanese the most famous in Italy, for this risotto is used everywhere as well as here, and always with the addition "alla Milanese."

The risotto is a dish of rice which is used as a dry minestra, being equal to and taking the place of the pasta asciutta. In such a place as Turin it is one of the alternates of the pastes, but here in Milan it seems to be the one thing used for the beginning of the midday meal.

Baedeker says, with two parentheses: "Risotto (alla Milanese), a kind of rice pudding (rich)." But it is not a rice pudding, for it is cooked in meat broth, when this can be afforded, otherwise water is used and perhaps an inexpensive soffrito (bacon and bits of vegetables fried together) to give it taste. It is not sweetened. Of course Baedeker does not pretend to give an exhaustive food outline, for he heads his list as follows: "List of the ordinary dishes at the Italian restaurants." Yet one might imagine from this that the Milanese risotto was the only one. Cookery books give twelve other sorts, though risotto alla Milanese leads the list, with three ways of preparing it cited.

Of course the risotto is served with grated Parmesan cheese, as all soups and pastes are. The cheese pot or plate is as universally present on the table in Italy as the vehicles for salt.

The rice is not washed or soaked, and perhaps it is never cooked more than twice as long as one of the pastes. But the Milanese are proud of this dish, and the author of a Roman cook book vigorously enters the lists in defense of this time honored specialty of Milan.

RISOTTO ALLA MILANESE (Prof. Cav. Adolfo Giaquinto).—"It may be said that in every city they cook the risotto according to their own caprice. They do as they like, and then they dare to call it risotto alla Milanese. Some put tomatoes in it, some season it with bacon, some with mushrooms, some with marsala, etc., and all say that theirs is the true and traditional risotto. Here is the recipe just as it is, coming to me nobly communicated to me by an artist of the first order and a pure blooded Milanese:

"Cut in equal parts some so-called cervella [a note says that this is a yellow sausage now no longer used] and some beef marrow. Then put it in a frying pan with a little onion chopped, washed, and with the water pressed out. Fry all this slowly, without allowing it to take color. Then add a sufficiency of rice, cleaned but not not washed, and let it brown a little and wet it with white broth or water, seasoning at the same time with salt and pepper, stirring and detaching it from time to time with a wooden spoon. When it is half cooked throw into it a little saffron. When the rice is just cooked and not too thick finish it with butter and cheese. This is the traditional recipe, but one can make it well without the marrow and the cervella, putting in their place butter alone."

A note to the statement "just cooked" says: "I say just cooked because many tavernkeepers have the bad habit of serving the rice dry and raw, believing that they are making a good thing."

A practical cook says that the stock or meat broth should be added a little at a time as the rice keeps on swelling and not all at once.

Make to brown in a frying pan with sufficient butter and some salt an onion and some chopped parsley. Add to this three-fifths of a pound of lean veal chopped, then add two pounds of rice, cleaned, washed, and drained. Leave to cook for some minutes and then commence to wet it little by little with broth. When half cooked add a calf's brain and a tenth of a pound of beef marrow, likewise chopped. Put in a little saffron as it cooks and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.

Home cooks consider the saffron leaves purer and better than the powder, and for 2 cents they buy a tiny packet of these, enough for a five person risotto, wet them, and use this liquid for the coloring.

Umbria raises great quantities of saffron.

Mannerisms to Be Avoided.

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell.]

SO many women have habits that are unbecoming. They do not come from any nervous condition, but they cause a nervous condition eventually if not cured in time.

One mannerism which so many women affect and which at once stamps them as being affected as posers, is the absurd habit of shrugging or lifting their shoulders by way of punctuating their remarks. This mannerism makes a person look foolish. Besides, it causes ugly lines on the neck and shoulders. If you have contracted this foolish habit you can unlearn it only by persistent effort. You must exercise your will power and stop it.

Another important point in endeavoring to acquire that age destroyer—poise—is to remember when you really do have to hurry to learn to hurry with your muscles instead of your nerves. Try to imitate the oriental calm.

The story is told of the shah of Persia that he was asked to join a party of nobles at the derby. He replied: "It is already known to me that one horse can run faster than another, and therefore why should I waste my nerves by getting all excited watching the fact demonstrated to me?"

Avoid signs of nervousness. Grace in repose more difficult to secure than grace in action. A person who constantly changes her position while sitting loses all the dignity of repose which is so closely allied to grace. A rigid, upright position, as if one were momentarily expecting to encounter a calamity, is one of the most frequent sitting positions and should be avoided.

Remember: Emerson struck for the whole world the keynote to poise when he said: "Give me a thought and my hands and legs and voice and face will go right, and we are awkward for want of thought."

Lillian Russell's Answers.

E. D. B.: Stammering is a dreadful affliction, but I am sure you can overcome it by using a little will power and being careful in speaking. Think before speaking and then speak slowly and distinctly. If you feel that you are beginning to stammer, stop for a moment or two and then try again speaking very slowly. I am sorry, but I cannot give names of physicians through my column.

A SCHOOL GIRL: It is possible that you might change the shape of your nose a little, but you must be careful in doing so. When the nose is turned up at the end try gently massaging it downward. The nose is easily molded and one must be careful so as not to pull it out of shape. I shall be glad to send you a formula for an excellent eye wash if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

MRS. X.: I would advise you to take the switch to a reliable hair dresser and have her bleach it for you. I am sure you would be better satisfied with it. When washing white hair one must be very careful what they use and must also be sure that the soap is all out of it. I shall send you a formula for a shampoo for white hair if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

MISS MINNIE S.: The green soap used for the shampoo is not green, but yellow in color. It comes in a small jar in a pastelike form and can be bought at any drug store. I cannot give you the name of it through my columns. The soap you mention may be all right for shampooing the hair, but I prefer a shampoo made from green soap. This is excellent for cleansing the scalp and freeing it from dandruff. I am sorry, but I cannot give you the name of the article you mention. I do not remember having heard of such an article. I would not advise you to try olive oil on your hair. It is effective, but makes the hair disagreeable and oily. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall send you a formula for hair tonic which is excellent for dandruff and a formula for chapped hands.

BLUE EYES: I cannot send you a formula for a permanent dye for the lashes and brows. There are several good eyebrow darkeners on the market that are harmless. If you use an eyebrow pencil be sure and get a soft one, for the hard ones are liable to pull the hairs when applying it. Mascara is also good.

T. M.: A strong astringent—cologne spirits for instance—may tighten the skin for a few minutes, but it has no permanent effect, and I do not believe very much in such lotions.

DISCOURAGED: You are too old to grow much taller. You should eat plentifully of good, nourishing food and exercise in such a manner as will stretch the body. A good exercise is to stand by the wall or the door and reach up as far as you can while standing on tiptoe. Begin with the hands placed on the wall and gradually place one hand above the other until you cannot possibly reach any farther while standing on tiptoe. Repeat the exercise a number of times, and if it does not make you grow taller it will give you a good figure. This is about all you can do to make yourself taller.

Tutti Frutti Cake.

TWO cups sugar, three cups flour, one-half cup butter, four eggs, one cup sweet milk, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons cream of tartar, flavoring to taste. Bake in layer pans, and for filling break two eggs into a cup of sugar and beat thoroughly, adding butter half size of an egg and one cup flour. Stir the mixture into one pint sweet milk that is almost boiling hot and let all cook, stirring constantly, to a thick custard. Flavor with orange and spread between layers, adding chopped nuts, crystallized ginger, raisins, and citron.—Kindness of A. S.

Another Tutti Frutti Cake.

Two cups sugar, one cup butter, one cup milk, four cups flour, whites of five eggs, two teaspoons baking powder. Divide into four parts, leaving one part plain. To one part add one-half cup chopped English walnuts, to another one-half cup chopped raisins and citron, and to the third part one-half cup fresh grated cocoanut and the grated rind of a lemon or part of an orange. Bake each portion in a layer tin, and when baked and cold put together with white icing. Have the bottom layer of the cake plain, the next layer that containing the raisins and citron, the next the nut layer, and the cocoanut layer on top.—Kindness of H. L. S.

Some New Dishes.

"Sometimes I invent a new dish. Inclosed are recipes for two of them:

"MAPLE CREAM CAKE.—One tablespoon of butter and two of lard; add gradually one cup of sugar, then the beaten yolks of two eggs; sift one cup and a half of flour with one teaspoon of baking powder and a pinch of salt and add alternately with half a cup of milk and one-half a teaspoonful of vanilla. Bake in layers.

"CREAM FILLING.—One and one-half cups of maple sugar, three-fourths cup of cream, one-half teaspoon of butter; boil five minutes. Beat until cool and spread on cake while warm. White frosting on top of the maple and covered with cocoanut improves the cake. This cake is not expensive, as the whites are left out.

"CHOCOLATE BREAD PUDDING.—Soak one cup of stale bread in warm water and press dry. Put over the fire one-quarter cake chocolate, one-half cup of sugar, and one-half cup of water. When chocolate is melted take off the fire; add one pint of milk and two eggs, yolks beaten light. Bake fifteen minutes, then spread on the beaten whites and brown. Serve with cream or your favorite sauce. Cream can be used in place of milk, and will be a cheap and wholesome dish for children, and satisfies the craving for sweets. I find 14 cents' worth of cream is cheaper than 10 cents worth of poor candy.

"MRS. P. J. W."

Your "inventions" sound so good that I hope you will send in others from time to time. New recipes are always a godsend to the housemother, whose daily thought is, "What shall we have to eat?" And she is often especially baffled by the thought of desserts. A new dessert is a treasure trove.

Warped Places in Cuffs.

"I should be obliged if you could give me a good recipe for stiffening and glazing shirt cuffs so that they can be ironed without having warped places.

"E. H."

Use raw starch for the cuffs, have your irons perfectly clean and smooth, and, if you still fear "blisters" or "warping," cover the cuffs while ironing them with damp muslin. Then when the cuffs are smooth and flat remove the muslin and iron quickly and evenly to impart the desired gloss. If a blister should appear moisten it with a fine sponge kept on hand for this purpose and reiron the spot.

More "Helps" from "Avis Gray."

"Perhaps the Cornerites may care for these 'helps': A palet knife, or spatula, to remove grease and food from dishes after meals, to scrape cake batter from bowl to baking pan, for running around a pan of milk before removing cream, and for cleaning bread board after making pie or bread. With me, you will say you cannot get along without the useful little article. Half a cup of vinegar in three pints of tepid water will remove finger marks from fine furniture, looking glasses, and windows. Do not clean a large space at a time, and polish at once with a dry chamois. For lamp chimneys, hand bowls, etc., this is a great help. The broom dipped in proportionately prepared water is fine for dull carpets. Shake the broom before using, of course.

"AVIS GRAY."

It is good to see the name of this beloved correspondent in our Corner again. Any communication from her is always well worth the reading, and she has been known to the Cornerites so long that she is not only a correspondent but a dear friend. May we hear from her often!

Glue in Boiling Starch.

"I should like to add to the Helping Hand Corner what I read in a paper twenty years ago. I have since taken many fine magazines and papers, but never have seen it in any of them. When making boiling starch add a small bit of white glue, according to the clothes you have to starch. A pound will last two years, and is about 25 cents a pound. If a little flour is added to the colored clothes it will be a saving, and with the glue will iron beautifully. I have used these for years, and passed the hint on to all my friends, who think the same as I do about them. For black wash dresses and underskirts use the dark glue, such as the furniture stores use, and melt the clear glue—that is, do not use any starch—and you will have a garment just like new. A small amount only will be needed. I hope some one will try and report on this.

"E. W. H."

Will some one try these suggestions and report the result?

Recipe for Dill Pickles.

"Will you please publish in the Corner a recipe for dill pickles—those made with dill but without the use of vinegar, kept in a brine?

"MRS. C. F."

Make a strong brine, strong enough to bear an egg; measure it, and add to it half as much fresh water as you have brine. Wash cucumbers in cold water and put them in layers in a stone jar, covering each layer first with a layer of grape leaves, then with one of dill leaves and stems. When the jar is full pour brine over the contents and lay over the top of the jar a cloth, and on this a weighted plate. Remove the cloth every few days, wash, and replace.

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice

By Laura Jean Libbey

When Her Friends Find Out.

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

"Silence in love betrays more woe than words,
Though ne'er so witty!
A beggar that is dumb, you know, may Challenge double pity."

THE cleverest of girls sometimes makes mistakes, or at least once in a while. This is especially the case with acquaintances which they form. She may be introduced to a young man by a casual acquaintance and become so impressed with him then and there that she invites him to call upon her. If a girl is young and decidedly attractive there are few men who will not avail themselves of this permission. After a hasty courtship he proposes. The young girl, in the glamour of youth's first love, accepts him.

All this transpired in such a short space of time that naturally she hesitates in regard to telling her friends about it. She does not like, however, the thought of just stepping in to get married, which he urges. When her friends find this out they might not take kindly to this course of procedure. It does not occur to her that he has not invited her as yet out to any public place of amusement. Consequently, few, if any, of her friends even know of their acquaintance, let alone a deeper attachment which they have for one another. Most whirlwind courtships have strange endings. She is brought to a realization of this by a visit to her from a very angry woman.

The upshot of the matter is that the stranger proves her claim in short order, as being the legal wife of the smooth spoken stranger, who had entered her life so unceremoniously. In tracing the matter back to the casual friend who had introduced them it was discovered that he knew next to nothing about him. The girl realizes that she has been saved, just in time, from the most bitter experience.

That which touches her heart most keenly is what she will say to them when her friends find out. All courtships should be open and above board. All is not well with a love affair which is carried on with concealment. Every girl should be most careful about encouraging the attentions of a man whom her friends know nothing about. Loving and wedding him may be romantic to her, but she takes grave chances in so doing.

If there's anything wrong about a man her friends will surely find it out. What they don't know about him will not be worth knowing. The girl who is worth having is worth waiting for. She should not be rushed into matrimony until she has had time to summer and winter a lover, as the old saying goes. He might keep up a suave appearance for long months, but, after a while, he would be sure to get down to his natural gait. Or, in other words, he will show his true nature in many a little word, act, or deed.

A girl owes it to herself and to her friends to confide in them and at least give their advice thoughtful consideration. She should be skeptical about the man who is uneasy lest her friends find out about their courtship.

He does not like the idea, which she suggests often, of being taken to visit her friends. "He's no hand to go visiting," he tells her. He'd rather any time enjoy her society uninterrupted.

There are girls who are so unwise as to not investigate friendly warnings concerning their love affairs. The family might hesitate to inquire too closely into a prospective relative's past. But not so outsiders—friends. They are only too delighted to unearth secrets which he thinks he has guarded so closely.

On the other hand, the man who is honorable and worthy might, by chance, be hung in the wrong, as it were, by overzealous friends. It is the best plan for most every man to pursue, to take her friends into his heart and into his confidence first as last. Then he will be spared the worry of the thought, what will she do when her friends find out?

He Is Twenty-five Years Older!

"Dear Miss Libbey: I want to know what you think of a marriage of a young woman to an old gentleman. I am 27 and my sweetheart is twenty-five years older than myself. He says he is very fond of me, but thinks he is too old to marry me, as he is a poor man, but has a good position. I think a whole lot of him and really would like to know what you think of such a marriage.

M."

If you wish to avoid trouble and all sorts of unhappiness better not marry him. It would be a big mistake. Don't.

"He Has Such Beautiful Eyes!"

"Dear Miss Libbey: My brother is a traveling man and often brings his acquaintances to our home. Two years ago he brought a friend home who spent a week with us. This young man has been at our house many times since then. When he was here last he proposed to me and I told him I loved him, too. He promised me that he would come back at an early date, but we have neither seen him nor heard from him since that time. My parents and brother know nothing of this affair. I find I love him as much now as I ever did. Would you advise me to forget him, or shall I wait for him? He promised he would certainly come for me and I feel broken hearted. He has such beautiful brown eyes and is so clever.

F."

You better try to forget him. He could not have been serious in his intentions, or he would not have gone off that way. Just make up your mind that he was not the one for you and that you are not going to waste your affections and your best years on one so undeserving of them.

REDLEGS TROUNCE EVERS' CLUB, 8-4; BROWN TO RESCUE

TROJAN USES THREE ON SLAB

JOHNSON STARTS FOR TINKER'S MEN

BY SAM WELLER.

Joe Tinker's downtrodden Reds arose in all their might yesterday and won a game of ball. They battered down the defense of the clouting Cubs by means of many base hits and came out with a joyful victory by a count of 8 to 4.

No baseball luck aided the Reds in breaking their losing streak. By physical prowess alone they battled their way to the front. Luck really worked against them and they had to beat it down along with the slugging Cubs. They won by a comfortable count in a desperate struggle when they should have breezed to victory by a score of something like 11 to 1.

They mauled a trio of west side pitchers for a total of thirteen base hits. They drew nine bases on balls and had the break gone their way in two or three instances they would have smothered the Trojans before seven rounds had been fought.

Brown Goes to Rescue.

As it was the battle was so intense that Mordecai Brown, famed hurler, once with the Cubs, had to take the slab from Chief Johnson, the Indian pitcher, in the midst of a ninth inning rampage and by means of his old time cunning and skill save the conquest for Cincinnati.

Whether the Indian, who is the same red skinned warrior tried by the White Sox this spring, would have won his battle unaided cannot be told. He pitched a beautiful game of ball for eight innings. The Cubs should not have had more than one run off him in that many rounds. They had only three safe hits. He walked only three of them in that time and struggled round after round in desperate fashion with a one run lead until the seventh, when his mates gave him another.

Wild and unfortunate throwing had permitted the Cubs to get three most undeserving tallies in the first two innings. Clean clouting had given the Reds four in the same periods. Consequently the chief had to pitch with all the strength and cunning of the Winnebago tribe of red men in order to keep his luckless mates in front.

Cubs Threaten in Ninth.

This Johnson did, showing spells of brilliancy and always displaying a steady nerve and a cool head. In the eighth inning his mates went out ferociously and gathered three more runs, putting the Reds five runs to the good. Perhaps the big lead took the edge off the chief's cunning and muscular ability, for in the ninth he got into deep trouble and after one run had come over and the Cubs had the bases filled with only one man out, Tinker feared the Indian hurler, who still is young and inexperienced in big league battles, might blow up and lose the game.

The situation was exactly suited for the entry of Mordecai Brown as a foe to Chicago. Many times while a member of the Cubs the lion hearted hurler had gone to the rescue of his team in just such situations. He hadn't stepped on the slab for Cincinnati yet this year, but for a week he had been ready and anxious to take a hand. Tinker had him warming up for just such an emergency, and when the crisis came Brownie was waved into service.

Fans Wildly Cheer T. F. S.

At the sight of the great three fingered pitcher coming across the field the big crowd of Chicago fans seemed to desert the Cubs instantly. They cheered for Brownie, undoubtedly the most popular pitcher the west side team ever had. A minute before they had been rooting madly when the Cubs burst into the ninth inning rally that threatened to pull a game out of the fire.

Mitchell was on third, Saier was on second, and Evers was on first, with Bridwell at bat, when Brown took command. The first thing he did was to hook a regular 1908 curve over the plate for a strike. He followed it immediately with another, and Bridwell stood still and took them both, while the crowd yelled with joy. He shot a fast one with a hop on it outside of the plate and Bridwell let it go for a ball, then Brownie came back with another sharp hook curve and Bridwell swung, bounding a feeble one to Hoblitzell, who threw to Clark, forcing Mitchell out at the plate and leaving the bases still filled.

Jimmy Archer was the next hitter and Brownie gave him a couple of hook curves, but Archer let them go. Both were inside and were balls. Brownie whizzed a fast one over the middle for a strike, then came back with a hook that was over and Archer swung, the result being an easy pop fly to Egan, ending the game, much to the delight of 90 per cent of the crowd, if one may judge from the applause.

Three Trojans on Mound.

Opposed to the Indian and the famed Mr. Brown were three of the Cubs' pitching staff. Charley Smith started, but, being dismissed after two rounds, Toney took the slab and held it to the eighth, when he nearly had a finger torn off with a hot smash. He gave way to Leifield, who went through to the end.

Only some unfortunate throwing permitted the game to be close. The Reds started off in front, getting a run in the first. Bescher and Bates singled and Tinker sacrificed. While Hoblitzell was grounding out Bescher scored. Marsans was hit by a pitched ball, then Egan died on a sharp smash to Heine Zim, closing the round.

Immediately the Reds gave the Cubs a run, tying the count. Clymer singled, and, after Schulte fouled out, stole second. Clark's throw was going to the outfield, and Clymer went on to third. Then he saw Marsans had let the ball get past him in the outfield, so he came on home. Mitchell boosted to Bescher and Heine Zim popped to Tinker.

Smith was wild in the second and also yielded two timely hits which gave the Reds three runs. Almeida and Clark walked and Johnson fouled out. Bescher popped out, but Bates singled, scoring Almeida; then Tinker doubled to right, scoring both Clark and Bates. Hoblitzell's fly ended it.

Locals Score Two in Second.

That many runs should have been plenty for the Reds, but they handed the Cubs two in their half of the second and made the rest of the game a battle. Saier started with a walk and Evers singled inside of first base, Saier lugging it home. Bridwell flied to Bates and Evers dashed for third after the catch. Bates pegged to third and the ball bounded away from every one and up into the corner of the grand stand, letting Johnny go on home. Archer fanned, then Leach batted for Smith and walked, but was nipped stealing.

The next scoring took place in the seventh, when the Reds got one. Egan walked after one was out and he stole second, then scored when Almeida doubled to right center. Clark grounded out and Johnson fanned.

In the eighth the Reds put the game on ice with three runs. Bescher walked, but was caught napping. Bates walked and Tinker singled, sending Bates to third. Hoblitzell smashed a single off Toney's finger, scoring Bates. Leifield replaced Toney and Becker grounded to Saier, putting Tinker on third and Hobby on second, and they both scored when Egan singled to left. Almeida was safe on Bridwell's error, but Clark closed the spurt with a roller to Evers.

Schulte opened the ninth with a single and Mitchell walked. Heine Zim fanned, then Saier walked, filling the bases. Evers dropped a single in right, scoring Schulte, and then Brown came to the aid of Johnson and saved the game as previously recorded.

SAM WELLERISMS.

Johnny Bates went through the day with a batting percentage of 1.000. He got four singles, a sacrifice hit, and a base on balls in six trips to the plate.

Balks are getting common on the west side. Lefty Leifield made a funny throw to first base in the ninth yesterday and Ump. Owens promptly called a balk.

Egan and Almeida did some sparkling fielding that robbed Bridwell and Archer of hits in the fifth, or the Indian hurler might have been in a distressing situation.

Almeida has shown remarkably well both in fielding and hitting in the two games he has played here and Tinker is likely to keep him on the job in place of Grant.

If Mordecai Brown experienced any trouble with his knee while on the slab, he failed to show it. He seemed to stride as naturally as ever and there was no question that his arm was in its old time form.

Twice Capt. Zimmerman, the great hitter, was fanned by Chief Johnson. The first time with the call three and two, he swung at a high fast one and the next time took his third swing at a curve low and outside.

Chief Johnson is some pitcher all right, but doesn't shine as a base runner. In the ninth he started with a walk, went to second on a balk, and when Bescher laid down a nice bunt to put him on third, the chief stayed on second while Bob was thrown out. Bates then singled to right and the Indian went only as far as third.

KLING TO DON SPANGLES AGAIN.

Veteran Catcher Accepts Terms of Cincinnati and Will Join Team on Its Eastern Trip.

Johnny Kling, famous catcher of the Cubs when they were winning pennants, finally has been signed by Tinker and will join the Reds Sunday in Cincinnati ready to start east with them that night and take a turn behind the bat.

Tinker announced yesterday that the former star has accepted terms. Last season Kling managed the Boston Nationals, securing his release at the close of the season. He was a free agent all spring, but for a time declared he would not return to the game. So far Tom Clark has had to do nearly all of the back stopping and if Kling gets into his usual condition he will add strength to the Reds.

From his home in Kansas City last night Kling admitted he had signed and said he would leave tomorrow night to join the Reds.

CUBS AFTER HURLER JASPER.

Dubuque, Ia., May 1.—[Special.]—Manager Rowland of the Dubuque Three Eyes league team today received word from President Murphy of the Cubs asking him to put a price for immediate delivery on Pitcher Harry Jasper, who Tuesday struck out seventeen men and allowed one hit. Rowland declares he will not dispose of Jasper at present, although he probably will later in the season.

PHILLIES BLANK GIANTS, 1 TO 0

Alexander Holds McGraw's Champions to Six Bingles.

KNABE DRIVES IN ONLY RUN.

Two Bagger Follows Wild Throw by Shafer in Sixth Inning.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 1.—Grover Alexander, who last week pitched an eleven inning scoreless tie against New York, shut out McGraw's team today, 1 to 0.

The Giants secured six hits, three of which were made by Shafer and two by Snodgrass. Only one New York runner reached third base. Killefer threw two men out trying to steal second and broke up a batting rally in the third inning by catching Snodgrass napping off second base.

Four hits were made off Tesreau in seven innings. He then was taken out to let McCormick bat for him. The bachelor run was scored in the sixth inning on Shafer's wild throw on Alexander's grounder and Knabe's two bagger. Score:

CARDS AGAIN DOWN PIRATES.

Pittsburgh Loses Fifth Straight Game Through Wildness of Camnitz—St. Louis Wins Slugfest, 9 to 7.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 1.—Pittsburgh lost its fifth straight game this afternoon when St. Louis won a slugging match, 9 to 7. Camnitz's wildness in the first inning, when he walked three men, and a triple by Oakes netted St. Louis four runs at the start. The Cards added another in the fifth and two more in the sixth when Cathers, batting for Sheckard, doubled with two men on bases. Pittsburgh rallied strong in the last two innings, scoring three runs in the eighth and two in the ninth. Viox, playing short in place of Wagner, had three singles and a double. Score:

SOX SYDELIGHTS.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—[Special.]—Either Ald. Lange or Senator Scott will work for the Sox tomorrow, and Jennings has a string of youngsters to pick from.

Winning three straight in Detroit with the Big Moose ailing in Chicago is not so bad, considering the fact many believe the "Sox team" was left at home.

White Sox and Tigers were guests of the management of a local theater tonight, but the Callahans enjoyed the show much better than the Tigers did.

Twice more the Sox and Tigers will battle on Navin field, tomorrow and Saturday, then they will journey together to Chicago for the sixth game of this series.

Manager Jennings sent Hugh High to run for Stanage in the ninth in the expectation of starting something, but High got only to second base before the game was over.

The Detroit lineup was switched back to normal today on account of facing a left handed pitcher. Gainer, who bats right handed, was put on first again, and High was on the bench.

Klawitter allowed the Sox only one pass in the two innings he worked. Schalk got that in the eighth and was sacrificed to second by Russell, but went no farther. Not a visitor saw first in the ninth.

Lord was impartial in his batting. He hit his first one to left, his second to right, his three bagger between Cobb and Crawford, and his double along the right foul line. The fifth effort was a liner to right which Crawford got.

Schalk could have scored from third on Rath's fly to Cobb in the eighth, but respect for Ty's arm made it unwise to try it, as there was nobody out. Ty's throw home was wide of the plate and would not have stopped Ray if he had made the try. He scored shortly afterward on Lord's drive.

NOTRE DAME STARS IN DEMAND.

Reds, Pirates, and Giants Make Offers to Pitcher Lathrop and First Baseman Mills.

Notre Dame, Ind., May 1.—[Special.]—Pitcher Lathrop and First Baseman Mills of Notre Dame university are in great demand by major league clubs, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, and the New York Giants having made efforts to sign the men. New York offered Lathrop a contract which was refused. McGraw then sent an agent here to induce him to enter professional ball. Mills, who is also a basketball player, is wanted by Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Shortstop McCarthy of the Pirates came to South Bend yesterday to induce both Lathrop and Mills to sign up with his club.

VICIOUS ATTACK WINS FOR SOX, 8-5

Assault on Mullin's Delivery in Seventh Brings Five Runs Home.

TIGERS MAKE HARD FIGHT

'Tex' Russell Bumps Into Tough Task, but Is Aided by Lord and Borton.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—[Special.]—One vicious assault on George Mullin's old fashioned defense in the seventh inning won the third straight game from the Tigers today by a score of 8 to 5. Several attacks of lesser violence netted three counters, but the seventh round really did the business, for it was good for five runs.

Albert Charles (Tex) Russell was Mullin's slab opponent, and he had considerably more difficulty in subduing the junglers than on the previous occasions he has faced them. That he emerged successfully from two tough innings at the finish was due to a large extent to his good support. A double play started by Weaver was the final effort of the day and wrecked an opening out of which 5,000 Detroit rooters hoped to see Jennings' tribe yank a victory.

Lord and Borton Important Cogs.

Harry Lord and Baker Borton were important cogs in the machinery by which the White Sox annexed the victory. Lord tore off four consecutive safe hits the four times he faced Mullin, but when he came up the fifth time in the eighth inning Klawitter was on the slab, and the best Harry could do was to slap a line drive where Sam Crawford could reach it. Three of Lord's drives figured in the run making.

Borton contented himself with two safeties and drove home three of Chicago's runs with this pair of hits. Borton also starred offensively by pinching a couple of wild throws which might have proved exceedingly costly. One of them came to him from Weaver on the three-quarter bound in the eighth inning, and by stabbing it Borton terminated a serious looking rally by the Tigers. In the seventh Borton helped Lord out in a swell play which retired Stanage on an apparently safe hit over third.

Schalk was there with two hits, one of which inaugurated the five run sortie in the seventh, following which Mullin retired to the shower bath, badly battered. Off Klawitter, who worked in the last two innings, the Sox did not get a safe hit, the nearest to it being Schalk's walk to first.

Sox Get Away in Lead.

Until that fortunate seventh it was nip and tuck, with both teams extending themselves to nip each other and tuck the game away in the won column. The White Sox emerged from the first inning with a lead of one run, and that was given them by a wild throw from Stanage. On that slender margin Tex Russell went along merrily until the fifth, when the jungle men exploded some firecrackers at his expense and took the lead with two runs. Lord led the Sox, who had been helpless against Mullin, into the lead again in the sixth with a ringing three base hit, which cracked the Tiger defense and presaged the breaking of the dam in the next round.

On how small a matter may hinge a ball game is illustrated by Detroit's rally in the eighth. That never would have happened if dame fortune had been with Ray Schalk. The Sox backstop went against the concrete barrier in front of the box seats after a foul fly from Vitt's bat. It landed in his mitt all right, but the shock of the collision made it hop out into one of the boxes, giving Vitt back his life. The Tiger batsman then singled, and so did Crawford. Russell then lost his head for an instant on a bounder from Cobb's bat which ought to have resulted easily in the demise of Tyrus at first.

Luck of Game Shown.

The whole combination was good for two runs and considerable stress in the ninth, all of which would have been eliminated if the ball had stuck in Schalk's mitt. No blame is attached to the pride of Litchfield, Ill., in this matter, as it was a plucky attempt which lots of backstops would not have made, but it demonstrates the fortunes of war on the diamond.

Things broke well for the visitors at the start. Rath led with a single to center and Lord poked his first hit toward left too warmly for Deal to dicker with. Stanage tried to catch Rath napping off second on a pitch out, but threw wild and both Rath and Lord moved up a base. Collins fouled out, but Borton came through with a clean single to right on which two White Sox rode home with time to spare. Mattick smote a liner to center and Cobb made a regular Tyrus running catch of it. Borton tried to steal second as Mullin started to pitch, but George threw to first instead and the relay retired the stealer.

The Tigers retaliated with one run. Vitt singled with one gone and made second while Borton was retiring Crawford. Cobb soaked the first ball Russell handed him on a line into center field, scoring Vitt. Veach was easy.

For quite a spell that 2 to 1 count looked like the final score. Then the next four rounds the White Sox did next to nothing with Mullin's offerings. They made two hits in that time, but both came in waste plays. Russell likewise settled and held the Tigers down to one harmless swat in three sessions.

The Tiger fifth was different. Deal led with a line wallop to center, but Mattick coppered it on the run. Stanage pasted a single where there wasn't anybody and Russell slipped his first pass of the game to Mullin. To this occasion Ownie Bush arose with all his might and mauled a long one through right center for three bases, scoring both members of the Tiger battery. For some reason the opposing fellows tried the squeeze play with Vitt at bat, but Vitt missed the ball and Schalk tagged Bush out. It was well, because Weaver made a wild throw a minute later, giving Vitt a life at second base, but Crawford popped the side out.

Lord tied the score up in the sixth inning without much help. The Maine Nimrod opened with a smash to right center on which he ran three-quarters of the way home. Collins hit softly to Mullin and was out, but Borton was the pinch boy with a clean single on which Lord registered. Mattick's out put Borton on second and Schaller drew a pass, but Gainer made a startling play which robbed Weaver of a hit and retired the side.

Rally in Seventh Decides Game.

It was all over when the seventh was. Schalk led with a single and Russell helped himself to victory by poling a double down the left foul line. Rath flied to Cobb and Schalk stuck to third. Lord came along with his fourth consecutive safety. It was a double on which Schalk and Russell scored. Crawford's wild return of the ball let Lord to third and Collins registered him with a single. Deal gave Borton a life with a wild peg to first, and Mattick cleaned up with a two bagger to right center. Schaller and Weaver kindly were victims, and that bunch of five runs proved sufficient.

The Tigers came strong in the eighth. Lord retired Bush by a swell one handed play, but Vitt singled and so did Crawford. Cobb could only bounce an easy one to Russell, who thought he could get Vitt off third base and had another guess. Vitt got back safely and the bags were full with one out. Veach's out scored Vitt and a single by Gainer brought in Crawford. Weaver nearly pegged wild on Deal's grasser, but Borton stabbed it on the bound and got the verdict.

In the ninth Stanage walked. Rondeau batted for Klawitter and flied out, but Bush walked, and there were nervous times on the Sox bench until Vitt poked a hot grounder straight at Weaver, who responded by starting a lightning double play which nailed the game for all time.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

Edward T. Collins, second baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, is today receiving the congratulations of his team on his twenty-sixth birthday. He was born in Millerton, N. Y., May 2, 1887. He entered Columbia university in 1903, played short for the varsity nine in 1904, and captained the team in 1905. During the early part of the season of 1906 he played with the Rutland, Vt., team and later was given a trial with the Athletics under the name of Sullivan. Collins returned to Columbia in 1907, received his degree, and rejoined the Athletics under his right name. He spent most of his time on the bench that season, but in 1908 was given a regular job at the second station, which he has held ever since. Collins has hit over .300 for the last four seasons. His batting average for 1912 was .348 for 153 games.

Three Hits and Trio of Errors in Sixth Aid Mackmen in Four to Two Victory.

KEATING IN GOOD FORM.

New York Pitcher Blanks Visitors for Five Innings, None Reaching First Base.

New York, May 1.—The New York Yankees were defeated by the Athletics in the first of a four game series, 4 to 2.

Keating went well for five innings. Not a man reached first base until McInnis singled in that frame. In the sixth the Athletics won when they scored three runs on singles by Brown, Oldring, and Collins, Oldring's steal, and three errors.

Brown pitched well for Philadelphia. The first of New York's two runs was scored on errors by Baker and Collins. Brown had to retire in the eighth, when he injured his pitching hand stopping a hard drive from Cree's bat. Score:

RACING AT PORTER TO START JUNE 14

WILL TRY PARI-MUTUELS.

BY KEENE GARDINER.

Officials of the Mineral Springs Jockey club announced yesterday that racing would be revived at the Porter track next month with a fifteen day meeting, starting on Saturday, June 14, and closing on Saturday, July 5. Although the period of time from the inaugural card to the farewell program is twenty-two days, only fifteen days will be devoted to actual racing. No events will be run on Sundays, Mondays, and Fridays.

No bookmaking will be permitted, according to the officials, as the association discovered last fall that such procedure brought trouble. Instead of the "bookies" pari-mutuel machines will be installed. Members of the association claim that the French system, now used on many American tracks, will not violate the Indiana statutes. The method prevailing at the Kentucky tracks will be in force with the association having control of the machines.

Seek to Hold Races Legally.

The Porter track promoters do not care to face bayonets again, nor do they want to have their meeting stopped. Before starting they will endeavor to see that they are within their legal rights. Attorneys are working on the details.

Not only plans for the opening meeting are under way but two other fifteen day sessions are planned if trouble is averted. Under the Seller law each track is allowed to conduct three meetings of fifteen days each from April 15 to Nov. 15. A month will elapse before the second venture is started, the date of the opening probably being Aug. 14 or 15. This meeting will run until the first week in September. After another month's layoff the final sessions will be held, starting on Oct. 4 or 5 and continuing until Oct. 22 or 23.

The date of the last meeting is two weeks in advance of the start of the disastrous one of last year and is about the time of the shipment of horses from the eastern tracks to the southern stables. This meeting is expected to be the best of the three, as it may bring together some of the fastest horses in the country.

Plenty of Horses Assured.

According to Ben Hyman, Chicago representative of the organization, there will be enough horses quartered at the Porter track on the first day to furnish good sport. He expects about 250 nags will be there for the opening. Most of the speeders will come from the western tracks. A large number will travel east from Cœur d'Alene track before entering the New York races.

Juarez also will be represented. Latonia and Lexington and other Kentucky tracks will send some of the second raters. As last year, a card of six races will be run off daily, but on Saturdays and July 4 an added race may be tacked on the program.

Purses will run from $300 to $400. Work already has been started on conditioning the course and it is expected the track will be in good shape by the first of June. With the exception of a few broken railings little damage has been done to the track since it has closed. Another meeting of the officials will be held next week to arrange further details.

SELLS TROTTER FOR $35,000.

Louis Winans' Willy Will Be Shipped to Europe—Name of Purchaser Not Known.

Cleveland, O., May 1.—The sale of the Austrian bred trotting stallion Willy, 2:05, for shipment to Europe was announced today. A. C. Penneck, who has had charge of the horse since his arrival in America in 1910, left with him for New York. Willy is owned by Louis Winans of Hove, England, who paid $17,000 for him. It is said the price paid was $35,000. Frank Caton, an American trainer now in Russia, is agent for the purchaser, whose name is unknown.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR MAROON

Defeat of Farwell & Co. Team Easily Accomplished on Marshall Field, the Score Being 6 to 2.

J. V. Farwell & Co. baseball nine proved easy for the Maroons, who defeated them, 6 to 2, yesterday afternoon on Marshall field. "Lefty" Baumgartner, Coach Page's promising young southpaw, did the twirling for the Midwayites. At no time was he in danger, holding the visitors to one hit and issuing two passes.

Aside from Baumgartner's pitching, the feature was Norgren's brilliant catch in the ninth inning. With Gauger on third and one gone, Johnson hit a terrific liner above Norgren's head, but the star first sacker speared the pellet with his gloved hand. Score:

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 1.—Bunched hits in the third and seventh innings gave Michigan a 6 to 1 victory over the University of Pittsburgh today. Triples by Rogers, Webber, and Baribeau and a home run by Sisler, who played first base, were responsible for the scores. Baribeau kept the visitors' hits scattered except in the third inning. Commission Allows Detroit Star to Continue in Game.

TYRUS' METHODS CRITICISED

BY HANDY ANDY.

For failure to report at the beginning of the season Tyrus Raymond Cobb, chief swatsman of Detroit and other cities in the American league, was handed a $50 fine by the national commission, in session in President B. B. Johnson's office yesterday. This little assessment on Ty's salary when paid will reinstate him "permanently during good behavior."

In plastering the fine on the demon slugger the members of the commission remembered "his action on several occasions were such as not only to break down the rules of discipline established by his club, but harmful to the game's interest."

The baseball triumvirate pointed out that Cobb failed to negotiate with the Detroit club on a businesslike basis, but attempted to create sentiment in his favor through the press.

The stand of President Navin is commendable, according to Herrmann, Johnson, and Lynch, but the Tiger magnate draws censure for his former passive policy in dealing with the temperamental player.

Outside of the Cobb case President Johnson said there was nothing done except to transact further routine business. The appeal of the Aurora club from the National association ruling was not discussed. Suppression of ball players writing for newspapers also was taken up informally.

STAR ENTRY LIST FOR MOTOR EVENT

Twenty-seven Cars to Start in Five Hundred Mile Grind at Indianapolis.

MAY BE GREATEST RACE.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

Entries in the 500 mile race to be held at Indianapolis on Memorial day fall three shy of the thirty limit set by officials of the big brick speedway. This does not mean, however, that the contest will lose any of its interest. On the contrary, the international sweepstakes should prove the greatest event ever held in the history of American motoring contests, for some of the fastest cars of Europe and America will be driven by the world's most noted pilots.

There is an outside chance that some belated entry, mailed on the "dead line," will be received. Seven additional cars were added to the list yesterday, according to word received in this city from Paul R. Martin of the motor speedway.

Tetzlaff to Drive Isotta.

Teddy Tetzlaff, who recently came under the ban of the powers that be, but who was reinstated in the good graces of the American Automobile association following the visit to Los Angeles of Chairman William Schimpf of the contest committee, was entered with an Isotta. Tetzlaff, who has been driving on the coast during the winter, left Los Angeles yesterday, and now is on his way to Indianapolis to start practice for the 500 mile grind.

A second Isotta was put in, with Harry Grant named as driver. Grant is the fellow who distinguished himself by winning two Vanderbilts with an Alco. The Italian machines were entered by William Ziegler and E. E. Hewlett, who nominated R. C. Gilhooley as relief driver for Tetzlaff and Grant. The entry of a third Isotta had been expected, but the makers cabled that a strike in the Milan factory had caused a change in their intentions.

Ralph Mulford, winner of an Elgin national, a Savannah Vanderbilt, and other big races, and who has competed in almost every important event within the last few years, will be a contender. "Smiling Ralph" was entered by E. J. Schroeder of Jersey City and will drive the same Mercedes with which Ralph De Palma won the 1912 Elgin national and Milwaukee Vanderbilt races. The Case people also came in with a trio of cars to be driven by Louis Disbrow, Joe Nikrent, and "Farmer" Bill Endicott.

KILBANE MAY MEET MORGAN.

Promoter McCarey Planning Twenty Round Match Between American and English Featherweights for July.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 1.—Promoter Tom McCarey decided today that the public was not enthusiastic over the prospect of a return Kilbane-Dundee battle and immediately began planning for a battle between the featherweight champion and Eddie Morgan, who is classed as the featherweight champion of England. He hopes to get Morgan and Kilbane in the ring for twenty rounds about the middle of July.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Burlington, Wis., May 1.—[Special.]—Ned Carpenter of Burlington knocked out Martin Burns in the third round tonight. Both are heavyweights.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 1.—[Special.]—Horace Taylor of Chicago was knocked out in the second round by Jim Smith of West Philadelphia tonight by a straight right to the jaw. Young Diggins beat Johnny Clark in six rounds. Pete McAvey beat Joe O'Brien. Mickey Gallagher stopped Frank Garrity in the fifth round. Al Thumm beat Sam Willis and Johnny Stinger beat Mike Coster.

Lombard Downs Lake Forest.

Galesburg, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Lombard college baseball team won from Lake Forest, 5 to 2, today, owing to the effectiveness of Trumpy's delivery and costly errors by the visitors. Score:

Lombard ....0 0 0 2 0 0 3 0 *—5 7 4
Lake Forest ....0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0—2 6 4

Purple Plays Illinois Today.

Urbana, Ill., May 1.—[Special.]—Illinois will seek revenge on Northwestern at Evanston tomorrow for the recent defeat by the Purple. Huff's shakeup has proved effective, and the same lineup which proved so successful against Purdue may be retained. "Curly" Larson probably will pitch.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Kandul [50] defeated Wagner [40], 50 to 30, in the three cushion handicap tournament at Mussey's. Gould and Snyder tonight.

Barnes [170] defeated Raymond [150], 170 to 134, in the class B 18-2 tournament at Foley's. Groff [130] and King [125] tonight.

Moberg [65] defeated Gromberg [75], 65 to 71, in pocket billiards at the Jefferson. Moe [60] and Good [50] tonight. In the No. 2 tournament Hanlon [70] defeated Harrison [70], 70 to 50. Thompson [55] and Eckert [55] tonight.

McMackin won the gold watch given for first prize in the 18-2 tournament at Leffingwell's by defeating Franklin [140], 160 to 124, in the third playoff of the triple tie for first place. In the three cushion tournament Groves defeated Stevens, 50 to 32. Garlock 40] and Steck [35] tonight.

James Shea, who represented Chicago in the final series in the National Billiard league at Pittsburgh, returned home yesterday. Clark Snyder, who went with him, is expected today. Shea was sick the first night and Snyder started the game. In the second game, in which Wireback relieved McCourt, and made a run of eight, he started with a scratch and made another in the middle of the run. This enabled him to win after Shea apparently had the game safe. In the final game, when McCourt relieved Wireback, he began a spurt similar to that made by Wireback on the night before, and it took all of Shea's nerve to win the game by two points.

WHITE AND THOMAS MATCHED

Lightweights Will Meet Again at New Orleans.

BOUT TO BE STAGED MAY 19.

Chicagoan Also May Get Date Later in Month with Johnny Dundee.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Charley White was matched yesterday for a return bout with Joe Thomas at New Orleans on May 19. The conditions will be the same as on the previous meeting, when White stopped his opponent in the eighth round. The boxers have agreed to box ten rounds to a decision, weight to be 133 pounds at 6 o'clock.

Promoter Tortorich of New Orleans also has offered terms for a meeting between White and Johnny Dundee, to be decided the latter part of this month. Tortorich wants to stage a twenty round decision contest. White beat Dundee in a ten round no decision bout at Syracuse last year and is confident he can duplicate the trick.

According to a letter received by Sam Caras, who used to look after the interests of "Chicago Knockout" Brown, who is in New York, Brown is signed to meet Tommy Maloney at the St. Nicholas rink in New York on May 3 over the ten round route. The weight is 158 pounds ringside. Four days later Brown will meet Mike Gibbons of St. Paul. The weight for this contest will be 158 pounds ringside.

The original "Kid" Farmer, who has been in Denver for the last year to recover his health, returned to Chicago yesterday. Farmer has been promised a position here, and believes he has overcome a threatened attack of tuberculosis.

Special Delivery Hirsch, who has been in our midst for the last month, yesterday was matched to meet "Young" Driscoll in a ten round bout before the Irving A. C. of Brooklyn on May 13. The weight is 133 pounds ringside.

Steve Ketchel, who is managing his own affairs, has been matched to meet Morris Thompson at Butte over the ten round route on May 15. The weight will be 133 pounds at 3 o'clock.

CLABBY AND M'GOORTY ON EDGE

Rival Middleweights in Good Condition for Their Ten Round Contest in Denver Tonight.

Denver, Colo., May 1.—[Special.]—Both Jimmy Clabby and Eddie McGoorty are in fine shape for their battle tomorrow night and each man is absolutely confident that he will win by a wide margin if not by a knockout.

"I am going to carry the fight to him from the gong's tap," says McGoorty.

Denver betting is pretty even. At poolrooms 10 to 9 is offered, take your choice.

Frank Klaus and Jack Dillon are anxious to come to Denver and meet the winner of the bout, and it is likely that this city will ultimately see the settlement of the middleweight championship, so long in dispute.

HEATED BOWLERS FAIL IN TOURNEY

IDEALS A NOTCH BELOW.

Bowlers found the hot weather a handicap in their chase for titles in the Illinois Bowling association tournament yesterday, and not a ripple disturbed the championship pool in any of the three events. The best work of the day came from the efforts of H. Turncock, whose 634 earned a place among the first twenty leading individuals. Herman Zuehlke was a close second with 632.

National Union leaguers installed one of their clubs among the favored ten leaders in the five men event when the Wholesale Dry Goods Council club went into tenth place with 2,738. The club had a splendid opportunity to displace the leaders, as it had 1,806 for its first two games and needed only a 949 mark to supplant the Petersens.

The Ideal league champions rolled into eleventh place in the five men event with 2,729 on the early squad. Fred Zuhn, one of the steadiest performers on the club in the league campaign, cost the club a much higher rating by drawing a 132 count in the last game. Ed Guston is in second place in the all events with 1,864, thirteen pins back of Al Toemmel.

M'DERMOTT WINS NATIONAL TITLE

I. A. C. Swimmer Takes 220 Yard Breast Stroke Honors in Slow Time.

TANK SEASON AT AN END.

Michael McDermott easily retained his title of national breast stroke champion in the final National A. A. U. swimming championship at 220 yards, decided at the Illinois Athletic club last night.

Francis McDermott, Michael's brother, and Robert Schlemm, both of whom are I. A. C. swimmers, were the only other entrants in the race. Brother Mike won in 2:55 2-5. The slow time is accounted for by the fact that McDermott was not pushed at any stage. Schlemm finished second and F. McDermott third.

The close of the indoor swimming season found the I. A. C. squad in possession of the national title by an overwhelming majority. In eight events the tricolor club secured a total of points. Only two other organizations figured in the point list, Yale and the New York A. C. dividing consolation honors with five credits each. In five events, the fifty and 100 yard swims, 150 yard back stroke, 200 yard breast stroke, and 400 yard relay, the tricolor club scored slams.

Yale Scores in Diving.

Yale counted five points in the fancy diving contest in New York, with the I. A. C. second with three credits, and the N. Y. A. C. third with one point. In the 500 yard swim the I. A. C. scored six points, second place going to the New York club. A Gotham natator also counted one point in the 220 yard swim, in which first and second places were won by I. A. C. men.

Trainer Bachrach sent eighteen of his champions after a new record for the mile relay, a race which was inaugurated at the I. A. C. a month ago. The first trial resulted in a mark of 18:52, but in the second attempt the squad lowered the record to 18:46 4-5. A. C. Raithel, the first swimmer to start, went 100 yards in :54 4-5, equaling the world's record, held by H. J. Handy of the I. A. C. Robert McLean, the skating champion, broke into the swimming game, swimming last on the relay team.

Summary of Events.

National A. A. U. championship, 200 yard breast stroke—Won by M. McDermott, I. A. C.; R. Schlemm, I. A. C., second; F. McDermott, I. A. C., third. Time, 2:55 2-5.

LOCAL SYNDICATE GETS IT

Frontage of 800 Feet on Fifty-fifth Street Acquired from F. M. Derby.

A $500,000 hotel lease has been closed in the downtown district by E. F. Keebler & Co. comprising all the upper floors and ground floor space for lobby in the new buildings which David Mayer will immediately start to erect at the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and Quincy street. The space has been leased to a local hotel syndicate which previously had leased the space in the building to be erected on the corner on the property which Mr. Mayer leased for a term of 198 years from William C. IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., May 1.—Heavy selling of New Haven and Boston and Maine, which forced the former down to 103 and the latter to 52¼, unsettled the local list early today, but at the low levels a genuinely good demand was met and the list rallied, wiping out a good part of the declines in the stocks named and establishing good gains among the coppers. Calumet and Hecla rose 13 points and various other favorites advanced from 1 to 1½ points. Call money ruled at 3½@4 per cent; time loans, short dates, 5@5¼ per cent; time loans, six months, 5¼@5½ per cent; time loans, one year, 5½@5¾ per cent.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Cotton goods markets are quiet without any special movement in domestics. Gray goods are selling fairly well on a lower price level. Jobbers are doing a fair business on wash fabrics. The carpet auction was characterized by a maintenance of the activity and relatively high prices of the first two days.

Failure of the officers of the town of Orland to declare the vote on the question of making the district anti-saloon territory led to a mandamus suit by William D. Deal yesterday to compel B. F. Sippel, town clerk, to declare the result.

ROADS TO PLEAD FOR RATE BOOST

Eastern Lines Will Ask Commerce Commission to Permit General Advance.

WANT 5 PER CENT ADDED.

Presidents in Conference Issue Statement Pointing Need of Greater Revenue.

New York, May 1.—[Special.]—The railroads of the eastern territory, having discussed the freight rate problem, have decided to ask the interstate commerce commission to allow a 5 per cent increase on freight of all character. This was made known today in a statement issued by President Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio.

President Willard, in explaining the situation, stated:

"When the matter of an increase in rates of freight was considered three years ago it was proposed by the railroads to increase generally the so-called class rates and some of the commodity rates. It was urged at the time by those opposed to the suggested advances that a fairer and better way to obtain an increase, if necessary, would be by a small advance on all rates instead of the larger advance, as was proposed, on some of the rates.

Roads Plan General Advance.

"It has been clearly brought out during recent years, and particularly in the numerous complaints filed with the interstate commerce commission, that the relation of rates between localities is of much greater importance to the shipping public than the actual rate per se. With this in mind, the carriers now hope to obtain the consent of the commission for an advance of 5 per cent on freight of all character. It is believed such an advance, if granted, will create little, if any, disturbance in commercial conditions.

"The railway executives feel that the changed conditions which have come about have so narrowed the margin between income and outgo that a 10 per cent increase of all freight tariffs would be justified. They recognize, however, the importance of obtaining the necessary revenue in such a way as to cause the least possible disturbance of commercial conditions, and on that account feel that it would be better to ask for an increase of 5 per cent only at this time.

Need Money for Improvements.

"Since the previous hearing the railroads generally have expended large sums for equipment and additional facilities, and while there has been some response in the way of increased gross revenues, the surplus income after paying charges and dividends has been so narrow as to not encourage the further expenditure required to keep the railroads abreast with the growing demand of the business of the country. Necessary extensions and improvements should be made and the treatment of railroads by the public should be such as will inspire that confidence in the investing public necessary to obtain the funds for such additions.

"Unless the carriers are enabled to increase their revenue in some manner—and the plan above proposed seems likely to meet with less opposition than any other—their ability, already limited, to provide such additional equipment and facilities, as will be necessary to take care of the growing demands of the country will be seriously impaired."

PHONE "HIGH FINANCE" TOLD.

Central Union Stockholder Says Bell Company Got Practically All Profits on Toll Calls.

Twenty cents is the maximum fee, which the Bell interests allowed the Central Union Telephone company to receive on any long distance message, no matter what the toll might be, according to the affidavit of Ernest M. Kimball, a shareholder in the Central Union company, presented to Judge Dever yesterday.

He is one of the six minority stockholders who are asking that a receiver be appointed for the company. Most of the stock is held by the American Telegraph and Telephone company.

Mr. Kimball alleges that the American company delivered its messages over the Union lines and would not allow them a proportionate share of the toll. He cited a twenty minute call from New York, for which the American company would collect $24.80 while the Union company received only 20 cents.

BANKS SHOULD HAVE PAID U. S. $30,000,000 IN 16 YEARS

Secretary McAdoo Says Average Government Balances Could Have Drawn That Amount at 2 Per Cent.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—[Special.]—If the national banks had paid interest at the rate of 2 per cent on their average government balances for the last sixteen years the treasury would have been enriched by $30,610,881. This was the statement made today by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in connection with numerous appeals from national banks for an additional share of the $10,000,000 which soon will be deposited by the treasury in the banks.

The largest amount of government money on deposit with the banks at any one time during the last sixteen years was in December, 1907, when the total reached $259,904,000.

Within a few days the treasury department will formally advise the banks of the plan to charge 2 per cent interest on government deposits and will then make arrangements to distribute the $10,000,000.

HOGS GO HIGHER IN SHIFTING DAY

BEEF ON BETTER BASIS.

Meager Supply of Steers Sells Readily at Firmer Prices; Sheep and Lambs Weak.

Hog market at Chicago yesterday opened at an advance of 5c, wabbled a little during midsession, then strengthened and closed firmer than on any previous day this week. Fresh receipts were only 15,000 head, but there were 7,180 hogs held from previous arrivals and the weakness which followed the start was due to their presence in the pens. Shippers bought 4,500 head and when packers got fairly started, all hogs were closely bought up. Best sales were at $8.75, with the average at $8.55, against $8.48 Wednesday.

A meager supply of beef steers found a ready outlet at steady to strong prices, with best on hand clearing at $8.60. Cows and heifers continued to meet with poor favor, however, and the market closed in a depressed condition at a decline of 50@75c from last week's best figure. Calves sold higher at the start, topping at $10.00, but weakened before the finish.

Sheep and lambs met with an indifferent demand at weak to 10@15c lower prices, heavyweight lambs showing the decline. Receipts were 14,000 head, which enabled buyers to discriminate against undesirable offerings, as orders were not urgent.

THE WATER LEVEL ROUTE
NEW YORK CENTRAL LINES

London, England
March 11, 1913

To the Passenger Manager:

Dear Sir:—After a tour of the states which completed a trip around the world, I feel competent to utter words of commendation regarding your 20th Century train between Chicago and New York. It is the most complete and satisfactory railway journey I have ever experienced. Another surprise was the trip along the Hudson. You ought to talk more about it. It is a jolly fine trip. Your new station in New York has the whole world beaten for convenience.

I thought you might like an Englishman's views.

CHICAGO STOCKS RECOVERING TONE

WAR NEWS REASSURING.

Foreign Reports Indicate Greater Harmony Among Powers to Preserve Peace.

Chicago stocks were under the influence of the improved market situation in New York. While prices advanced in the latter market the share represented by Chicago buying indicated covering by shorts rather than investment purchases.

Traders were influenced by the foreign news which indicated a reassuring degree of harmony on the part of the powers to end the war. Other factors had small influence.

Sears-Roebuck common was again irregular and dropped to 168. The last price was at 171, being ½ below the opening. The market for the issue suggests considerable interest on the part of insiders.

Swift Shares Fall Below 105.

Union Carbide was irregular, opening at 163¾, dropping to 163, without sales in between. The following and final quotation was at 164⅛. There is considerable guessing as to the future price of the shares.

In the street railroad list there was but one trade. Series 1 certificates sold at 91. The market impression is that regardless of the merger situation the earnings of the property will determine the market value of the certificates.

Rumely Shorts Cover.

Shorts in the Rumely stocks had a small panic, and their covering caused an advance from a close on Wednesday of 24½ in the common to a high price of 30, and a final quotation of 29½. The preferred, which closed on Wednesday at 54, advanced to 59⅞.

The bankers and principal stockholders are planning a house cleaning which will mean the further elimination of those who have heretofore been in active control of the company.

This should prove to be of ultimate benefit, but in the meantime it is understood that the dividend on both the preferred and common shares will be passed.

At the beginning of the year the company had placed on its books a gross business of $28,000,000. When the bankers found difficulty in marketing notes and made internal changes in the management they cut off $6,000,000 prospective orders. This left the company still unable to fill the reduced volume of orders without again borrowing several million dollars. This last borrowing is to come after the company has sold its bills receivable, put $10,000,000 notes ahead of its preferred stock, and brought about a great shrinkage in market value, as well as lawsuits against the banking interest that vended the shares.

So far as can be learned, it is proposed next year to cut the gross business by about $8,000,000, so that the company will then be on a conservative basis.

Lord Rothschild Mildly Optimistic.

"I will not say I am unduly optimistic, but I am optimistic. I think the war clouds that have been hanging over Europe are about to disappear and that we need not look for a further depreciation of securities, certainly in the coming six months."

Bankers' Currency Commission.

It is announced by Col. Farnsworth, general secretary of the American Bankers' association, that the currency commission of the association will not hold a conference at Briar Cliff Lodge during the week of May 4, the date set for the spring meeting of the executive council of the association. He says, however, that James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank of Chicago, and vice chairman of the commission, will submit a report to the council.

The currency commission, however, will not hold a meeting or commit itself in reference to any proposed legislation for banking reform until the administration's bill is formally introduced in congress. When this shall be done he said the currency commission would study the measure and report its opinion to the association. The next annual convention of the American Bankers' association will be held at Boston next October. The commission hopes to be able to report on a new currency bill at that time.

April Incorporations.

Papers filed in the eastern states in April for companies with an authorized capital of $1,000,000 and over, reached a total of $198,718,000. This is an increase of $32,688,000 over the preceding month, but a decrease of $82,739,000, as compared with April one year ago. For the first four months of the current calendar year there is an increase of about $71,000,000 over the corresponding period in 1912.

South Penn Oil.

It is announced that about 75 per cent of the $2,500,000 capital stock of the South Penn Oil company was represented at the special meeting held at Pittsburgh. It was proposed at the meeting to increase the capital from $2,500,000 to $12,500,000. This proposition was unanimously approved. No other action was taken.

The directors will declare a stock dividend of 300 per cent by distributing three shares of new stock for each one share held as of the close of business April 30. The remaining 25,000 shares will be offered for sale at par to stockholders.

The bankers are offering the notes privately at 100 and interest to yield 5 per cent.

LATEST WALL STREET GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, May 1.—[Special.]—The net advance in the stock market today amounted to over 1 per cent on the average in both the railway and industrial shares. This is the sharpest rally that has occurred in a number of weeks. The recovery when it set in in the afternoon was extraordinarily rapid, presenting plain evidence that the supply of stocks was very limited and the demand more than usually keen.

One feature of the upward movement which attracted attention was its affect upon the market for some of the inactive investment issues which have recently been subjected to continuous pressure. Northwestern recovered 3¼ points on transactions of only 400 shares. Even New Haven, which touched a new low record in the morning of 102⅞, rallied to 105¼. Central, which made a new low level early, also recovered briskly.

The strength of Canadian Pacific was the dominating influence, just as the break in that issue was the cause of the depression on Tuesday. Canadian Pacific made an extreme advance of 6⅛ points on heavy transactions, which is a wide movement in one day even for Canadian Pacific. The advance in this stock was all the more notable because all the foreign markets were closed for the May day recess. But nobody was under any other impression than that the buying of C. P. R. originated on the other side of the Atlantic.

Such an important move in a stock which is almost wholly held in Great Britain and Germany could hardly have occurred without a foreign impulse. Quite naturally the development was taken as indicating that the results of the ambassadorial conference in London during the day had given assurance of an early straightening out of the Balkan tangle. Private cables from abroad described these results as "hopeful."

Considerable curiosity was expressed as to the probable action of the London market for American stocks in view of the sharp advance in prices here. The opening quotations for stocks in London will have to open up pretty high above Tuesday's close in order to be at parity with our close today.

A little selling of the active stocks in the last few minutes of the session was considered in some quarters to represent the "taking of a position over night" by the arbitrage houses in the expectation that the foreigners might not immediately mark prices up to the equivalent of the closing level here.

The regular quarterly dividend on Pennsylvania stock was declared today, payable May 31, the books to close May 5. Next week, therefore, the stock will sell ex-dividend and ex-rights, which, calculating from the present level, ought to bring the price down to about 111½. Those who are lending the stock now probably will accept due bills for the rights and the dividend from the borrowers.

The prolonged absence of the public from Wall street may not have resulted in a great accumulation of idle capital available for speculation and investment. It is pointed out that the last few years have seen an enormous development in the market for outside securities. Now industrial companies of all sorts, public utility concerns, irrigation propositions, and numerous other corporate enterprises have been floated. These have undoubtedly made big inroads on the spare capital which in other years has been put into securities of corporations listed on the stock exchange.

The methods employed by the people promoting new concerns have in many cases been strictly up to date. One house marketing the bonds of an irrigation company did not consider that it had exhausted the investment possibilities of one state it was operating in until it had sent its salesmen out in small automobiles to make a house to house canvass of the territory.

Dividends Declared.

The Mahoning Coal railroad company declared a dividend of $25 on the common stock, payable May 16 to holders of record May 1.

NEW YORK STOCKS ADVANCE SHARPLY

DUE TO FOREIGN CABLES.

Montenegro's Reply to Powers Regarded Conciliatory; London Cables Help.

New York, May 1.—An outburst of strength such as had not been witnessed for several weeks radically altered the appearance of the stock market today, after a long period of hesitation and declining prices. Such market leaders as Reading, Union Pacific, Steel, and Amalgamated rose 2 to 3 points. Canadian Pacific scored a 6 point advance.

The market was broad and vigorous on the upturn, and while the demand was keenest for the speculative favorites, all classes of stocks benefited by the movement.

The reason commonly ascribed for the change was the decidedly hopeful tone of cable advices following the conference of ambassadors in London. Montenegro's reply to the powers was believed to have done much to clear the atmosphere.

London Cables Regarded Bullish.

The principal European markets being closed on account of a holiday, traders were deprived of the usual barometer of conditions abroad, but the vigor with which the list responded to the London cables showed that there was no hesitation here in placing a bullish interpretation upon them. It was probably true, however, that the technical condition of the market was largely responsible for the extent of the movement. Selling had gone on so long that the short account apparently was inflated to an abnormal degree.

The strength of the leaders at times yesterday and their resiliency early today, before the receipt of the news from London, indicated that the market would bound up on any favorable development of sufficient importance to give bull traders an opening. When the turn in the market came bear traders were compelled to cover hastily, bidding against each other for stocks and running up prices on themselves.

Early Liquidation Delays Advance.

The upward tendency of the leaders was held in check during the early part of the day by renewed liquidation of the recent weak features. Over thirty new low records for the year were made during the forenoon. In the list were New Haven, which dropped 3¼ to 102⅞; Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, and Illinois Central. While this movement was in progress the market was unsettled, some stocks moving back and forth with violence.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,230,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call, steady; 2@3 per cent; ruling rate, 3; closing bid, 2½; offered at 2¾. Time loans, steady; 60 days, 4 per cent, and 90 days, 4@4¼; six months, 4¼@4½. Prime mercantile paper, 5@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8335 for 60 day bills and at 4.8680 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83. Bar silver, 60. Mexican dollars, 48. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds, irregular.

POTATOES SCARCE; STEADY

Receipts Lowest in Months; Poor Quality Prevents Advance.

BUTTER VALUES SHADED.

Much Stock Carried Over; Egg Market Buoyant; Poultry Firmer.

Potato receipts at Chicago yesterday were only 25 cars, the smallest in several months. The market had a firm undertone, but the quality of the offerings was inferior and sales were made within the same range of prices as formerly quoted. At the same time, buyers claimed their purchases cost them much more than on previous days, the difference being in the quality of the stock secured for the money. Sales were at 33 to 45c a bushel.

Weakness returned to the market for butter, and there were many instances where holders had to shade prices ½c a lb to effect sales. Receipts were 6,378 tubs, most of which had to be carried over unsold. Egg market was buoyant and values were rigidly maintained. Reciepts were 24,127 cases.

Live fowls sold at an advance of ½c a lb, while other descriptions of live and dressed poultry were quiet and unchanged. Receipts were three cars and 870 coops, and the demand was brisk, with dressers and Hebrew buyers bidding for fowls.

CEREAL FUTURES SHOW WEAKNESS

FOREIGN NEWS BEARISH.

Political Outlook More Favorable; Coarse Grains Decline After Upturn.

Reports from the northwest to the effect that several of the mills were expected to close down this week, predictions of rain in Nebraska and the more favorable reports in regard to political conditions abroad were chiefly responsible for a setback in wheat prices yesterday. After a little setback early on the weak Liverpool cables prices had a sharp advance, but the upturn was met with heavy selling, Lichtstern houses being credited with doing the bulk of the selling.

Later there was general selling by local traders who had bought early, and the close was at about the low point of the day. Liverpool was ⅝d lower, the firm American cables of Wednesday being offset by the fact that the continent was reselling cargoes and that Argentine offers were more liberal, while the spot market did not show any activity in the demand. Futures closed ⅝@¾c off.

Flour Trade Is Slack.

The flour trade at Minneapolis was reported slow and it was claimed there had been no export business for ten days, and that the domestic trade was slow. It was stated that two or three mills operated by one concern would be closed down this week. Stocks at Minneapolis showed a decrease for five days of 540,000 bu, but receipts northwest were liberal at 280 cars, compared to 123 cars a year ago. Winnipeg had 190 cars, compared to 322 cars a year ago.

Primary arrivals were 556,000 bu, compared to 484,000 bu a year ago. Total deliveries for the day were 2,445,000 bu, which was about as expected, the morning deliveries being 1,000,000 bu. The Armour interests were credited with paying for most of the wheat delivered, Colvin and Rosenbaum Bros. also taking fair amounts. At other places deliveries were comparatively light.

Exporters Call Demand Poor.

The shipping demand here was moderate and exporters generally reported a distinctly slow inquiry from the other side, the poor inquiry being due in part at least, to the reluctance of foreign buyers to accede to the new terms of payment demanded by shippers from this side. Mill sales were 6,000 bu. Receipts here were 30 cars, with 54 cars expected yesterday. Clearances were small at 141,000 bu wheat and flour.

Continental markets were all closed on account of the holiday abroad. The advance in stocks indicated a more healthful political aspect abroad. Crop reports continue to be of one kind, the only apprehension now felt being in regard to the deficiency of moisture in the northwest. Canadian wheat acreage is expected to be about the same as a year ago, and about 30 per cent has been sown on stubble ground.

Country Corn Sales Increase.

Corn offerings were light at the start with good buying of the May and September against sales of the July by Armour. Bartlett-Frazier were also fair buyers early. Later, when wheat turned weak, there was renewed selling pressure on all months, and prices at the close were ¼@⅜c lower. The cash market was steady to ¼c higher. Shipping sales were 135,000 bu.

Liverpool was ¼@⅜d lower, due to the lack of spot demand. Outside sample markets were firm. Receivers reported more liberal offerings from the country, purchases to arrive being the largest in some time. Total deliveries for the day were 130,000 bu. Receipts were 153 cars, with 175 cars inspected yesterday. Primary arrivals were 388,000 bu, against 594,000 bu a year ago. Weather conditions were favorable for planting.

Oats Are Strong Early.

Oats showed independent strength early, a feature being the buying of September by country commission houses. Later pressure developed and there were free sales of all months. Indications for rain soon took the snap out of the buying demand, and the weakness of wheat also was a factor. Deliveries were comparatively small at 425,000 bu. Cash prices were unchanged to ¼c up, and shipping sales were 135,000 bu. Receipts were 147 cars, with 140 cars the estimate for today. Western arrivals were 488,000 bu, compared to 347,000 bu a year ago.

Hog Products Close Steady.

Hog products were helped early by the firmer tone at the yards, receipts of hogs being light and prices were 5c up at the yards. On the advance selling was heavy enough to wipe out most of the gains. The cash trade was reported a little better. Receipts were 18,000, with 14,000 the estimate for today, and arrivals in the west were 64,000, against 102 200 a year ago. Liverpool prices were unchanged except for cumberland sides, which were 6d lower.

Rye Market Firmer.

Rye market was firmer, with sales of No 2 at 63@63½c and No. 3 at 61c. Receipts were 1 car.

Barley was strong to a shade higher, with malting 54@68c; feed, 44@47c; and screenings, 20@42c. Receipts, 19 cars.

Timothy seed was quiet at $2.75@3.50. September sold at $4.25.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

"Reports of our correspondents show an average condition of 93.7, compared with 93.2 last month, and the government report of 91.6," said Clement-Curtis. "The abandoned acreage as reported by the same correspondents is the smallest recorded. The floods in the central states were less destructive than believed a month ago, as shown in the returns from the three affected states. Kansas lost the largest amount of acreage, and California had the heaviest percentage of loss. The average over the country was 2.1 per cent and the total loss was 663,000 acres, comparing with 20.1 per cent last year and an acreage of 6,644,000. Translating the May 1 condition into acreage suggests a crop of 570,000,000 should the condition be maintained to harvest. On the average May 1 and harvest condition for five years, the suggested crop is 518,000,000 bu, and on a ten year average of the same character, 510,000,000 bu."

◆

The cash demand for wheat was moderate here yesterday, but there was a firm tone relative to the futures and offerings were not especially large. Sales for shipment were 40,000 bu to mills. Omaha reported the sale of a small lot of wheat for export, and Kansas City wired that three loads had been sold to exporters. Minneapolis wired that the cash demand was fair for the best grades, with No. 1 northern 2@3c over the May, and velvet chaff was quoted 1@1½c over. Stocks at Minneapolis decreased 540,000 bu for five days.

◆

Corn offerings were reported a little more liberal. One house bought quite a lot of Illinois corn yesterday and another made good purchases to arrive the previous day, while some of the receivers reported the first purchases of Iowa corn in about thirty days. Sample prices were firm here, steady to ½c higher, and at other western points there was a firmer tone. The shipping demand was moderate. Oats were unchanged to ¼c up, and offerings were moderate. Shipping sales were 135,000 bu corn and 135,000 bu oats.

◆

The Winnipeg Free Press says there will be little increase in the acreage of wheat this year, judging from reports of 300 correspondents, and that about 30 per cent of the wheat has been sown on stubble ground.

◆

Total deliveries yesterday were 2,445,000 bu wheat, 130,000 bu corn, and 425,000 bu oats. Lard deliveries were 250 tcs. The wheat was delivered principally by Booth, Jackson Bros., and Lowitz, and paid for by Armour and Colvin. Lowitz delivered most of the corn. Lowitz also sent out most of the oats, which were paid for chiefly by Armour. Deliveries were about as expected, except that it was expected there would be a little pork sent out.

◆

B. W. Snow says in regard to the deficiency of moisture northwest and in Canada: "While there is nothing in this moisture situation to cause alarm so long as cool weather prevails, the season of growth starts with a condition that necessitates unusual regularity and timeliness in rainfall from now until harvest in order that the present moisture deficiency may be offset by current supplies."

◆

Decatur, Ill., wired Bennett: "Oats in this locality are all that can ask for, and in no particular need of moisture, as the rains of last week furnished plenty of moisture for ten days. My recollection is that rains were quite general; some one will get loaded up with oats should they continue this dinky dry weather talk. Corn planting will commence next week."

◆

Lyle wired Chapin from Hastings, Neb.: "In five Nebraska counties, with 20 per cent state's wheat acreage, saw no field under 90 condition; no winter killing; recent rain put plant beyond damage from high dry winds; will need normal rainfall in May to get big crop now indicated."

◆

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were unchanged to ⅛c lower; corn, ¼c higher to ⅛c lower; oats, unchanged to ⅛c higher; rye, ½c lower.

◆

James F. Simpson has made application for membership on the board of trade and Otto J. Volkman has posted his membership for transfer.

◆

An Omaha message to Logan-Bryan said that there had been sales of 300,000 bu No. 2 hard wheat direct to Minneapolis mills.

◆

◆

◆

◆

Morning deliveries of wheat on May contracts at Minneapolis were 405,000 bu.

MELLEN TO TELL RAIL DEAL TODAY

New Haven Head Will Testify on Financing Before Commerce Commission.

HIS NOTES IN QUESTION.

U. S. Official Wants Purchases of Stock Explained; Books Hold Shares High.

Boston, Mass., May 1.—President Charles S. Mellen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad will make a statement explanatory of some of the company's financial transactions before the interstate commerce commission tomorrow. Announcement was made today that Mr. Mellen would not be sworn, and Commissioner Prouty, who is conducting the inquiry into the affairs of the New Haven system, will not permit him to be interrogated.

The day was given over to the continued cross examination of D. E. Brown, the government accountant, by Mr. Mellen's counsel, C. F. Choate Jr., but much time was consumed in arguments between Mr. Choate and Commissioner Prouty. The commissioner severely criticised the railroad and some of its officials for transactions which, he said, were not satisfactorily explained by the records of the company.

Mellen's Notes Called in Question.

Various notes given by Mr. Mellen to the New Haven company in exchange for New Haven stock were explained by the attorney through the experts' answers as having been paid in full. Although Mr. Brown and Commissioner Prouty agreed that the bookkeeping methods of the company indicated that Mr. Mellen had made a profit of $102,000, the commissioner said he had no doubt Mr. Mellen paid the company, but he wished a fuller explanation of the transaction.

The acquisition of the Boston and Maine by the New Haven and the dealings between the New Haven road and J. L. Billard and the Billard company were introduced by Mr. Choate. The examination precipitated a discussion over the value of the stock assets carried on the books of the company.

Books Place Shares Too High?

"You are now carrying New Haven stock at $100 a share," said Mr. Prouty. "It is not worth it. You carry Boston and Maine stock at what you paid for it; it is not worth it."

Mr. Choate replied that Old Colony stock, which was carried on the New Haven's books at par was really worth about $6,000,000 more than was placed against it.

When the transfer of 109,948 shares of Boston and Maine stock by the New Haven to J. L. Billard at $25 a share for $11,000,000 in cash and notes was inquired into Commissioner Prouty said Mr. Billard had not put up any actual money in connection with the Boston and Maine stock transfer, and that there was every indication, according to the records, that he had made a profit varying from $2,400,000 to $2,700,000.

New Stevens Special Model

Price, $5.00

In order to meet the needs of a full figure carrying most of its weight below the waist line, with a corset at a medium price, we have specially designed the model illustrated, which takes remarkable care of a figure of this type.

The bust is medium low, and the corset is very long below the waist. It is held in firmly about the thighs, materially reducing their size, with firm pieces of elastic set in each side of the front which give, when seated, thus preventing the corset from binding or pushing up, which is apt to occur in a very long corset unless skillfully designed. The back of this corset is flat and graceful. The material is an excellent quality of coutil. The price of this special model is only $5.

Mercerized or silk-lisle union suits, 1.45

95c for men's fine ribbed lisle and balbriggan union suits—short sleeve and ankle length; many of these garments with sleeves; also suits in athletic style; every size in this lot. 95c

1.45 for men's fine mercerized or silk-lisle union suits; fine ribbed; long or short sleeves; ankle length or athletic style—a large assortment and most extraordinary values.

Men's pure silk hose—"irregulars"—25c

We secured them from a large mill at a very special price. The irregularities, in many cases simply a dropped stitch (neatly mended) or a slight variation in the shade of the dye—nothing to militate against desirability. First floor.

Every pair is of pure silk, with heavy mercerized splicing at heel, toe and top. 25c All sizes; black and all colors; value easily double the very special price, 25c
